F.D.R. CONSIDERS USING CONVOYS INTO WAR ZONE

74 in Congress Fight to Halt Action.

Urges 'Union Now'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1. — William Craven-Ellis, Nationalist member of parliament for Southampton, proposed in the house of commons today that Prime Minister Churchill suggest to President Roosevelt that the United States and the British commonwealth "jointly consider entering into an act of union providing for their becoming one nation with joint organs of foreign, financial, and economic policies."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—While 74 antiwar senators and representatives agreed at a meeting tonight to press for action against the use of the navy to convoy shipments to Great Britain, there were indications that the administration is intent upon a convoy policy.

Mr. Roosevelt at a press conference disclosed that within the last few days he has allocated 1 billion 80 million dollars for purchase of military materials and food to assist Great Britain and other nations at war with the axis. These materials, he said, will supplement aid extended from existing United States army and navy supplies.

The President said he felt that all materials involved should arrive at their foreign points of consignment at least within the "next couple of years." This phraseology was considered a typically sarcastic Rooseveltian way of parrying a query as to when the materials would be delivered.

Still Being Considered.

The matter of delivering the goods abroad, said the President, has been under consideration for a year and a half and still is being considered.

Mr. Roosevelt said that at the moment he has no figures to show how much material is being transferred to foreign countries from existing stocks of the army and navy—such as the 75 millimeter guns whose transfer to Greece he disclosed yesterday.

At the meeting tonight of senators and representatives, speakers emphasized a press conference statement made several months ago by the President—"convoys mean shooting and shooting means war."

Tonight's meeting was called by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader in the fight against Mr. Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill, because of the current agitation for convoys and the general belief in congress that the President soon will make a decision on that fateful issue.

Demand a Showdown.

Senator Wheeler was authorized to appoint a steering committee of the antiwar forces to arrange future meetings and programs.

Meanwhile the group intends to bring the convoy issue to a showdown by demanding action on the anticonvoy resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] urged the antiwar forces to take aggressive action in opposition to the propaganda campaign of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies for convoys. This engine of propaganda, Senator Brooks declared, has gone the limit in its advocacy of steps "short of war" and now is clamoring for convoys to "make aid to Britain effective."

"Our supreme task now is to keep aid to Britain short of war," Brooks said.

Stand Is Stated by Taft.

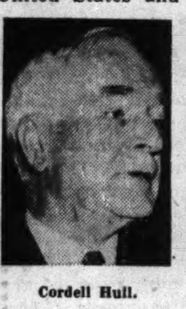
Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] was authorized by the group to issue a statement expressing the sense of the meeting.

"The meeting was bipartisan," his statement said. "All major political parties are pledged to keep America out of foreign wars. Since only congress can declare war, speakers said they do not intend that the President shall involve the country in war indirectly thru convoys or otherwise."

U. S. WITHHOLDS ANSWER TO AXIS SHIP DEMANDS

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Cordell Hull.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The United States and the axis powers came to close grips today over President Roosevelt's seizure of 69 German, Italian, and Danish ships in American ports last Sunday.

Germany and Italy, in the protests filed last night at the state department, demanded the immediate restoration of the impounded ships to the axis powers and the release of 875 members of the crews from "protective custody."

While withholding any answer to the protests for the time being the Roosevelt administration struck back with orders for the prosecution of the German and Italian crews for sabotage of the machinery of their ships. One German and 25 Italian ships had been sabotaged by the time the coast guard took possession.

Hull May Not Reply.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull said he was not sure the German and Italian protests required any answer. He would have to give that matter further consideration, he said. There was no question of the legality of the seizure, he insisted.

Neither Hull nor the German and Italian embassies would make public the texts of their protests. Their terminology was described as vigorous. Both axis governments denounced the seizures as wholly unwarranted in international law or American law. "Protective custody," which incidentally the Nazis and Fascists invented, is unknown to international law, according to the protests.

The orders to prosecute the crews for sabotage were issued by Attorney General Robert Jackson this afternoon. He instructed United States attorneys to seek the indictment of the masters and any members of the crews who had taken part in the destruction or damage of the vessels.

Invoke Act of 1917.

The indictments are to be sought under the 1917 espionage act which authorizes the government to take possession of any vessels "to secure such vessels from damage or injury."

Directed by Berlin, Rome.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are already investigating the sabotage of the German and Italian ships. They have obtained evidence that sabotage orders came from Berlin and Rome.

The reason given to the masters of the ships for the sabotage order was that war between the axis powers and the United States is imminent and that upon recognition of a state of war the first act of the American government would be the confiscation of all enemy ships within its jurisdiction.

The first step taken was to sabotage the machinery. It was intended, however, to destroy the ships eventually by fire or scuttling.

Burn Ships at Callao.

As soon as the seizure became known Berlin and Rome presumably ordered the flight or destruction of merchantmen in Latin American ports. Two German merchantmen were burned today at Callao, Peru, and shipping circles reported a third had been scuttled at Paita, Peruvian port. Two others escaped from Callao last night. One German and three Italian ships were fired by their crews at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela. An Italian tanker was scuttled by its crew at Tampico, and Mexico immediately seized 11 other axis ships at Tampico and Vera Cruz.

Costa Rica arrested the crews of a German and an Italian freighter for firing their ships at Punta Arenas.

Cuba seized the Italian freighter Recca. Peru took possession of the German air line Lufthansa, including planes and hangars.

Bridges Trial Bares Scope of Moscow Plots

San Francisco, Cal., April 1 [Special]. — Benjamin Gitlow, former American communist leader, told a dramatic story today of his break with Josef Stalin and his expulsion from the communist party. He was testifying at immigration department proceedings to deport Harry Bridges, leftwing maritime labor leader, to his native Australia.

Gitlow, after describing a farflung program inspired from Moscow to foment class warfare and bloody revolution in this country, said that he defied the party executive committee at a meeting in Moscow in 1929 when Russian party bosses insisted on still more militant action in the United States.

Gitlow then was general secretary of the communist party in America and a member of the executive committee of the communist internationale [comintern]. He was the leader of the American delegation to Moscow.

Defies Stalin to His Face.

Because of the disobedience of the Americans, Gitlow said, they were taken before a special commission headed by Vyacheslav Molotov, present soviet premier. Stalin was present and led in demanding American acceptance of the party line. Gitlow, however, said he refused assent and told Stalin: "When I return to the United States, I'll fight you."

Gitlow said that, in consequence, his passport was withheld by the OGPU [soviet secret police] and he was unable to get out of Moscow until a month later.

Gitlow's long statement of communist aims and methods in this country was intended by Clarence Goodwin of Chicago and Albert dei Guercio, who are presenting the government's case, to prove the treasonable character of the party, from which Bridges is said to take his orders. His deportation as an undesirable alien is asked.

Foments Racial Strife.

Gitlow said that the party in America had attempted to make capital of racial and religious splits in the country by organizing a Jewish section of the International Labor Defense and a Negro Labor congress.

Gitlow testified that the Negro organization was intended to give the communist party control of the Negroes for revolutionary purposes and that Moscow envisioned an independent Negro republic within the United States.

Tracing the ancestry of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Gitlow said that it originated as part of a Moscow plan to organize an opposition movement within the American Federation of Labor. In 1928, long before his rise in CIO councils, John L. Lewis was regarded with so much disfavor by Moscow that $50,000 was sent here to defeat him for reelection as president of the United Mine Workers of America, Gitlow said.

Fights Only for Moscow.

Del Guercio mentioned the Daily Worker, communist party newspaper, and asked Gitlow whether the paper is true to its slogan: "The Only American Daily That Fights for the Working Classes."

"The Daily Worker fights for the communist party under the dictation of Moscow," Gitlow responded, "and the aim of the communist party is the forceful overthrow of the United States government."

When today's session closed, the government had introduced nearly 80 exhibits, most of them documents which Gitlow identified as official correspondence of the communist party.

GreyhoundBus Line Plans Big Loop Terminal

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Plans for a new Greyhound bus terminal which is proposed to cover the west half of the loop block bounded by Lake, Clark, Randolph, and Dearborn streets, will be submitted to the city council today, Mayor Kelly said yesterday.

The proposal, according to the plans, is for buses to enter the basement of the terminal building thru a tunnel. The tunnel is to leave the building at the northeast corner, under Lake street, pass between the street level and the tops of the subway tubes which are now constructed there, and curve around to emerge on the east side of Garvey court near its entrance to the lower level of Wacker drive.

Cost Placed at 5 Millions.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], council finance committee chairman, who will present the plans on behalf of Ald. Michael Kenna [1st], who will not be present, said the building and land are expected to cost upward of $5,000,000. Under the plans the Ashland block will be razed to make way for the project.

Bowler explained that the plans were kept secret by the company because of complications in acquiring property for the depot. They are being submitted to the council, he said, because the Greyhound company is asking the city to vacate or deed to it an alley which it needs for the terminal site. In return the company is offering to give the city another strip of land for a new alley.

The plans call for a four story building with a basement space for buses to load and unload passengers. The first floor will have shops, ticket offices, and waiting rooms and a theater. Second and third floors are to be used for a public garage, and company offices will occupy the fourth floor.

Mayor Asks Study of Plans.

Mayor Kelly said, "The first plan was to ask the council for the alley vacation under the name of the company representative, Arthur Rubloff, a real estate dealer. I told them to come to the council tomorrow under the name of the Greyhound Bus Lines and present the plans so that every one can study them."

Bowler said he will ask for public hearings on the alley vacation request.

GOV. HEIL ASKS ROOSEVELT AID IN MOB UPRISING

48 Injured in Wild Battle with Police.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 1.—Gov. Julius P. Heil notified President Roosevelt tonight that the strike harrassed plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company is forced to close because the combined forces of available authorities are unable to control riotous CIO strikers.

The governor's notice and appeal for Presidential aid followed an afternoon of rioting in which a mob of 4,000 defied every effort to curb it. Forty-eight persons were injured during the fighting and the governor himself was held a virtual prisoner in the plant for a time and was the object of stones hurled by the mob.

Inquires About Troops.

Before drafting a long telegram to President Roosevelt the Wisconsin governor had telephoned Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps area, in Chicago to inquire about the possibility of having federal troops sent here from Fort Sheridan. Heil was informed that the legislature would have to make the request for troops to the President.

The possibility of having federal troops sent here also was taken up with Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in a long distance telephone conversation to Washington made by Max Babb, president of the Allis-Chalmers company. Babb was said to have asked for 5,000 soldiers.

The governor's telegram to the President was disclosed after a two and a half hour conference with company officials in the Shroeder hotel. Heil recalled, in his message, that the plant had been reopened last Monday, after nearly 10 weeks of idleness, at the request of Secretary Knox and William S. Knudsen, codirector of the Office of Production Management.

Roosevelt Told of Situation.

"The company's employés responded to the government's appeal that they return to work, with approximately 60 per cent at work today producing defense orders," Gov. Heil said in his telegram to the President.

"This afternoon a mob created a condition of riot and civil commotion in this community and created disorder which is beyond the control of all the peace officers which can be assembled by the combined forces of the state, the county, and local communities. The situation is absolutely out of the control of all the peace officers available.

"I am notifying you of this situation in order that you may direct

Expect Truce to Open Shafts 'In 48 Hours'

New York, April 1 (AP).—A work stoppage in the nation's bituminous coal mines became fully effective tonight after labor and management failed to reach a contract agreement, but a federal conciliator said he believed continued negotiations during the next 48 hours would bring "a temporary arrangement for resumption of operations."

The United Mine Workers of America [CIO] and the nation's soft coal producers agreed shortly before midnight to continue negotiations. Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the United States conciliation service, announced at once that "I therefore assure the public that there is no cause for alarm."

Pay Raise in Prospect.

The operators were reported to be planning to draw up tentative proposals which would be acceptable to the union. Sources close to the operators indicated these would include $1 a day increase in wages. In return the miners were understood to be willing to drop their other main demands—a guarantee of 200 work days a year and vacations with pay.

The federal conciliator planned to telephone President Roosevelt to inform the chief executive of the situation. He said he was doing this at the direction of the conference and in reply to the chief executive's urgent insistence last night that the negotiators not permit the dispute to endanger this country's national defense effort.

Expects "Equitable" Pact.

Steelman explained that the mine workers automatically do not work without a contract, and that the contract expired last midnight. Therefore, he said, the stoppage continues.

Steelman then read to newsmen a prepared statement in which he said: "I have every confidence in the intention of the conferees to reach an equitable agreement on all issues before them and believe it can be done within 48 hours."

In the event a mutual agreement is not effected by that time, Steelman said he believed a temporary arrangement for resumption of operations would be made.

HOW THE STRIKES LOOK TO THE ROOSEVELTS AND MADAME PERKINS

Strikes in the nation's armaments industries attracted the following attention yesterday from President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins:

President Roosevelt—In Washington, D. C., the President said he was opposed to new legislation intended to settle the tieups until existing labor mediation machinery has had a further trial. The President's position was made known with the latest proposal, by Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee, who introduced a bill to permit the government to take over plants where there is "an existing or threatened" tieup which interferes with the rearmament program.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt—At her press conference in Washington Mrs. Roosevelt said a proposed law to classify strikes in arms industries as treason was "perfect nonsense." She said the nation should not become overly excited about the strikes. "After all," she added, "this country is not at war and people ought not to behave as tho a strike problem is a case of patriotism."

Madame Perkins, secretary of labor—Mme. Perkins, pausing in Chicago on her way from California to Washington, said the strikes represent "a difficult and complicated situation" and that the government is doing "everything it can" to settle them.

Informed an appeal had been made in Dearborn, Mich., for state police to remove CIO sit-downers from a Ford Motor company plant, she said: "I can't believe it's true."

Miss Perkins said she didn't think it necessary for her to go to Milwaukee, Wis., on the Allis-Chalmers strike. "We've got a man there," she said. "The Allis strike is complicated; it doesn't follow any of the rules."

"I'm anxious to get straight home with my sea shells," she added, shaking a box of them before reporters. "I gathered them in California."

PLANT TO OPEN AFTER 12 HOUR SITDOWN TEST

Governor Is Asked to Send State Police.

Dearborn, Mich., April 2, Wednesday [Special]. — Henry Ford early today accepted a strike challenge from the CIO United Automobile Workers of America. Less than an hour after the UAW had announced a strike against his vast River Rouge plant in this Detroit suburb, employing 85,000 men, the Ford company announced it would attempt to operate as usual.

The announcement was made in a crisply worded message to all employés from Harry H. Bennett, personnel director, that the Rouge plant will be open to any one wanting to work.

The battle which may go down as a major one in labor history—the Ford plant being one of the largest motor car manufacturers in the world—brings to a long awaited showdown the struggle of the company to resist CIO unionization of its employés.

Workers to Face Pickets.

The first real test is expected today between 5 and 7 a. m. [Chicago time] when the staggered day shifts are scheduled to report for work.

On the one hand is the strike order forbidding CIO men to work. Thousands of pickets are scheduled to be on duty at the gates.

On the other hand is the company's invitation to the men to report for work as usual if they desire. All are assured they will have a chance to work even tho their particular departments may be idle.

The strike call and the Ford company's announced determination to operate despite it capped a series of swiftly moving events which began yesterday with dismissal of several UAW employés, and continued with a 12 hour sitdown strike by 7,000 workers, and a demand upon Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner for state police to oust them.

Work on Orders for U. S.

The company is devoting a part of its operations to the manufacture of government orders for miniature reconnaissance cars, army trucks, and airplane parts. The hardest hit of these, it is said, may be trucks.

The strike does not affect the nearby Lincoln or Highland Park plants.

Bennett, the Ford personnel chief, gave his version of how the disturbance started at 2 p. m. yesterday.

"The trouble started," said Bennett, "over eight men we had put back to work on orders of James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator. These eight men immediately began an organizing campaign, cursing and insulting workers. We fired them again, and we will not reëmploy them under any circumstances.

"The sitdowners seized our plant, barricaded the doors, and shut off the power."

Gradually Cease Work.

Groups in the rolling mills, the open hearth, the rubber plant and pressed steel shops joined in the sitdown.

By 9 p. m. the entire River Rouge works were paralyzed, all units being reported idle except the foundry and motorcar section.

In the rolling mills some 7,000 men remained on strike after the sitdowners in the other sections of the plant had left for home at the end of their day's shifts.

Bennett, in reporting the incidents, said the sitdowners were "taking orders from communist agitators. They defied us and refused to leave."

Company officials called upon Mayor John L. Carey of Dearborn to demand the assistance of state police from Gov. Van Wagoner to evict the sitdowners. The mayor promptly transmitted the request to the governor, who happened to be in Detroit. He summoned an emergency conference of Oscar G. Olander, chief of state police, and other aids.

Organizer Tells Complaint.

Michael F. Widman, UAW organizer for the Ford plant charged that the company had violated negotiations before the National Labor Relations board by summarily discharging four key UAW spokesmen, whom he named as Thomas Gaddes, James Sullivan, Ray Pilon and Andrew Dewar.

A petition by the UAW demanding an election at the Rouge plant to determine the union bargaining agent is before the labor board.

"The stoppage of work [the sitdown] was due," said Widman, "to

BARE SCANDALS IN LAND BUYING UNDER WAR BILL

Millions Wasted; House to Probe All Spending.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Disclosure of two government land acquisition scandals agitated congress today and caused the house rules committee to approve an investigation by the military and naval affairs committees of every phase of spending in the 32½ billion dollar war spending program.

Rep. Albert J. Engel.

There have been many rumors in the capital of waste, inefficiency and graft in the rush to get the arms program under way by rolling out the billions provided by congress in the last 18 months. It remained for a Republican congressman, Albert J. Engel of Michigan, to conduct a one man investigation of the costs of army camp construction. He presented the first of a series of startling findings to the house in a speech today.

Hint Graft in War Department.

The second revelation of an improper land purchase, which hinted at graft in the war department itself, came before the house military affairs committee, which learned that the case has been placed in the hands of the department of justice. It involved the purchase of a site for an explosives plant at Weldon Springs, Mo.

Engel, who jumped in his car recently and made a one man congressional investigation of 13 army camps while other legislators stayed home and wrangled, made his first report on Camp Blanding, 48 miles southwest of Jacksonville, Fla. This camp will ultimately cover 117,000 acres and house 58,000 troops. Originally estimated to cost $8,796,180, the actual cost will be $27,740,214, Engel revealed.

Forty per cent of the building area of the camp is below lake level, Engel learned from engineers. Draining of this swamp area necessitated 90 miles of piping, 150 miles of surface ditching, removal of 60 acres of black muck, and replacement with white sand. Fifteen hundred tents were built in the swamp area before drainage proceeded and had to be removed from the mud.

Gross Inefficiency Charged.

Selection of this site, Engel told the house, showed gross inefficiency and a total disregard for taxpayers' interests. Much of the expense of removing 2,000,000 cubic yards of earth, replacing 650,000 cubic yards of muck with sand, renting and operating a draining system, as well as the major portion of $2,000,000 spent for equipment rental was made necessary by the nature of the site.

While not attempting to estimate the excess cost of the improper site selection, Engel noted that Brig. Gen. Brehon Somervell, construction quartermaster of the army, testified before the military affairs committee on Feb. 26 that it cost the army $5,000,000 more than it had expected to spend for preparing the site.

"Assuming this estimate is accurate, nearly 20 per cent of the cost of the entire project can be charged to the improper selection of this site and inefficiency," he declared.

Order Purchase Inquiry.

The second land scandal to shock the house resulted in an order by the military affairs committee for a thoro investigation of the purchase of 16,300 acres in St. Charles county, Missouri, for a government TNT plant.

The committee heard Brig. Gen. Somervell and John J. O'Brien, attorney in the land division of the war department. The witnesses revealed that they had asked the justice department to look into the Missouri land deal.

Committee members demanded that Col. R. V. Valliant, former chief of the war department's real estate division, be summoned. Col. Valliant gave R. Newton McDowell, a Kansas City, Mo., agent, a contract to purchase the land for the army. Subsequently it was disclosed that McDowell stood to obtain a $150,000 fee plus a $40,000 fee for the Kansas City Title Insurance company, which he personally selected to abstract the titles to tracts on the site.

Brig. Gen. Somervell, who requested replacement of Valliant when he became army construction quartermaster last Dec. 13, said their inquiry had established that McDowell came to Washington last fall, "contacted" somebody in the ordnance division of the war department and was told of the plan to construct the TNT plant. McDowell said he was advised to see Col. Valliant, did so, and got the contract.

Col. Valliant told his superiors that he had not known McDowell previously but had inquired and found that he was "favorably known" by war department engineers before awarding him the contract.

Subpena Powers Asked.

Gen. Somervell said the government was now seeking determination from federal courts of the validity of the contract with McDowell. On this determination, he said, will rest the validity not only of 121 options which have been disposed of but options for 149 other tracts which have not been settled.

When news of these two deals circulated thruout Capitol hill it did not take long for the house rules committee to recommend the inquiry into the defense program. The resolution authorizing the investigation, expected to be approved overwhelmingly by the house, calls for the military and naval affairs committee to sit jointly with subpena powers to compel appearance of witnesses.

SEAWAY PROJECT RIPPED BY FISH AS POLITICAL FRAUD

Will Ruin Many Seaports, He Tells Congress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The Roosevelt administration's St. Lawrence seaway and power project was assailed by Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] on the floor of congress today as "an extravagant political fraud being wished on the American people under the guise of national defense."

Representative Fish.

Fish declared that the project was conceived in political propaganda and aimed to obtain votes in farm states. He termed the project a political myth which has been exposed repeatedly as being of no advantage to American farm products in competition with Canadian surplus farm exports.

"It will not help a single American farmer to sell a single bushel of wheat to England," Fish asserted, "because of her preferential treatment of the products of her dominions.

Fears Ruin of Ports.

"I am opposed to the St. Lawrence project as being detrimental to our own import and export trade and adversely affecting the ports of Buffalo, Albany, New York City, and a half dozen American cities on the eastern seaboard.

"It would mean transferring, by the use of congressional appropriations, of American products to Montreal, Canada, and hence by foreign ships to European nations. This would result in destroying our own commercial interests, the American merchant marine, and creating unemployment in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Norfolk, and even farther south on the Gulf of Mexico.

Warns of National Bankruptcy.

"The absurdity of the defense subterfuge is clearly demonstrated by the fact that it will take at least four years to complete this project.

"The United States is on the road to bankruptcy, and every project not essential to our national defense should be cut to the bone. Let us begin with the St. Lawrence seaway and try to save America from financial suicide."

An agreement for construction of a 266 million dollar St. Lawrence seaway was signed by Canada and United States representatives in Ottawa on March 19. Formidable opposition to the scheme in both the house and senate has begun lining up under the leadership of members from the Mississippi valley states and those from the Atlantic seaboard.

MASTER DENIES LAKE DIVERSION PLEA OF ILLINOIS

Barrett to Continue High Court Fight.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—Monte M. Lemann, special master for the United States Supreme court, it was disclosed here today, has decided against Illinois in the state's petition for a temporary increase in the diversion of water from Lake Michigan thru the Chicago drainage canal.

Lemann's report, now in the hands of Attorney General George F. Barrett, is to be submitted to the court in Washington tomorrow. Barrett plans to oppose the recommendations and press the state's plea for the temporary increase.

Two assistant attorneys general have been assigned to file a list of exceptions to Lehmann's report, Barrett said.

In his report Lemann recommends that the Supreme court dismiss the original Illinois petition and also an amended or supplementary petition asking a modification of the decree of April 21, 1930, which fixed the diversion flow at 1,500 cubic feet per second. The special master also asked that the costs of the suit be levied against the state of Illinois.

Health Findings Contradictory.

Concerning the health aspects of the Illinois case, Lemann early in his report said that "the actual condition of the Illinois waterway creates, in the summer months, a nuisance, thru offensive odors in Joliet and Lockport, but does not present a menace to health."

Later in his summary the master concedes that the Supreme court may rule otherwise on this point, as he says: "Whether these facts constitute a 'menace to the health' of the inhabitants of the complaining communities," within the court's meaning of the phrase, "requires a decision as to which I have no certain guide."

Barrett pounced upon this concession in the master's summary, and will base his exceptions to the report on this point.

Attorney General Barrett inherited the case from his predecessor, John E. Cassidy, who on Jan. 11, 1940, reopened the court battle—begun in 1922—by raising the health question.

Reviews Health Survey.

Lemann's conclusions on the health question, reached after several months of personal examination and hearings which began with a "sniffing" trip down the canal last July, were summed up in these words:

"Complaints as to the condition of the waterway are confined to residents of Joliet and Lockport and proceed chiefly from persons living in close proximity to the canal.

"Health conditions in Joliet are very good. Fewer communicable diseases exist in counties adjoining the waterway than in other Illinois counties. The typhoid rate in Will county and other counties adjoining the waterway has declined substantially since 1930. The typhoid death rate for Will county in 1939 was not much more than half of that for the state as a whole.

No Illness Traced to Canal.

"No water from the canal is used for drinking. There is no swimming in the waterway. Germs cannot be blown thru the air from the waterway, and in order for germs in the canal to cause illness one would have to drink the water or germs would have to be carried by flies or other insects and brought into contact with food. Health statistics indicate that no illness has been caused in this way.

"Complaints as to the conditions of the waterway are based entirely upon the very offensive odors given off by it in the summer time.

"The odors from the canal are intermittent but extremely unpleasant and disagreeable to those living in close proximity to the canal on hot and sultry days and nights.

"Nervous persons or invalids are especially susceptible to the odors. On hot and sultry days school children have been nauseated and caused to lose a day from school."

In effect, the special master held in favor of the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Michigan, New York, and Pennsylvania, which opposed increasing the water diversion.

For Propaganda

(Story in adjoining column.)

Below are pictures of Lillian Gish as she appeared in two of the three propaganda movies she described yesterday as "selling the idea of hate to the American people" before the world war.

MISS GISH TELLS OF SOB ROLES TO STIR WAR HATE

Actress Cites Lesson of 1917 Propaganda.

Almost a quarter of a century ago a little known actress starred in a series of propaganda films which helped to plunge the United States into the first world war. Audiences wept as the young girl was beaten, kicked, and whipped with a cat o'nine tails by ruthless "Huns."

Lillian Gish.

Before an America First rally yesterday in the Hotel Sherman, Miss Lillian Gish, now a star of the stage and screen, told of her part in "selling the idea of hate to the American people."

"I am not proud of the part I played then," Miss Gish told the crowd of 1,500 persons. "I tell you the story now in the hope that the American people will not be fooled again."

How Plots Were Hatched.

Miss Gish, who shared the platform with Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, former senior brigade commander of the Illinois National Guard, drew repeated applause as she described the propaganda films which, she declared, "made our people think and talk like idiots."

She told how the plots were hatched by the heads of the British and French propaganda departments "to bring the Americans over to fight for us."

The result, three propaganda pictures, was a major factor in whipping the American people to hysteria to make the world safe for democracy, Miss Gish declared.

She told how she played the part of a little English girl living in France, whose lover went to war. How, after her home and mother and grandfather were blown to bits, she loses her mind and goes roaming along the battlefield. She described another scene in which three small children, left alone in a dugout with their dead mother, dig her grave and bury her without help.

"Most Effective" Scenes.

"These scenes were most effective," Miss Gish said. "They were calculated to stir the emotions of the Americans so that they would be willing to fight and die for the cause."

"And now," Miss Gish continued, "for the second time in 24 years we are being propagandized into a war that is none of our business.

"With propaganda and hysteria at its present peak, who knows but what the American people will take such films seriously again.

"If there was any good that came to us out of the last war, I would like to know what it was. And we won that war!"

Urges Fight to Remain Free.

Gen. Hammond, chairman of the Illinois America First committee, warned his audience that "at the end of the emergency, we must be prepared to oppose dictatorship."

"Let us fight to preserve our republican form of government," he declared, "Let us fight to remain free and to make our own laws."

The American people not only have the right, but the definite duty, to demand of our government that waste, extravagance and nonessentials be eliminated in the national defense program, Gen. Hammond said. He charged that the St. Lawrence seaway and the Florida ship canal project were introduced by the administration under the guise of national defense when they cannot possibly have a part in present rearmament.

BRITISH VEGETARIANS TO RECEIVE 8 TIMES USUAL CHEESE RATION

LONDON, April 1.—British vegetarians will be allowed eight ounces of cheese weekly instead of the one ounce fixed for other consumers when cheese rationing begins May .5, the food ministry said today. The applicant must surrender his meat and bacon coupons and promise not to eat meat in restaurants or other eating places.

136 TAKE SOLEMN OATH AND ENTER CITIZENS' REALM

One hundred and thirty-six men and women took the oath of citizenship yesterday in the federal District court of Judge John P. Barnes. When the ceremony was ended Judge Barnes told them to obtain a copy of the constitution and "read it thru again and again." "It is a solemn and serious document," he added. "Remember that each man who signed it knew he was signing his death warrant if the revolution should prove unsuccessful."

The new citizens included both young and old. Several of them had been in America many years. One was Sergt. Louis P. Glecier of the 124th field artillery, who came on furlough from Camp Forrest, Tenn.

Fred J. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration and naturalization, said citizenship petitions have increased fourfold. The staff of examiners will be doubled after April 9 to care for the increase.

Boy, 8, Dies of Injuries in Cop and Robber Game

John Hermetet, 8 years old, 403 Blackhawk street, died in Augustana hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Monday during a game of "cops and robbers." The boy was thrown to the pavement when he climbed a garbage receptacle and one of the sides collapsed.

CIO RIOTS CLOSE ALLIS PLANT; 48 HURT IN BATTLE

Gov. Heil Makes Plea to Roosevelt for Aid.

such action as you deem advisable. In the meantime, in order to prevent bloodshed, I am requesting the company to cease all production operations."

Inasmuch as the plant was reopened at the insistence of federal officials so work could be resumed on the company's 45 million dollars worth of armament orders, the company had taken the position it could not close without directions from or official notice to government leaders.

Cites Loss of Guardsmen.

Following the conference tonight, Gov. Heil disclosed that Gen. Bonesteel had been "standing by" in Chicago thruout the meeting and that a copy of the telegram to Roosevelt was sent to the army officer.

"This is actually a confession," the governor said in summing up the day's developments, "that the state cannot defend itself from a riotous mob. That's because they have taken away my National Guard. Even their guns and clothes were taken. There just aren't enough peace officers in our combined forces to control this situation."

Babb sent messages to all of the companies production workers notifying them that the plant would be closed at the request of the governor because of the rioting and that the "entire matter is being placed in the hands of the federal government for action."

Renewed Disorders Feared.

Fears of bloodshed in renewed disorders expected tomorrow were increased by reports that the CIO planned to call a county-wide half holiday in the strike of United Automobile Workers at the company's big plant in suburban West Allis.

The CIO claims to have 65,000 members in the county. Gov. Heil said that if the holiday were to be called, a crowd of possibly 50,000 would flock to the plant. CIO leaders said a general vote on a holiday had not been taken, but that some locals might have taken such action and that the union's county council planned to decide that matter tomorrow night.

Gov. Heil Addresses Strikers.

Today's outbreak of violence, the second in two days, followed closely upon Gov. Heil's appearance before the strikers. In fact, the governor's brief speech gave the mob its opportunity to attack. Police lines, which had held the crowd across the street from the plant entrance, relaxed as the governor began to talk, and the released hordes swept up close to the entrance.

"I wouldn't have come here if I didn't think I could do some good," Gov. Heil said. "I'm trying to act as a mediator and have been in conference for two hours with union officials in an attempt to be helpful. Now I want you all to be good citizens."

"What about state troops?" some one yelled.

"We don't need the state troops here," Heil replied. "I'm asking you to be good citizens."

Stone Smashes Plant Window.

The governor then turned and walked thru a pedestrian entrance and into the lobby of the plant. As he did so a stone crashed against the lobby window, smashing it.

A barrage of bricks and rocks were hurled at the governor's nearby automobile bearing the seal of the state of Wisconsin. Its windshield and side windows were broken and a heavy rock tore a hole in the shatterproof glass of the back window. The fenders were dented in many places. Several persons rushed up with buckets of paint and daubed the car in several colors.

Gov. Heil, who had entered the plant to talk to President Babb, conferred with that official for about an hour. When he was ready to leave he found the battle outside had attained such proportions he was advised not to endanger himself.

For some time he was kept a virtual prisoner in the plant. He was finally sped out another exit from the one he had entered. His battered car had been driven thru the plant grounds for his getaway. As he was leaving a rock was hurled at his car, but missed it.

Battle Police Hand to Hand.

During Heil's stay in the plant, members of the mob had forced open the automobile gate near the pedestrian entrance and engaged in hand to hand fighting with policemen. The strikers used clubs and stones while the police wielded blackjacks.

From the plant big water hoses were turned on the invaders, four nozzles at the main entrance playing heavy streams on the struggling mob. Waste oil also was shot at the strikers thru a hose.

The Milwaukee police department's huge "mobile fortress," a six ton armored truck carrying 10 policemen armed with tear gas guns, swung into action at the beginning of the violence. Gas cartridged fired from its interior kept the mob moving until a shell backfired and the "tank" had to move quickly into the plant grounds and disgorge its bleary-eyed occupants.

Street Cars Also Attacked.

A steady stream of rocks and bricks, ammunition apparently prepared in advance, was hurled at the plant, breaking an estimated 1,000 windows. Most of the windows of eight street cars, stalled by the rioting, also were shattered, a woman rider in one being injured. An eight foot fence outside the plant was torn down.

Hundreds of nonstriking production workers and office employés were forced to remain in the plant during the battle. Many armed themselves with barrel staves and steel rods and stood guard at points where it was believed attacks might be made.

Despite the efforts of police and aired out fortress' return to duty, the rioting continued from about 3:30 p. m. until 5 p. m. More than 4,000 strong at the height of the fighting, the crowd finally began to disperse after Mayor Delbert Miller of West Allis rode thru it on a big truck shouting:

"Please go home and let us have peace for tonight at least."

Within a short time the crowd had dwindled to about 400 and the beleaguered workers were able to leave the plant and go to their homes.

1 Killed, 1 Shot, 21 Beaten in Violence at Coal Mines

Harlan, Ky., April 1 [Special].—One man was shot dead, another was wounded, and 21 were beaten today in outbursts of violence that accompanied picketing in the Harlan county coal fields in connection with a CIO ordered work stoppage in the industry.

The bloodshed, which broke nearly two years of peace in the area, prompted Gov. Keen Johnson to send Col. Jack W. Nelson, director of the state highway patrol, to investigate the situation.

The most serious disorder was at the Mary Helen Coal corporation mine at nearby Coalgood, where Earl Jones, 52 years old, a mine guard, was wounded fatally. Bill Gibbs, a miner from the Black Mountain mine, was arrested and was said to have admitted the shooting. Sheriff Herbert Cawood said Gibbs surrendered a rifle and three pistols, one belonging to Jones.

400 Pickets Storm Mine.

A mob of about 400 pickets gathered at the mine and set upon the workers when they changed shifts. The mine boss and five other miners were slugged and beaten. Rocks were thrown and shots were fired at running men. Jones was felled by a burst of gun fire as he stood near the mine entrance.

Later in the afternoon a crowd of about 250 men exchanged shots with miners in a tipple at the R. C. Tway Coal company. Several hundred shots were fired, but no one was injured.

Then the 250 motored to a mine of the Crummies Creek Coal company at Martin's Fork and attacked workmen as they left the pit late in the afternoon. Fifteen miners were injured in the battle, in which clubs were swung freely. The injured received medical attention at the office of the company doctor.

Picket Shot in Leg.

In another shooting, Frank Jasper, 34 years old, a picket, was shot in the leg at the Harlan Central Coal corporation mine at Totz. He was taken to a hospital while authorities began an investigation of the disorder.

The violence followed orders of the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] for a work stoppage pending the signing of a new working agreement for the Appalachian coal area.

Most of the 43 mines in the county failed to open for operations today. Work was carried on at eight. Twelve that did try to operate were closed by pickets. However, nearly all displayed work signs offering employment.

POLICE INSTALL BURGLAR ALARM IN THE STATION

Burglars haven't any ethics at all. They'd just as soon burglarize the Central police building as not, and they know how embarrassing it would be for the police to have to call themselves up to report that they'd been robbed—right under their own noses.

As a matter of fact, the police have had to do that twice in the last few months when burglars broke in on the second floor.

So the police are taking no chances on having red faces again. They're installing a burglar alarm that will flash a red light and sound a buzzer if burglars try to carry away the lie detector or any of the rest of the $100,000 worth of equipment in the crime detection laboratory on the 12th floor.

Latin American Activities of Nazis Told by Speaker

FORD TO REOPEN HIS PLANT AFTER 12 HR. SITDOWN

Defies CIO; Disorders Laid to Radicals.

continuous and deliberate efforts of the Ford company to bring a showdown with the UAW-CIO before the issue could be decided by a peaceful employés' election."

While the sitdowners were holding the rollings mills, Gov. Van Wagoner and his aids conferred in the Statler hotel on the company's request for state police. At midnight, after a phone talk with Widman, the governor announced that Widman had greed to withdraw the sitdowners from the mills. That he said indirectly obviated the necessity for state police.

Fifteen minutes later the international board of the UAW, headed by R. J. Thomas, president, announced the strike against the Ford plant. The order was signed by Thomas, Widman, and George F. Addes, secretary-treasurer.

Demand Spy System End.

In a statement, Thomas declared the UAW was demanding immediate reinstatement of all workers discharged because of union affiliation; a flat wage increase of 10 cents an hour; establishment of a seniority system governing layoffs and rehiring; establishment of a shop steward system, and "abolition of the Ford spy system and the company's infamous service department."

With the strike declaration, orders were given to the sitdown unionists to evacuate the rolling mills. The evacuation began at 1 a. m., and was completed about 2:30 a. m. No violence occurred.

Dearborn police and company guards were stationed at Gate 4, the main entrance, thru which they left. Several hundred persons assembled outside of the gates.

Workers reporting at the midnight shift were turned away for the time being because of the presence, at that time of the sitdowners in the mills. Certain key maintenance men were admitted, however.

Gov. Van Wagoner was asked at 3 a. m. wether he would now call out state police in view of the strike. He declined to comment. All of Michigan's national guardmen are in training in Louisiana with the exception of some artillery units.

STUDY RACKETS FOR EX-CONVICT SLAYING CLEW

Police turned yesterday to a background of petty racketeering in their investigation of the slaying Monday night of Marvin E. Olson, 40 years old, an ex-convict who played a principal rôle in the Orlando-Vinci jury fix trial a year ago.

Both Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police, and Chief John L. Sullivan of the detective bureau said they were satisfied there was no connection between Olson's murder and the bribery trial, at which he told of paying money to jurors to obtain acquittal for the defendants. Mrs. Martha Aumond, also a witness in the trial and Olson's friend, told Capt. Gilbert that Olson, when she last saw him in December, said he was "in the rackets."

Olson, his face blasted away by shotgun and pistol slugs, was found dead in his automobile in an alley at the rear of 1221 Burling street. An inquest into the slaying will be opened at 9:30 a. m. today in the county morgue.

LUMBER STRIKE CERTIFIED FOR U. S. MEDIATION

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, en route to Washington from the west coast, today certified the Snoqualmie Falls Lumber company strike to the national labor mediation board for adjustment.

The strike, called by the AFL's Lumber and Sawmill Workers' union, has been under way since last Oct. 28 at Snoqualmie Falls, Wash. The labor department's announcement of the action said that questions of wages, hours, and union membership are involved in the dispute. The company is a subsidiary of the Weyerhauser Timber company of Tacoma, Wash., the department said, and employs 1,060 men.

NATION RUINED IF IT GOES TO WAR, SAYS NYE

Denounces Roosevelt for Deceiving Public.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1 [Special].—Charging President Roosevelt with reaching for "a fool's gold" of war profits that he once denounced, Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] tonight charged that the nation's chief executive had attempted to wreck the American economy that once depended upon Europe's conflict.

Nye, addressing 1,000 persons here in John Marshall High school, accused the administration of turning to a war economy when it failed to solve the American depression.

The Dakotan, noting the contrast between present and previous legislative recommendations with his earlier stand on European affairs, harkened his hearers back to one of Roosevelt's 1936 campaign speeches, in which the President boasted that his administration had "fortified America's peace with statutes," and in which he warned against those "who might be selfish enough to wish for the fool's gold" of European wars.

"Forcing a War Issue."

"Now," he said, "the President's attitude is reversed and he has asked for repeal of all those measures that would insure American peace. He is covering up a failure to meet a problem at home by forcing a war issue."

Assailing American citizens for allowing themselves to be misled, Nye said: "We are being led around like so many sheep because we permitted to be planted in our hearts things that do not belong to a courageous people —hate and fear."

"We have been fooled—thoroly fooled—just precisely as before, by the same forces, by the same kind of preconceived propaganda. We are being marched to a national suicide just as surely as a nation can be marched. We ought to stand for all time as lunatics incapable of learning the most simple lesson.

Predicts National Ruin.

"Let this country repeat its folly of 1917-'18 and you'll see the damnedest finest set of ruins the world ever has seen."

Touching upon the provisions of the lend-lease bill, Nye prophesied that the 7 billion dollar appropriation under that legislation is only the forerunner of such levies to be made upon the American taxpayers.

"This bill," he said, "gives us the task of underwriting the British empire, and we will surely be asked to pour more and more seven billions into the same cause.

"We will get less than nothing for our seven billions in investment. Somehow the idea is abroad in Washington that seven billions is not much money. You are going to find out that it is a great deal of money when we have to pay it."

Nye said under the present administration this country has faced more hate than it has faced in the previous 100 years.

None Licked Yet.

"We have a new hate every day," he said, "all the way from economic royalists to Hitler—and we have not licked one of those hates, which we call emergencies, yet."

Nye was preceded by Miss Catherine Curtis, national director of women investors in America, who, in reviewing legislation contained in the lend-lease bill, said the vote on that bill went against the will of the American people.

A surprise speaker on the program was Kathleen Norris, the author. Mrs. Norris thrilled her audience when she denounced centuries of European warfare which, in the end, she said, never changed the basic features of the map.

The Nye meeting was sponsored by the Pasadena No War committee. Earlier in the day Nye addressed a group of U. C. L. A. students.

To avoid the "final war plunge just ahead," Senator Nye told the U. C. L. A. students there must be "an end to deception, the government must stay out of the European poker game in which no one has been the winner, and youth must insist on preserving the American way.

"America first must be the cry voiced from the throats of every young man and woman in America," he concluded.

Democrats in Flossmoor Prove Point; Lose Office

The Bloom township race between Mrs. Mary L. Robbins and Martin P. Dolowy for supervisor was exceedingly close last night when the votes from district 1 of Flossmoor were counted. The Democrats counted 80 Republican votes, while the Republicans counted only 68. The Republicans were about to concede Mrs. Robbins' defeat on the basis of their own figures when the Democrats checked theirs to prove they were right. They proved it and it gave the office to Mrs. Robbins by a majority of 5 votes out of a total of 8,871 cast in the whole township.

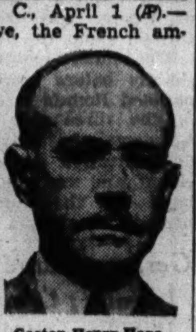
VICHY WILL TRANSMIT PROTEST ON CONVOY TO LONDON THRU U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, today delivered to the state department—for transmittal to the British government — a protest from the Vichy government against the attempted interception by British warships of a convoy of French merchantmen off the coast of Algiers.



Gaston Henry-Haye.

The ambassador explained to newspapermen that since there was no direct diplomatic intercourse between Vichy and London the French government was asking the friendly cooperation of the United States in transmitting the note.

Firing between British warships and French shore batteries followed the attempted convoy interception, which was reported Sunday. The British version was that the French ships were carrying "important war material for Germany"; the French said the ships carried food.

President Signs Bill for 191 Millions Deficiency

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed today a $191,478,544 deficiency appropriations bill which included $10,510,000 for building protective works at the Panama canal.

SHIP SCUTTLED AS MEXICO SEIZES VESSELS OF AXIS

4 Burn in Venezuela; 3 Destroyed in Peru.

The 24 hour toll of axis shipping in Latin American ports today stood at 11 ships destroyed, 16 seized, including one taken over by Cuba, and two burned in Costa Rica.

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 1 (AP).—Concealed crew members opened the seacocks of the 2,005 ton Italian tanker Atlas and the ship was slowly sinking tonight in the Panuco river.

The Mexican naval ministry immediately seized 11 other German and Italian ships refuged here and at Vera Cruz. The crews were ordered arrested.

The scuttling of the Atlas was observed when a Mexican naval boarding party attempted to take over the vessel.

The tanker's captain, Lelio Sazzi, explained his action thus:

"I have fulfilled my duty and the instructions from my government not to let the ship fall into foreign hands, possibly English."

Capt. Sazzi and his crew of 20 refused to go ashore, altho all but the upper deck was awash.

4 Ships Burn in Venezuela.

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 1 (AP).—The blazing wrecks of four axis vessels, three Italian tankers and a German cargo ship, lighted Puerto Cabello harbor tonight as the Venezuelan government took over three undamaged Italian ships and set a guard over a small German passenger boat.

Three hundred Italian and 35 German sailors were arrested following the fires.

Three Destroyed in Peru.

LIMA, Peru, April 1 (AP).—Peruvian troops took control today of two Junkers planes and the hangars and workshops of the German Lufthansa air line while three Nazi merchant ships were burned or scuttled by their crews in Peruvian ports and two others apparently escaped at sea.

A high source said the government ordered military occupation of the German civil air base at the Limatambo airport to prevent the departure of an airliner on a scheduled run. There was no official explanation.

The burned ships were the 5,898 ton Leipzig and the 5,578 ton Monserrate, whose crews were seized after the vessels burned at Callao. The 6,810 ton Friesland was scuttled by her crew at Paita, shipping circles said.

The 5,619 ton Muenchen and the 4,833 ton Hermonthis, which left Callao last night, apparently have eluded pursuing naval planes and a cruiser and a destroyer.

One Fired in Ecuador.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 1 (AP).—The 1,120 ton German steamship Cerigo burst into flames when Ecuadorean forces approached to seize it today. The crew was arrested.

STREET CAR INJURIES FATAL.

Struck by a street car at 56th street and Western avenue on March 22, Lawrence Kaczmarek, 70 years old, 5024 South Racine avenue, a dishwasher, died of his injuries last night in the Southtown hospital.

Three Seized in CIO Office Identified in Terror Quiz

Three men seized in the CIO headquarters at 1110 South Oakley boulevard, from which the recent International Harvester company strike was directed, were held last night in Lyons as a result of holdup threats against a physician. A fourth man was arrested at the entrance to the company's McCormick plant.

Chief Richard Huizinga of the Lyons police said he believed the men had mistaken the physician, Dr. Richard Havalka, for a CIO worker who opposed the strike.

Gang of Five Lies in Wait.

Dr. Havalka noticed a gang of five men lying in wait when he and his wife drove up Sunday night in front of their home at 7220 West 38th place in Lyons. The physician alighted, told his wife to lock herself in, and asked the men what they wanted. He said they told him:

"We want you. This is a stickup."

Dr. Havalka fled to a tavern at 38th place and Harlem avenue in the suburb. The men followed him, he said, and announced to the patrons:

"This is a stickup."

The men showed no guns, but the patrons were thrown into panic and the women ran screaming for hiding places. One of them, Miss Madge Reardon, 35 years old, of 7305 Ogden avenue, Lyons, was struck by one of the men. When she protested another hurled a metal popcorn bowl, striking her. The gang remained in the tavern for some time, but took no money.

Shortly afterward three young men, whose names are not yet known, were severely beaten by a gang of five in the same neighborhood.

Tavern patrons took the number of the car in which the gang departed. It was traced to Verne Gilman of 2034 Congress street, who said he had lent it to Fred Bellingher, 26 years old, of 4827 South Loomis street. Bellingher was arrested at the union headquarters with Richard Kelly, 25, of 7246 South Hermitage avenue, and Peter Cimina, 30, of 6060 Kimbark avenue. Walter Gasinski, 26, of 4805 South Hoyne avenue, was arrested at the plant entrance. [A Richard Kelly, giving the Hermitage avenue address, was arrested during the Harvester strike on a charge of slugging a worker.]

All Four Identified.

Dr. Havalka and tavern patrons identified all four. The prisoners were charged with disorderly conduct, while the fifth was sought.

It then developed that Henry McConlogue, a CIO worker who opposed the strike, had lived until recently across the street from the physician's home.

McConlogue said he had been told that CIO leaders had threatened to make what they called "some personal calls" involving the strike. The prisoners refused to tell why they had been in Lyons.

BRITISH CAPTURE ASMARA, ITALIAN ERITREA CAPITAL

Open Way for Thrust to Red Sea Port.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 1 (AP).—British forces today announced the capture of Asmara, the capital of Italian Eritrea. The city's fall opened the way for a thrust by rail and motor roads to Massaua, a Red sea port and the colony's only good harbor. Asmara is 40 miles southwest of Massaua.

The Italians had fought a delaying action in defense of the city since the fall on March 26 of the heights of Keren, the capital's natural protectors.

Push On in Ethiopia.

In Ethiopia a British column was reported driving on toward Addis Ababa, the capital, from the strategic base provided by captured Diredawa. That town, 200 miles east of Addis Ababa, commands the cross country roads and a rail line linking the Ethiopian capital and the Gulf of Aden port of Djibouti.

From Diredawa came official news that British forces entering the town had found its remaining Italian inhabitants "being injured" by deserters from the disorganized Fascist colonial army.

The extent of this native rising against the Italians—who had conquered Ethiopia in 1936 and now stand to lose it all—was not stated. However, it was said that, while the British restored order, they could not prevent some Italian casualties.

Clash in Libya.

Asmara's fall put the second Italian colonial capital in British hands—Mogadiscio in Italian Somaliland having been taken Feb. 26—and apparently brought nearer the liquidation of

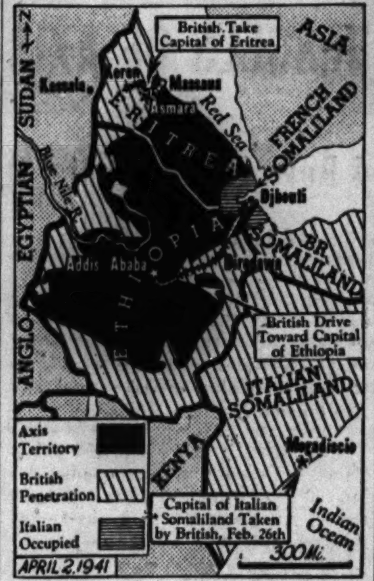
A British communique told of an encounter at Mersa Brega in Libya, but gave no details. German mechanized units were presumed to have engaged in that North African action. A British spokesman conceded the possibility that the German units supported infantrymen borne in trucks.

Mersa Brega is about 20 miles east of El Agheila, which marks the boundary between British occupied Cirenaica and Tripolitania. El Agheila was abandoned last week by the British after a clash with German-Italian forces.

The British spokesman attached little importance to the new encounter. He said it was unlikely that it marked the start of a German offensive into Cirenaica, since in the British rout of Italians from eastern Libya the latter left behind the bulk of the supplies, tanks, and guns which had been concentrated there for an Egyptian invasion. It would take months to replace this equipment, he asserted.

British Victorious

(Story in adjoining column.)



British forces yesterday captured Asmara, capital of Eritrea, in another smashing blow at Italian empire in East Africa.

BRITAIN TO ISSUE HALIFAX SPEECH AS 'WHITE PAPER'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—The speech of Lord Halifax, ambassador to the United States, on war and peace aims delivered in New York on March 25 will be published here as a government white paper, Prime Minister Churchill announced in the house of commons today.

Churchill said Halifax consulted him beforehand about the speech, which "was in full accord with the general outlook of the government." The prime minister stressed, however, that "it isn't my intention to produce at present a detailed catalog of war aims and peace aims."

Churchill stated that before the house adjourns on April 11 for its Easter recess he will make a statement on the war situation and move a resolution expressing congratulations and thanks to the navy, army, and air force for "the succession of brilliant victories in the Mediterranean and the middle east."

SENATOR DIXON ELECTED JUDGE IN 15TH CIRCUIT

Dixon, Ill., April 1 (AP).—State Senator George C. Dixon, Republican, of Dixon, was elected judge in the 15th judicial circuit today, defeating Louis F. Reinhold, Democrat, of Freeport. Senator Dixon will fill out the unexpired term of the late Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon.

The 15th judicial circuit is composed of Carroll, JoDaviess, Lee, Ogle, and Stevenson counties in the northwest corner of the state.

Knox Wins in Henderson.

Oquawka, Ill., April 1 (AP).—Earl Knox, Republican, was elected county judge of Henderson county by 1,695 votes to 1,190 for M. E. Nolan, Democrat, in a special election today. Both formerly were state's attorneys.

CHIEF OF POLISH FIGHTING FORCES REACHES CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1 (AP).—Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, commander in chief of Polish fighting forces and premier of the Polish government in exile, arrived from England today to take a leading rôle in the recruiting of a Polish legion in Canada. The general was expected to visit the United States. Polish Nationals serving with the armed forces of Canada will be allowed to transfer to the Polish legion, but there was no intention to encourage release of Poles who had become naturalized Canadians.

2 U.S.Cruisers,5 Destroyers Visit Port in Fiji Islands

SUVA, Fiji Islands, April 1 (AP).—Two United States cruisers and five destroyers arrived today on a training cruise. The city was bedecked with bunting to welcome the visitors. Dances, boxing matches, social events, and other affairs were planned.

British Missionary Set Free, Japanese Announce

PEKING, China, April 1 (AP).—The Japanese embassy announced today the release of Allen Benson, British missionary arrested last August on suspicion of organizing an anti-Japanese secret society among Chinese churchgoers. Benson is an employé of the British Assembly of God mission at Kalgan, northwest of Peking.

15½ Billion Dollars Spent to Run Britain for Year

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—Britain spent a record total of about $15,546,000,000 in the fiscal year ended last night. Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood said this compared with about $13,338,000,000 in the year before. Total ordinary revenue was about $5,663,000,000, leaving a deficit of about $9,862,000,000.

EMBASSY OF U. S. GUARDED AS ROME HAILS MATSUOKA

Schoolboys Demonstrate; Dispersed by Police.

ROME, April 1 (AP).—Two hundred Italian schoolboys demonstrated tonight in front of the United States embassy, guarded by steelhelmeted Italian troops, a few hours after Premier Benito Mussolini and the Japanese foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, greeted a wildly cheering crowd of 150,000 at the Piazza Venezia.

Police chased the youths away from the embassy, on the Via Veneto, and the troops were not called into action.

Seen as Honor for Jap.

Observers called the demonstration one of friendship for Matsuoka, who was the guest of the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, at a state dinner in the Excelsior hotel across the street.

Matsuoka's appearance with Il Duce concluded a round of talks with Italy's leaders. He spent half an hour with King Victor Emmanuel, 45 minutes with Ciano, and an hour and a quarter with Mussolini. Informed observers said they believed the talks were devoted largely to the growing interest of the United States in the war, and what to do about it.

Serb Legation Guarded.

The guard at the United States embassy, altho a considerable number of troops, was smaller than one thrown about the Jugo-Slav legation. The soldiers took up their positions shortly before scores of schoolboys paraded Rome's streets waving flags of the three axis partners—Japan, Germany, and Italy. The schoolboy demonstration dispersed without incident, and was followed a few hours later by the tumultuous display beneath the Piazza Venezia balcony.

German Plane Crashes in Ireland; Crew Is Interned

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 1 (AP).—A German plane crashed tonight in County Wexford and its crew was interned, the government information bureau announced.

DECLARES BRITAIN WELL ARMORED TO NIP INVASION

Forces on Guard Called Stronger than Ever.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, who directs the defense of the United Kingdom, repeated the warning that the invasion danger still remains in an address to Canadian staff officers today.

Gen. Sir Alan Brooke.

"If an invasion takes place it will not be only by infantry, but by armored fighting vehicles which are not easy to cope with," he said. "Once you get a force of armored fighting vehicles free in the country it is hard to catch and dispose of them. The only way to meet it is with another armored force."

Such an armored force, he said, is developing rapidly and the situation in the United Kingdom "steadily is growing healthier."

"Slipped on an Orange Peel."

He compared the war with Hitler to a "fall in a wrestling contest." Hitler, he said, was "trying first for a foothold in the Balkans, but slipped on the orange peel of Jugo-Slavia."

"By bombing our western ports and waging a submarine war in the Atlantic," Brooke declared, "Hitler's left hand is trying to paralyze our lifeline. His right hand is the invasion hand which he will try to use for an uppercut.

"I do not believe Hitler had planned for 1940 and therefore is not so well prepared as he might be now.

"The next attempt probably will be by seaborne and airborne troops."

Tells of Glasgow Deaths.

Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison admitted in the house of commons today that casualties resulting from the German raids on the Clydeside [the Glasgow district] on the nights of March 13 and 14 totaled about 1,100 killed and 1,000 injured.

The original estimate gave 500 as killed and 800 seriously wounded.

THOUSANDS JOIN JUGO-SLAV ARMY; TENSION MOUNTS

Nation Angry Over German Terrorist Charges.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 1 (AP).—Additional thousands of Serbs, Croats, Bosnians, and Montenegrans poured into the cities of Jugo-Slavia tonight to join the army as popular indignation flared in response to a German press and radio campaign against this kingdom.

With German relations in an extremely delicate condition, government circles reported that Jugo-Slavia, Turkey, and Russia were seriously considering a joint neutrality declaration aimed at producing the strongest possible psychological effect. Russia and Turkey on March 25 pledged to each other "benevolent neutrality" if either were obliged to defend herself.

Railway stations thruout the country were jammed with foreigners of a dozen nationalities, all frantic to be on their way. Troops with fixed bayonets stood guard to enforce a government order against panicky evacuation by Jugo-Slav citizens.

Deny Nazi Charges.

Most Jugo-Slavs heeded Premier Dusan Simovitch's stern warning to stay at home and prepare to defend the country with their lives if necessary.

The government issued a denial of German charges that terrorism had been unleashed against German residents and that the Serb comitaji had killed Germans.

A communique said the Germans were being treated like every one else and pointed out that most of them lived in the northern section while the Comitaji organization of old time fighters exists only in southern Serbia.

Planes Circle Over City.

Jugo-Slav warplanes circled over the capital all day. Young King Peter moved to consolidate his hold by abolishing the senate—composed mainly of allies of the old Tsvetkovitch government of capitulation—and by promoting to high ranks the army men who engineered last Thursday's overthrow of the "axis" government.

New Jugo-Slav troop trains headed southeast and north to the frontiers. The movement gained momentum when travelers from Bulgaria told of mass troop movements in that German occupied country.

A passenger on the famed Simplon express, one of the best trains in Europe, said it was delayed 16 hours en route to Istanbul by the movement of German and Bulgarian troops toward the Turkish and Jugo-Slav frontier.

Reports Troop Trains Jammed.

He said thousands of German and Bulgarian soldiers were on the same troop trains and that all of Bulgaria was seething with military activity.

The Nazi expeditionary force, he said, is now heading most of its strength toward Jugo-Slavia and away from the Bulgarian-Greek border.

There were diplomatic reports from Bucharest that a vast wedge of fast tanks was being driven into the corner of Rumania which juts into northeastern Jugo-Slavia.

An authoritative German source here said Berlin had rejected a Belgrade offer of "some verbal promises" in regard to the axis pact. He said Germany was insisting on "an open offer of full and complete friendship with the axis."

Many persons believed that the Berlin version of "complete friendship" would mean demobilization of the Jugo-Slav army and possibly permission to transport German war material, and, later, soldiers, across this country.

Makes Offer to Croats.

Premier Simovitch proceeded with deliberation in reorganizing the government, appointing four friends as district governors and making an undisclosed offer to the Croat leaders for their support.

Vice Premier Vladimir Macek, Croat peasant party leader, was conferring with his lieutenants in Zagreb over the course to pursue.

The latest version of Macek's price for coöperation said it included placing an additional Croat in the government, creation of a three man council to aid the king, and clarification of the forces behind the government.

The advisory council would be composed of Macek, a Serb leader and a Slovene leader and would pass final word on any vital decision.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 1 [Special].—Marian Phillips Almdale, the former University of Michigian co-ed who created a campus sensation two years ago with her list of "83 reasons why I hate men," is the mother of a seven pound girl. The mother eloped with Almdale on March 24, 1940, after a whirlwind courtship.

REPORT ITALIAN CONSULS IN U. S. PACK THEIR BAGS

[BY THE NEW YORK NEWS.]

New York, April 1.—Italy has ordered its consuls in 61 offices thruout the United States to burn all code books, to destroy all papers of military importance, to get all possible Italian funds out of the country, and to keep their own bags packed in order to fly to South America at a moment's notice, it was reported here today.

The orders were said to have filtered from one consulate to another during recent weeks, being made more definite after the government seizure of Italian ships.

The instructions are interpreted as indicating an early diplomatic break.

Similar action was said to have been taken by Germany a month ago, when the Nazi diplomatic and consular corps was ordered to stand ready for a three days' evacuation notice.

The Italian orders were reported to apply to all Italian newspaper men and government experts.

ITALIAN ATTACK STOPPED; GREEKS TAKE 80 CAPTIVES

ATHENS, Greece, April 1 (AP).—Greek troops defending an Albanian air position captured the day before drove off Italian attackers today and took 80 more prisoners, the high command announced. Dispatches from the front said that in the previous day's action the Greeks took 200 Italians in the central sector and wiped out two Italian companies.

King George received Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain in an audience. Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the British imperial staff, are conferring with Greek leaders here.

Report Attacks Halted.

ROME, April 1 (AP).—Greek attacks on the southern Albanian front, the Italian high command reported today, were halted by Fascist forces.

CROWD IN 'FREE' FRANCE CHEERS SERBS, ROOSEVELT

LYONS, France, April 1 (AP).—Five hundred persons, including many students, demonstrated today before the United States consulate, cheering Jugo-Slavia and President Roosevelt, singing the Marseillaise, and calling for the American flag.

The crowd saluted the flag when consular officials hung it out. Police stood by without interfering.

This was the second such demonstration in unoccupied France. Thousands of men, women, and children at Marseilles last Friday piled flowers before monuments to King Alexander I. who was assassinated in Marseilles in 1934.

Believe Italian Liner Leaves Shanghai to Become Raider

SHANGHAI, April 1 (AP).—An unconfirmed report said that the 18,765 ton Italian liner Conte Verde sailed secretly at dawn today and that it would be armed as a merchant raider. The report said Japanese warships met the Conte Verde at the mouth of the Yangtze. The 7,983 ton German motorship Ramses was reported Sunday to have sailed in the company of two Japanese destroyers.

JUGO-SLAV CRISIS GROWING WORSE, GERMANS CLAIM

Cite New Acts of Violence Against Nationals.

BERLIN, April 1 (AP).—The German-Jugo-Slav political situation gradually is "intensifying," the well informed Dienst aus Deutschland said tonight.

Development of the situation is watched by Germany with growing seriousness, the commentary said, adding that "all signs were pointing toward an increasing aggravation of the situation."

Failure of the Jugo-Slav government to define its foreign political course, progressive mobilization of the Jugo-Slav army, and increasing acts of alleged violence against Germans were listed as facts especially annoying to the German government.

Press Charges "Abuses."

Germany officially pursued a policy of waiting on the developments in Jugo-Slavia, but front page charges in the press of abuses against Germans prepared the public for whatever action the government may plan.

One of the latest atrocity stories—and it was repeated by Dienst aus Deutschland—was an assertion that a Jugo-Slav citizen of German birth had been branded on the face with a fiery swastika.

The return to Berlin of Viktor Von Heeren, the German minister to Jugo-Slavia, was cited as an "indication of the severity of the crisis," altho authorized persons had emphasized that formal diplomatic relations still existed.

Claims Eden in Belgrade.

Dienst aus Deutschland remarked that Jugo-Slavia's membership in the axis pact [this is what the Germans seek] did not square with the mobilization of the Jugo-Slav army and the arrival in Belgrade of Anthony Eden, the British foreign secretary.

[Eden conferred with King George of Greece in Athens last night. London said the German reports were "feelers" to sound out British intentions.]

English Shipping Expert Ill in Hotel in Chicago

Sir David Owen of London was reported to be seriously ill of a heart ailment last night in his suite in the Palmer House. He became ill here Friday while on his way home from the orient. He is under the care of Dr. E. F. Addenbrooke, Palmer House physician. Sir David is 67 years old. Official biographies list him as a shipping and management expert. It is said he has been on a war mission.

COMMONS TURNS DOWN PLEA FOR 'SUNDAY SHOWS'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—The house of commons by a vote of 144 to 136 today rejected the government's plea to permit theatrical performances on Sunday to provide entertainment for troops and workers deprived of week day leisure by the war.

Opposition to the government's plan was led by Thomas Gagnay, Liberal. He charged there was no public demand for the Sunday opening of theaters and that the scheme had been "promoted by financiers." He was supported by moralists and sabbatarians, who banded together for the preservation of the traditional "English Sunday."

Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, stressed that the government merely proposed to allow local authorities, who are in close touch with public opinion in their communities, to decide whether or not to open theaters. As a result of the vote, Sunday shows now are legal only in Scotland, where the custom was in force before the war.

Reveals British Army Can't Recall Citizens from U. S.

LONDON, April 1.—Richard A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told commons today that British subjects resident in the United States tho eligible for military service are not liable under the national service act of 1939. There is no statutory provision enabling the recall of those who were outside of Britain on the date of the proclamation affecting their age group.

Evanston's city election yesterday resulted in a decisive defeat for Mayor Henry D. Penfield, who took over the office four years ago. His opponent, S. G. Ingraham, retiring city treasurer, polled 13,538 votes to 7,293 for Penfield with all 65 precincts reported. The majority was 2 to 1 and the margin was described as the greatest ever given a candidate for mayor of the suburb.

City Clerk Edward W. Bell was unopposed for reëlection and the city treasurer's place went to Thomas F. Airth without a contest.

Evanston aldermen elected were: E. S. Bersbach, Clinton Merrick, John R. Kimbark, Harold W. Mogg, Robert E. James, Bennie G. Rubin, Eddy S. Brandt, Francis L. Harwood, and W. R. Arrington.

Heavy Vote Cast.

Bright sunshine and mild temperatures brought out a heavy vote in 7 Cook county suburbs and 30 townships.

In Oak Park returns indicated a sweeping victory for the Civic Welfare party, which already was in control of village affairs. The Business Men's ticket, barred from the ballot by nominating technicalities, carried on an unsuccessful write-in campaign. Robert F. McMaster was elected village president, defeating Louis Gibson. Harry N. Leadaman was reëlected village clerk.

Other Oak Park victors were: Trustees, Dorothy C. Kerr, Noel M. Maxson, Robert P. Glaesel, Jay F. Hepler, Joseph Triner, and Richard H. Thomas Jr.; library directors, Louise W. Lagrow, Walter F. Cunningham, Fanny M. Eggleston, and Lee J. Talleur; park commissioners, Fred L. Comstock, Albett M. Reed, and Wilbur F. Langille.

Democrats Win in Cicero.

In Cicero the Democratic town ticket was successful. Joseph Danek, for trustee, received 15,000 votes to 10,878 for his Republican opponent, Jerry F. Justin. Other officials elected were Henry J. Sandusky for police magistrate and Anton J. Dvorak and Anton P. Mourek for library directors.

Mayor Anton Janura of Berwyn, a Democrat, was reëlected, with a count of 12,241 to 9,996 over Edward O. Holly, Republican. Other Democrats chosen were Emil Vacin, city clerk, and Charles F. Tourek, city treasurer.

River Forest voted, about 2 to 1, to keep its old administration, headed by Village President John L. Brink. The opposing Taxpayers Economy party was led by Irwin P. Rieger.

Glencoe Slate Unopposed.

Glencoe's slate for village offices was unopposed. The officials: Collector, Edward Mack Jr.; street commissioner, Harry W. Stannard; marshal, Edward Marshall Jr.; constable, William J. Oman, and library directors, Walter Clyde Jones and William S. Preston.

Winnetka elected an unopposed slate chosen by a village caucus. Those chosen were: Trustees, John F. Manierre, Holland F. FlaHavhan, Norbert W. Markus, and Janet W. Mason; marshal, William M. Peterson; library directors, Dorthea C. Irwin, and Charles Yoemans; police justices, Allen M. Klein and Richard C. Fischer.

New Trier township voted, by a majority of about 4 to 1, in favor of the Township ticket, backed by the New Trier Citizens' league, which has been in power for years.

Warner Defeated in Aurora.

Aurora's city election resulted in the overthrow of Harry B. Warner, mayor for the last four years. With 45 of the 50 precincts reporting, Andrew J. Carter, a former division superintendent of the Burlington railroad, was leading for the office. The count was Carter, 8,898; Warner, 5,702. Quintus Frederickson was elected city clerk and Dr. Elmer A. Hermes, a dentist, city treasurer. Aldermen elected were Alan Schoeberlin, Jack Bolinger, Henry Rausch, Albert Rebensdorf, George W. Murphy, Clyde C. Martner, and Michael J. Schwiesthal.

U. S. AND MEXICO SIGN TREATY TO SHARE AIR BASES

Shorter, Safer Route to Panama Obtained.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The United States and Mexico today signed an agreement for reciprocal use of American and Mexican air bases as the first step in implementing last month's mutual defense pact between the two nations.

The agreement was signed by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and Don Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador. It will not become effective until ratified by the senates of both nations.

Text of the treaty was withheld pending its transmission to congress. It was understood, however, that the number and location of the bases was not specified. The language was said to be couched in general terms, with most of the details left for later determination.

Safeguards Panama Canal.

Military experts said the agreement provides additional safeguards for the Panama canal by permitting the shifting of an unlimited number of army and navy aircraft to the Canal Zone over the shortest route from the Rio Grande without a series of diplomatic exchanges beforehand.

The United States is required merely to give the Mexican government notice of any intended flights and the routes to be taken. Now this country must serve formal diplomatic notice of any flights over Mexico and wait for formal acknowledgment from Mexico City thru the state department. Also military flights between the two countries are now limited to two planes a week with no more than five persons in each plane.

American military craft may stop over at any Mexican field for 24 hours for refueling and repairs, the new agreement provides.

It also permits the ferrying of long range bombers between the United States and the canal by a series of short hops instead of the longer and more dangerous water routes via Cuba or Jamaica.

Route to Canal Cut.

The effect of the agreement, experts declared, is to add several squadrons of fighting planes to the canal defenses, since planes based on the continental United States can speed southward over the Mexican route in only a fraction of the time now required to get them into action.

The Mexican government is bound to provide any necessary protection against attacks on its air fields in case of an emergency, it was also revealed.

In return for these guarantees the agreement provides that Mexican planes may use United States air fields under the same conditions.

VENEREAL PERIL TO TROOPS TOLD BY ARMY DOCTOR

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Venereal diseases are described as one of the greatest threats to the efficiency of American armed forces by Dr. Charles R. Reynolds, former surgeon-general of the army, in an article in the Military Surgeon, journal of the Association of Military Surgeons.

Reynolds says the camp followers who always have trailed armies have gone modern. "As the army has become mechanized, the prostitutes have motorized," he adds, "and they often get to camp ahead of the troops. Traveling in trailers, they became receptionists until army medical officers stopped them."

In addition to ordinary army measures for disease control trailers were forbidden within four miles of any army camp during maneuvers last summer. As a result, the venereal disease rate dropped from 70-80 per 1,000 men to four or five.

FLAMING TORCH KILLS 2 ON NEW U. S. DESTROYER

Kearny, N. J., April 1 (AP).—A sudden sheet of flame in the hull of a United States navy destroyer under construction on the ways of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company today burned to death two workmen and severely injured another.

Lieut. Com. John T. Tuthill, public relations officer of the third naval district, said the accident "apparently occurred" when one of the three welders attempting to light an acetylene torch which they were using inside a fuel tank.

There was a sudden flare, evidently of leaking acetylene gas, Commander Tuthill said. This killed Hugh Scullion of Kearny, a heater, and Henry A. Boutot of Elizabeth, a helper, and seriously burned Benjamin Ferneyhough of Jersey City, a chipper.

Company spokesmen said the vessel was not damaged. The destroyer was one of 13 on the ways at the yards, where 12,000 men have been working in three shifts on 350 million dollars in naval orders.

Britain Protests Shooting of Soldier in Nazi Camp

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—War Minister Capt. David Margesson informed the house of commons today that the British government is making a "most emphatic protest to Germany" over the killing of Lieut. Dees of the Durham light infantry in a German prison camp. Dees was reported shot dead by a sentry while standing at a window of the camp. A German order forbids prisoners leaning out windows to prevent their communication with civilians.

When you replace your handset receiver a little on the slant, as shown, the plunger may not go down far enough to disconnect. (The same is true when a book or other object is left under one end of the receiver.) In such cases, your telephone is "busy" at the central office and closed to incoming calls. If you have party-line service, of course this ties up all telephones on your line.

The telephone instrument in your home is an intricate mechanism, made up of 248 separate parts and using thirty-four different materials. Handled with reasonable care, it will give you well-nigh perfect service.... Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

How to make friends—by telephone:

Answer promptly—no one likes to wait (and you may miss the call).

Wait at least a minute when calling others before hanging up.

Be sure you know the right number before you call. If in doubt, look in your directory.

Speak distinctly—in your normal tone of voice, with your lips about half an inch from the mouthpiece.

Hang up gently—think of the other party!

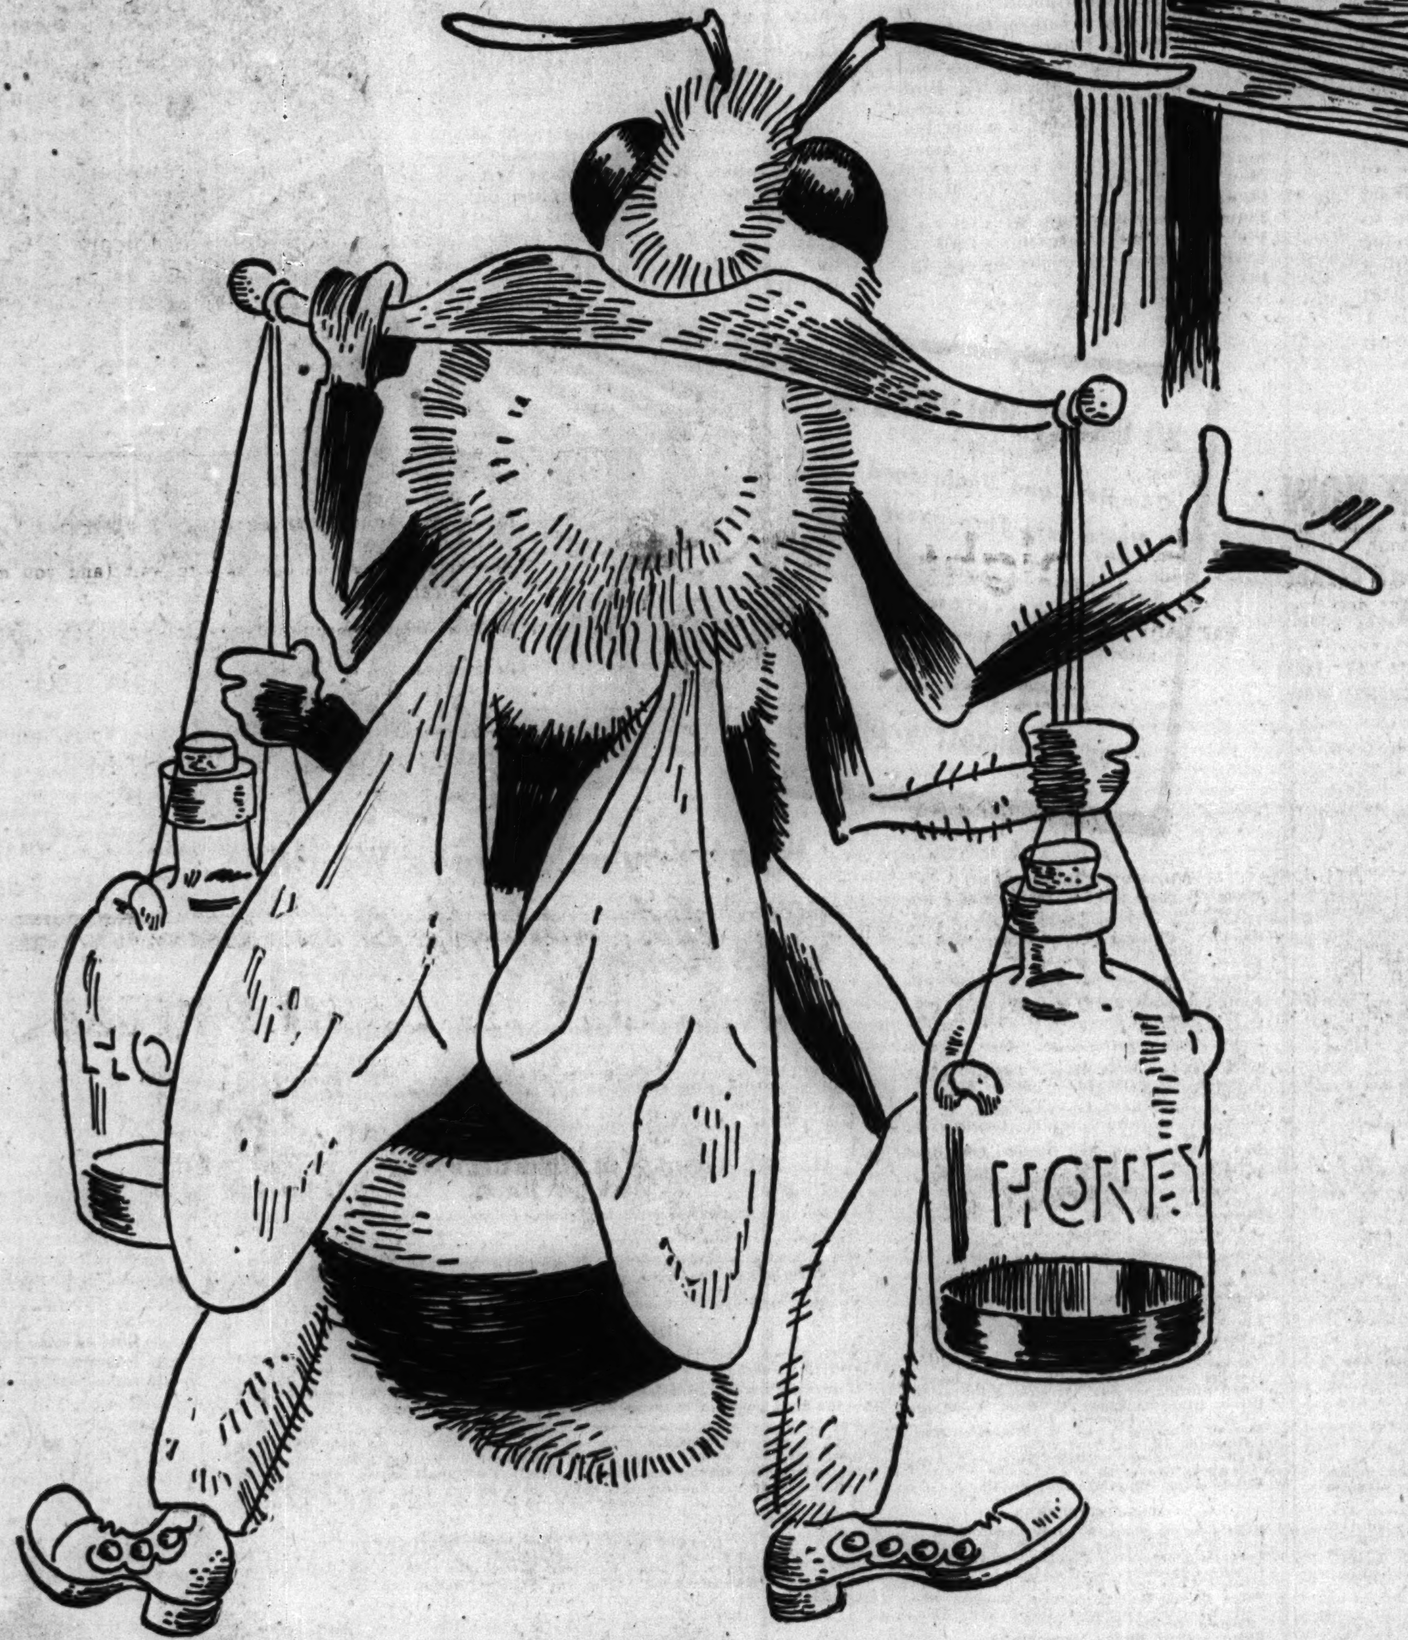
The Fable of Harvey the Stubborn Bee



▶ Once there was a bee named Wrong-Way Harvey—such a stubborn know-it-all he always did everything the opposite way from his brothers and sisters. He wouldn't wash his ears. He wouldn't mind. He wouldn't go to school. "I've stood enough, son," said his father. "You'll have to go to work, so I'll tell you how to find honey." "Don't tell me," said Harvey. "I'll bring back the goods without anybody's help"... And off he flew—South of course, because most of the hive bees were flying North. Harve was that way. At dusk he came back, and when they checked in his honey, they marked him "Bee minus"... "Anyhow," said Harvey, "I wasn't going to be a copy cat and follow in the same silly line where all the big bees went." "Too bad you didn't," buzzed his old man. "They came back with honey."

The only time a bee-line is the shortest distance between two points is when you follow successful bees

106TH CAVALRY RECRUITS RIDE ON STEEDS, CYCLES

Arnica Days Arrive at Camp Livingston.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Livingston, Alexandria, La., April 1.—Three hundred and thirty-four draftees sent to Camp Livingston to reinforce the 106th cavalry regiment are learning to drive the armored cars and ride the horses and motorcycles with which the regiment is equipped. The 106th cavalry, an Illinois National Guard unit, has been in federal training since Jan. 4.

The draftees reached camp three weeks ago from Camp Grant, near Rockford, Ill. Most of them are Illinois men, many from the Chicago area. A few come from Wisconsin. All have been in khaki less than a month.

Upon their arrival, the soldiers were assigned to the four major units of the regiment. Ninety-four of them went to the 1st, or horse mounted squadron. One hundred and twenty-seven went to the 2d, or mechanized, squadron, 65 to the reigment's service troop, and the rest joined the headquarters troop.

Basic Training Under Way.

The new troops have just completed the first phase of a 13 weeks' basic training course, in which they have been taught elementary drill, military courtesy, first aid, hygiene, and care of their equipment.

Now they are in the technical instruction period, riding, firing practice, mechanics, etc. After that will come tactics and simple maneuvers. At the end of the 13 weeks the draftees will join the regular troops on regimental maneuvers.

This week those in the mounted squadron are taking their first long rides thru Louisiana woodlands, accompanied by experienced troopers who act as guides, and a medical detachment with plenty of arnica to treat frequent bruises.

The recruits in the 2d squadron and headquarters troops are learning to ride motorcycles and drive heavy, armored scout cars. Members of the service troops are learning to handle the big supply trucks the regiment uses when in the field.

Next week all draftees will be on the firing ranges several hours daily, learning to fire machine guns. Three weeks from now the new soldiers will be introduced to the Thompson submachine guns, used by the motorcyclists and scout car crew.

The draftees later learn the art of camouflage and concealment on overnight bivouacs, far from the camp area. Then will come simple sham battles, and later still they will join in regimental maneuvers.

The draftees sleep in tents, with wooden frames and wooden floors. In each tent is a heater which burns natural gas piped thru the camp. Mess and recreation halls are wooden buildings.

For amusement the soldiers may visit the post exchange or attend the camp theater. The most popular pastime, however, is visiting the city of Alexandria, 12 miles south of the camp.

CAMP SOLDIERS NEED BOOKS AND PARLOR GAMES

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 1 (AP).—Donations of recreational equipment by folks back home are helping the soldiers here to enjoy their leisure hours, but a camp-wide survey today disclosed there still aren't enough facilities to entertain nearly all the troops.

Gifts received include pool tables, radios, lounge furniture for day rooms, newspapers, magazine subscriptions, and table tennis tables.

Miss Martha Lagrone of Memphis has assumed the job of librarian. She is coöperating with civic groups in the collection of books. Committees have been organized in Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, and Memphis to obtain donations.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, camp commander, said efforts are being made to obtain books in Chicago, "most of them on technical subjects."

"Since certain standards of excellence are required of army camp libraries, just any book will not be acceptable," General Lawton declared. Examples of the type of books desired include standard, up-to-date encyclopedias; books on philosophy, religion, current social problems, science, health, hobbies, games, entertainment, planning, painting, drawing, music, poetry, drama, essays, history, novels, travel books, biographies, short stories.

Save Our Republic

EAST AND WEST.

During the war of 1812 the New England states threatened to secede. A generation later the abolitionists of New England were demanding the break-up of the Union to free themselves from association with slavery. They called the constitution a covenant with hell. South Carolina voted for secession in Jackson's day and later led the attempt of the southern states to break up the Union. During the civil war which resulted mobs in New York rioted against the national authority.

There is little or nothing in the history of the middle west to place alongside the record of rebellion and disloyalty in New England, the middle states, and the south. We have had plenty of lawlessness, plenty of mob action. We have seen pitched battles in industrial conflicts, and not 10 years ago the farmers of Iowa were seeking to terrorize their courts, but at no time in this great central area of the country has there been a popular movement directed against the nation.

American nationalism and American patriotism are bred into the western people. The men and women who crossed the Alleghanies and pushed westward were, or became, thoroly nationalized. They entered a territory that never had been a settled colony of any European nation. They were consciously American. They forced their way west as Americans, pushing the Indians, the French, the English, the Spanish, and the Mexicans out of the promised land. Distinguished foreigners visiting the west in the '30s and '40s of the last century were either amused or irritated by the strident nationalism which all of them found. Today this spirit is less shrill in its manifestations but no less a characteristic of the western mind and heart.

Circumstances have been different in the older sections of the country. Along the seaboard the colonial attitude persisted, particularly among persons of wealth and position. Immigration tended to dilute American nationalism in the east. For one thing, a disproportionately large number of immigrants settled in the eastern cities. For another they tended to remain in more or less isolated national groups. It is true that many millions of immigrants settled in the west, but in the main they spread out more widely to the farms and smaller communities, and even in the great cities have been much more quickly absorbed into the general population.

In consequence, the west has never felt closely tied to Europe. The west is American. It doesn't hanker for a rôle in the settlement of European quarrels. Its people think of America first and repudiate the suggestion that they have a primary duty to Europe. In contrast, the east is colonial and easily swayed by foreign influences and foreign aristocracies.

OVERHANGING SIGNS.

The appearance of the streets in the loop is certainly not improved by the signs which overhang the sidewalks. Some sections of the downtown district, which might otherwise have a fairly dignified aspect, have been made to look like slums by the miscellaneous assortment of signs. The fire department resents them as an avoidable hazard. In some blocks they are so numerous that they defeat their own purpose. Instead of inviting the customer they confuse him.

Nothing would be lost and much would be gained if the erection of these generally unsightly and somewhat dangerous objects were forbidden. When one merchant hangs a sign over the sidewalk he has an advantage which others feel obliged to demand. The way to end the abuse is to forbid overhanging signs and admit no exceptions. In districts where this has been done by agreement of the property owners the benefits are apparent.

MUSCOVITE PARALLELS.

The news from Moscow is that the government newspaper Izvestia has published an article offering Ivan the Terrible to the soviets as a good bolshevik hero. The author says that he discovered Ivan's real character after he did some research work to solve the puzzle of how Russia could have grown stronger under Ivan if he were a "semilunatic beast," as sometimes described.

Presumably the new interpretation of Ivan's basic virtue has the blessing of Josef Stalin, since nothing exists in the U. S. S. R. that hasn't. Stalin may even have chanced to notice some parallels between himself and Ivan.

Of Ivan it is written: "He coveted Livonia, which was near at hand. During the next 10 years terrible and horrible things happened in Muscovy. The czar imagined that every man's hand was against him. A delator of infamous character accused the authorities of Great Novgorod of conspiracy. Ivan, without even confronting the Novgorodians with their accuser, proceeded to punish them. His face had a sinister, troubled expression, but an enigmatical smile played perpetually around his lips."

By a slight transference of terms this could apply to the present master of the Kremlin. He has done some coveting of his own—Poland, Finland, the Baltic states, and part of Rumania. Terrible and horrible things happened in Muscovy during his reign. Three million kulaks were starved to death in an artificially induced famine when he met resistance in collectivizing the farms. He imagined every man's hand was against him. Vast numbers of bolshevik leaders were purged to ease his mind. He listened to delators of infamous character, as well as to his own suspicions, in ordering his old comrades shot. They went to trial without facing their accuser, for the real accuser was Stalin. His face wears an enigmatical smile as he looks westward upon the great civilized nations of Europe lying in ruins or locked in ruinous struggle.

MANEUVER IN MANGANESE.

Steel is the prime war stuff and has been for at least 700 years. A nation which makes war or prepares to defend itself must have steel on hand and facilities for obtaining a constant supply.

To make steel there is required something besides coal and ore. Not a pound of steel can be made without manganese. About 14 pounds of this purifying element is needed to turn out each ton of steel. In addition, for its hardening properties it is needed as an alloy.

What is most remarkable is that tho we are head and shoulders above all other countries in steel production, we are normally dependent upon other countries for nearly all the manganese we use. Equally remarkable is the fact that Germany and Great Britain also have to import virtually all of their manganese.

Lack of an adequate supply of this metal resulted in a crisis in the United States during the world war. Before 1914 our supplies came from England, where the ores had been brought largely from India. The shipping situation made the source doubtful during the war. Relief was sought by stimulating production in Brazil and the exploitation of low grade ores in the United States. The sinking of the government ship Cyclops with a heavy cargo of Brazilian ore in May, 1918, was most discouraging. At one time Brazil ran out of coal with the result that the railroad which carried ore to the seaboard was forced to suspend operations, and ships badly needed for the trans-Atlantic route had to be sent to Rio with the necessary fuel. Some relief was obtained when 12,000 tons were brought over from England. However, the supply was never comfortably adequate, and the price which had been $37.50 a ton in 1914 rose to $400 and was finally stabilized in the latter part of 1917 at $250 per ton, or seven times the prewar quotation.

The greatest source of manganese is Russia. Frequently it has produced as much as 60 per cent of the world output. Other important producers are the African gold coast, Union of South Africa, India, Brazil, and Cuba. The British in control of the sea have been able to get their supply of manganese without interruption from India and South Africa. The United States with steel production at capacity has a two year supply on hand and ample supplies are being received from usual sources, except that receipts from Russia have been small compared with some of the years just preceding the outbreak of the present war.

Russian manganese has been coming here in reduced quantity because of a big customer closer at hand and an understanding with that customer. It seems probable that Germany sought the deal with Russia in 1939 not because of fear of anything the bolsheviks might be able to do in a military way, but to be certain of an ample supply of manganese. It was reported at the time of that agreement that Russia had undertaken to supply Germany with 500,000 tons of this metal each year. Unless Hitler had a whopping pile of manganese he would not have been able to go to war unless he had obtained this assurance of a continuous access to Russian supples of this strategic raw material.

Recently it has been reported that relations between United States and Russia have improved. At the request of the state department a Russian spy was released from a California prison. The government has approved the shipment of high test gasoline to the soviets. Altho the defense commission has found there is a shortage of machine tools in the United States, authorization was recently given to ship machine tools to Russia. When a train was recently wrecked in Pennsylvania it was disclosed that a number of Russian engineers invited to study American industrial methods had been aboard a train which had passed the spot a few minutes before.

What can we be getting from Russia in return for these favors? What seems likely is that we are joining in the economic war on Germany. The more manganese we can induce Russia to sell us the less there will be for Germany. For such a maneuver the government and not the steel companies would be acquiring the metal. It so happens that one of the subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance corporation has funds for that very purpose.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

A Dun & Bradstreet survey shows that real estate tax collections in 150 cities during 1940 approached the best records of the boom years. The average year-end delinquency on current levies in these 150 cities was 8.7 per cent. In Cook county it was 12.19 per cent. Delinquency in the county exceeded the national average by 40 per cent.

Collections of current and back taxes in all cities amounted to slightly more than the current levy, the average city showing collections of 100.7 per cent of the year's levy, while 11 collected in excess of 105 per cent. In Cook county, however, the combined collections fell short of the current levy by 8 per cent.

The year-end accumulation of all delinquent taxes in 130 cities was 33.6 per cent of the year's levies, but in Cook county it was 92.5 per cent. The county will soon have reached the point where taxes owing to it exceed a full year's income.

The smaller cities of California, Connecticut, New York, and Iowa had the best collection records in the country, but San Francisco's achievement of collecting 98.8 per cent of its 1940 levy suggests that taxes can be collected in a big city if a conscientious effort is made to do so.

Editorial of the Day

THE COST OF DEFENSE.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Present predictions are that Uncle Sam will "go in the hole" $18,000,000,000 in 1941. Revenue for the year will be about $8,000,000,000. Expenditures will be about $26,000,000,000.

One way to meet this deficit is to borrow the money. The other way is to increase revenue from taxation. The experts are giving attention to this second way now. A 5 per cent pay roll tax has been suggested. Sharp increases in rates for the middle brackets of the income tax are practically inevitable. A gross income tax on manufacturers is being proposed.

It may be doubted that what is finally worked out, no matter what the combination, will meet the whole deficit. To do that would take $1 a day from every employed person in the country.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

TO GET AWAY FROM IT.

To get away from it all, one might drop into the Newberry library and glance over the current exhibition of books and objets d'art related to the King Arthur legends. It will take you back to the middle and dark ages, when the mind of man invented beautiful stories instead of airplanes and submarines.

* * *

The Newberry's collection of Arthuriana is the best in the country, with the Morgan library in New York a close second. The British museum holds international honors in this field, but it envies a number of the Newberry's items.

* * *

Chicago has three eminent Arthurian scholars who have spent many years on the dim and fascinating trail of Celtic romance. They are William A. Nitze and Tom Peete Cross of the University of Chicago and A. C. L. Brown of Northwestern. They are our Knights of the Holy Grail.

* * *

The exhibition also contains 40 photographs of English scenes of Arthurian association. The historical evidence of his existence is slight, but there are many places in England where his spirit seems to linger, and its influence should be potent now, for he symbolized a heroic last stand of Britain's ancient civilization against barbarous invaders from the Teutonic shores of the North sea.

* * *

England has never had a King Arthur II., but another Arthur was the commanding figure in the final defeat of its greatest enemy before Hitler. He was Arthur Wellesley, the duke of Wellington.

THE AMERICAN BARD.

(Walt Whitman, 1819-'92.)

Beneath the patchwork of ill-fitting robes,
Ungraced by needled tapestry of art,
What lineaments are these, what nascent throbs
Of freedom and a new world's beating heart!
The person of the multitude full length,
Poetic, posterlike, uncouth and bold;
A stature partly seen, of startling strength,
Steps forth beside the culture of the old.
He wears no glove upon his weathered hand,
No lace to hide the hair upon his chest;
A giant native to a crescive land,
Brave in the justness of his own request;
A herald of the man who is to come,
Breaking tradition with a stirring drum!

E. W. F.

A Flashback, 1918.

Hard-bitten doughboy, he sat there playing "Hinky Dinky, Parley-vous" on a harmonica he had carried halfway around the world. He might have been in barracks at Fort Sheridan or taking life easy near Honolulu were it not for a thunder of guns up ahead and soldiers with full packs hurrying along the road to Soissons. There was grim business yonder. Stretcher-bearers on the way back said so. Even the Old Man seemed more tense than usual.

But Corporal Shannon could make a mouth organ talk, and besides, reg'lars knew how to stack important matters alongside trivialities.

O, yes, he had taken things seriously once. As a recruit in 'Frisco. But when the blonde ran off with a sailor he learned philosophy, so to speak.

Take this here war, now. Just like a blonde. Sure to run out in time. They always did.

"This company will move out. Yeah, an' I mean now!"

Corporal Shannon picked up his rifle to get some fighting done.

He did plenty of it, too, out there in No Man's Land.

But they don't hear him playing his harmonica any more. . . . Tavern Rogue.

For Pullman Car Collectors.

The Pullman car Cadwallader C. Washburn [see verses by Casual, March 28] was named after the founder of the Washburn flour mills in Minneapolis. He was a congressman and a brigadier general in the civil war. The car was named in May, 1936, at the request of the late Fred Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western Railway company. George A. Kelly.

THINGS OF BEAUTY.

I will gather the clouds in my arms;
I will cry,
"Beautiful clouds!
The gift of the sky."

I will cherish the sun in my eyes;
I will say:
"Beautiful light!
The gift of the day."

I will snatch your love to my heart;
I will weep,
"Beautiful love!
That I may not keep."

Indian Ponies on the Boul Mich.

Since Jugo-Slavia is in the historical spotlight, Chicagoans should gaze with added interest at the heroic bronze figures of mounted Indians on Michigan avenue at Congress street. They are the work of the celebrated Croatian sculptor, Ivan Mestrovic.

If you think it strange that a Jugo-Slavian should be dealing with Indians, make note of the fact that a Jugo-Slavian missionary, Frederick Baraga, who came here in 1830, published a grammar and dictionary of the Ojibway language. He also translated the Bible into Ojibway [1838] under the title, "Gagikwemasinaigan."

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

NEURASTHENIA, OR NERVE EXHAUSTION.

ALTHO physicians are confronted frequently with knotty and puzzling ailments, thanks to modern methods of investigation, most of them can be solved. Among their more stubborn problems may be included neurasthenia, a classification which has been termed the "catchall" or "wastebasket" of medicine.

A man or woman comes to the doctor's office, presenting clearcut symptoms of an organic disturbance. Careful tests, including X-ray examinations and blood analyses, reveal no positive evidence of disease. All too often he dubs the case "neurasthenia." The pity of it all is that no suggestion for relief is offered.

Some of our medical men fail to realize that many of our vital organs respond with great readiness to the state of the nervous system. Thus it is that the heart, thyroid, pelvic organs, stomach, colon, and the mucous lining within the air passages—one or all may be subjected to treatment because of persistent complaints. On many occasions, surgery appears to be the line of least resistance. We may as well admit that operations are popular with some individuals. But improvement may not be forthcoming. After a time, the victim is transformed into a chronic invalid.

One of my medical colleagues relates the difficulty which he encountered with one of these patients, in his earnest desire to identify the origin of her symptoms. Despite a most critical study made during a 10 day stay in the hospital—every structure seemed to be functioning at par. Nevertheless, the woman was ill. My friend was wise enough to look behind the scenes—into her family life. Finally, the patient herself blurted out the story. A dominant mother-in-law was ruling the household with a rod of iron—including the wife, the husband, and the children. Fixing authority where it belonged saved the day and recovery followed promptly.

Many experts feel that the diagnosis under discussion is never justified—that instead "neurosis" or "psychosis" should be employed. The word "neurasthenia" means "weak nerves" and it is just as sensible to apply it whether the cause is a vitamin deficiency or a complete upset of poise. One can go bankrupt physically because of excessive drains on his nervous energy, exactly as his bank balance may be affected by heavy withdrawals.

One thing I should like to make clear—namely, that no disgrace attaches to the malady. The afflicted person is not unbalanced mentally. The manifestations are real, not imaginary. But instead of arising from the tissues of an organ, they come from the autonomic [sympathetic] nervous system.

Unfortunately, there are a few who wish to be sick—who crave the attention and petting which falls to their lot. After a while, there may be enough loss of strength because of prolonged bed rest to demand expert management if convalescence is to come. No one of these patients can be ordered abruptly to get up and go about his duties. With encouragement, however, and enough assurance that all is well, some gains may be made each day until the sufferer is persuaded that he is able to take his place in the affairs of the community.

But we must not assume that extreme fatigue is always imaginary. It may arise from a loss of nerve power, from an inadequate diet, from toxins circulating in the blood, or a score of other factors. Let us make certain that we are not dealing with a type of disorder that can be helped by food or drugs before we label the individual a victim of his own unhappiness.

The understanding physician must be keen enough to recognize the absence of actual disease when the entire picture is dominated by a conflict which plays ducks and drakes with the sensibilities.

ALBUMIN.

M. J. D. writes: Does albumin in small quantities denote nephritis?

REPLY.

As a rule, yes. However, other tests should be performed and the urine checked at intervals before a diagnosis of inflammation of the kidneys [acute or chronic] can be made.

PECULIAR IMPULSE.

E. T. writes: What is a compulsion neurosis?

REPLY.

A borderline disorder of the mind [not true insanity]. The individual feels impelled to perform some abnormal act.

THE ROAR OF THE LAMB

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

"NATIONAL UNITY."

Evanston, Ill., March 31.—What is this thing called "national unity," so dear to the interventionists? According to the President's Jackson day address "The enemies of democracy are now trying by every means to destroy our national unity. . . . Propagandists, defeatists and dupes . . . are preaching the ungodly gospel of fear. . . . They have attempted to exploit the natural love of our people for peace." These are just a few of the statements in this address which tend to nullify the supposedly earnest intent of the interventionist group to produce "national unity." In other words, any one who does not think and act with the administration is either a "propagandist," a "defeatist" or a "dupe." The use of the fear motivation here is self-evident, and it is doubtful whether Hitler himself could handle it with greater subtlety.

If this so-called "national unity" is to be achieved by sarcasm and threat it is indeed spurious. Hitler undoubtedly provides national unity, but such a unity is to be feared and despised. It is regrettable that the President could not have carried the spirit of the first part of his address, which warmly praised our two party system, into the last part, and that he could not have acknowledged the advantage to a democracy of a "loyal opposition" even during the present critical times. E. W. SKINNER.

"R" AS IN A BEAR'S GROWL.

Detroit, Mich., March 25.—Your editorial of March 22 on the useless appendant, "gh" on words in which the preceding vowel sound forms the vocal ending was interesting and thought provoking.

They tell us, those chained to the past with frozen habits, that because it has been the accepted custom, we must spell and write a word one way, and sound it entirely differently. It is no surprise then to find the school child confused, bewildered in fact, by the lack of ordinary common sense in teaching the practical use of language.

Language should have no unnecessary parts, any more than a perfected machine. The written word symbols should be simplified so that writing them would not be so difficult.

It is well to remember that primitive man uttered growls, barks, moos, roars, grunts, and snarls like the animals. We have some of those harsh sounds with us yet. Prof. Sweet, the great fonetician, said, "I feel reasonably sure in saying that the 'r' sound in our language is left over from our primitive bear growl." Prof. Jesperson agrees with that conclusion.

In the mutation of language man added some vowel sounds to the harsh consonants, thereby laying the foundation for the voice becoming a musical instrument.

The human voice is the noblest, the most spiritual, and the most exalted of all musical instruments, yet the most neglected. Wasn't it Gladstone who said, "All humans should have voice training?" The voice takes part in 90 per cent of our daily activities and expresses much of our true character and personality. BRIAN BROWN.

SPANISH, CASTILIAN, AND AMERICAN.

Chicago, March 28.—The statement of Pearl L. Pilawski in THE TRIBUNE of March 25 that "the Spanish which is being taught in the public schools is Castilian and is useless—or very awkward when one tries to carry on a conversation with a Mexican or a South American," is unwarranted, and liable to confuse and discourage students of Spanish in this country who may read it. I took a stiff one year course in Spanish. Going to Cuba a year and a half after finishing the course, I discovered that I could make myself understood by the Cubans, and with a little patience and ingenuity, I could from the very first understand what they said to me in their machine gun rendition of their language. I have known of several people who had a similar experience. I am quite sure that my Spanish did no more violence to Cuban tympana than the English of Europeans does to ours. The difference between Castilian and the varieties of Spanish spoken in Cuba, Mexico, and South America is no greater than the difference between the English spoken in downstate Illinois and that spoken in central Virginia. Students of Spanish in our public schools who hope some day to speak the language may rest assured that their school work is putting them a long step forward in their aim. SAMUEL L. ROBERTSON.

LOST A BATTLE, BUT NOT THE WAR.

Alliance, O., March 27.—We lost a battle on the lend-lease bill, but we won't lose the war to keep American soldier boys in America if we fight and keep on our toes.

Keep up your fight to the last ditch to prohibit an AEF being sent overseas for shark food and massacre on foreign battlefields. It is an indisputable fact that if the American electorate today had a chance for a referendum on engaging in foreign war, a thumping majority would be registered against it. Don't desert the boys in camp. Let us keep public opinion aroused and vocal.

Willkie and Roosevelt both solemnly promised to send no troops abroad, promised this to the fathers and mothers of America before election. Let us hold them to it.

We can have national unity for defense—for a foreign war, never.

PROCEEDS FROM ESTATE.

Chicago, March 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother's will and estate has just been settled in Probate court. Knowing the price that the home was sold for and the amount of money that was in the bank and amount of rent that was collected from the hom, allowing for taxes, coal, and regular bills due pertaining to the building, I do not believe I collected my just amount.

I would like to know if there is any way of me seeing a final accounting on this estate as the executrix refused to let me see it. H. R.

In general the executrix reports to the court instead of the beneficiaries. Presumably she filed a final account before settling and you had an opportunity to object to this account. You can examine the account in the office of the Clerk of the Court.

SALE OF ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, March 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died in 1928. There were six heirs.

1. Two heirs have died since, leaving families. The property my mother left was sold for taxes and I redeemed it and have paid the taxes ever since.

Now I have a chance to sell and want to know [2] if I would have to have all the heirs sign to give me a clear deed to the property. A. C.

2. If some of the present heirs are minors, you could not sell without court proceedings. We advise you to have an interview with an attorney.

ALIEN BEEF WINS AS SENATE VOTES 4 BILLIONS ARMS

Vandenberg Hits Easy Spending of Big Sums.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—In an attitude of "almost hopeless abandon," as Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] described it, the senate this afternoon passed a 4 billion 389 million dollar supplemental armaments bill and sent it to conference with the house of representatives.

The senate also approved and sent to the White House a conference agreement on the 1 billion 415 million dollar independent offices appropriation bill. It was ready to pass a bill appropriating 1 billion 340 million dollars for the department of agriculture, but was forced by the parliamentary situation to wait until tomorrow. Senator George W. Norris, the Nebraska radical, objected to a technical amendment affecting the rural electrification administration and forced a recess by threatening to demand a quorum.

The huge supplemental armaments bill was approved without a record vote and without debate except on its sole controversial provision. This was a house amendment prohibiting use of the funds to purchase canned beef, wool, and other articles of food and clothing for the army and navy from foreign countries.

Yield to Administration.

Having approved the house amendment containing this prohibition yesterday, the senate today adopted a compromise amendment offered by Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] and accepted by the administration leadership. It permits the war and navy departments to purchase articles of food and clothing from foreign countries provided such articles of satisfactory quality cannot be purchased in the United States, or the price is too high or they cannot be obtained in sufficient quantity.

Administration leaders expressed confidence that the compromise amendment will permit the purchase of 20,000,000 pounds of South American canned corn beef for the army and navy as proposed by the Office of Production Management. Whether it would enable the administration to purchase Argentine and Australian wool for the army and navy, in pursuance of its Santa Claus foreign policy, was not made clear by the senate debate.

Senator Adams said his amendment would have substantially the same effect as the "buy American" act of March 3, 1933, which requires the purchase of American articles and materials for public use except when the cost is unreasonable or it would be inconsistent with the public interest.

How Much Is a Billion?

Senator Vandenberg reminded the senate that the 4 billion, 389 million dollar deficiency bill is part of the administration's 40 billion dollar armaments program.

"Sometimes it is asked, 'how much is a billion dollars?'" he said. "In the hope that the average American citizen may be brought to some comprehension, some conception, of the utterly staggering fiscal burden which his government is putting on him at breakneck speed. I want to make a brief reference to a comparison between the assessed valuation of the states of the Union and the appropriation bills which the senate is passing with an almost hopeless abandon.

"This afternoon we passed a bill with about 4 billion dollars of direct appropriations and authorizations in it. Four billion dollars is more than the assessed valuation of all except 10 states in the Union. That is what we appropriated this afternoon—more than the assessed valuation of 38 states of the Union individually.

"When we passed the 7 billion dollar British aid appropriation it was more than the assessed valuation of any state in the Union except New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and California—all except four states."

The 4 billion dollar bill includes 1 billion dollars for the procurement of 2,400 medium and 1,200 heavy bombers for the army and 343 million dollars for 1,425 planes to complete the army's current 18,000 airplane program.

It includes 1 billion, 315 million dollars to complete the procurement of enough equipment for an army of 2,000,000 men and 868 million dollars for new productive facilities sufficient to supply a second force of 2,000,000 men in case of war.

Triplets Celebrate Birthday Today

Celebrate Early

It was a day early, but the three blonde, blue-eyed girls, triplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Kubovy of 1508 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, sang "Happy Birthday" to each other all day yesterday. They will be 4 years old today.

In store for them are three identical doll buggies, three tow-headed dolls that resemble their owners and a cake big enough for three combined birthdays. "We have to give them the same gifts because they are ardent little advocates of the 'share and share alike' theory," Mrs. Kubovy explained yesterday. "They even wonder why their 6 year old sister, Carol, doesn't get in on their birthday."

In the last year the triplets have grown 6 inches each and now are 3½ feet tall. They all weigh 33 pounds.

POLITICS? NO, SIR! JIM FARLEY'S OUT ON THE SIDELINES

James A. Farley, with a new coat of tan and his usual genial smile, was in Chicago yesterday. The former postmaster general and former head of the Democratic national committee said his visit was purely business—the soft drink business. Politics?

"No, sir!" he answered. "All I know is what I read in the papers. I'm sitting on the sidelines now—and what a swell place it is to be!"

Farley retired from politics prior to the last election and did not indorse President Roosevelt's third term candidacy. He registered at the Blackstone hotel and will leave today.

POLICE SLAYER STARTS 199 YEAR TERM IN PRISON

Jerry Mangano, 25 years old, left the county jail yesterday for Joliet penitentiary to begin serving a 199 year sentence for the murder of Park Policeman Harry Francois during a holdup in 1939 in Humboldt park. Mangano must serve 66 years and 8 months before he is eligible for parole. He was sentenced to death at his first trial, but the sentence was reversed by the Illinois Supreme court and the jury in the second trial declined to inflict the death penalty.

TRACTION PLAN IS ON ROCKS; NEW IDEA ADVANCED

Study Separate Deal for Surface Lines.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The recent impasse between the city council and Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe in Chicago's traction dispute may mark the end of the 14 year effort to work out a unified transit franchise, it was learned last night.

Under an alternative plan now being seriously considered in traction circles, the federal court would be asked to authorize a separate court reorganization of the surface lines without a new franchise from the city. The reorganization plan would require the surface lines to send their nearly 30 million dollars in cash for new equipment and to operate also the elevated lines and subway under a lease agreement. An equipment trust loan for modern subway-elevated cars would be sought from the federal government.

Hearing Set for Today.

This development came to light on the eve of today's traction hearing in the federal court, at which William H. Sexton, special traction counsel for the city, has been instructed to tell Judge Igoe that the city will not participate in any franchise negotiations in the court.

Sexton's prospective statement, authorized Monday by the council transportation committee, will be in reply to Judge Igoe's action last Friday. Judge Igoe put an end to further franchise parleys between the city and the surface lines' new management board and indicated court hearings would be held on basic legal questions in dispute. The judge said a previous transit board had held futile franchise conferences with the city for a year and a half.

The transportation committee, however, directed Sexton to inform the court that the city is willing to continue traction negotiations only in the city hall.

Franchises Granted in 1907.

The legal basis for the proposed reorganization of the surface lines without a new franchise has its roots in the old 1907 franchises to the lines. Altho the city contends these permits have expired, the companies' attorneys argue the permits will remain in force until terminated by city purchase or a new franchise. Under this theory, the lines could not be "thrown off the streets" even if unprotected by the present court receivership. The federal court has held the lines do have rights under the 1907 permits, but has not defined the rights.

Proponents of the plan argue that surface lines' securities holders have already agreed on a reorganization setup [in 1936]. They also contend that a lease of the elevated and subway lines would give car riders unified service, without requiring a unified franchise or financial merger with the "L."

The new plan is still regarded only as an alternative, on the theory that franchise negotiations with the city have reached a breaking point many times before and been patched up, and the same may happen again.

SMOKE HATERS HAND COUNCIL AN ISSUE THAT IS PIPING HOT

Smokers can cram this into their pipe and smoke it: Some people don't like smoke—other people's smoke, anyway. The smoke haters have asked the city council to set aside tables, sections of rooms, or whole rooms for nonsmokers in Chicago restaurants.

Dr. W. D. McNally.

The objectors have formed a club, the Chicago Equity league, and obtained 8,000 signatures on petitions asking the council to act. Dr. William D. McNally, former coroner's chemist, is president. He explained that the league isn't trying to prevent smokers from smoking. Dr. McNally doesn't smoke, but some of the members do.

Their objection is against having to breathe other smokers' smoke while they're eating. The members say that smokers should be taught some manners. Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], head of the council health committee, discussed the matter with the committee yesterday. It was referred to a subcommittee.

ILLINOIS SENDS MORE DRAFTEES TO CAMP CROFT

Spartanburg, S. C., April 1 [Special].—A second group of draftees from Illinois and Wisconsin arrived here tonight from Fort Sheridan, Ill., to begin a year's military training in Camp Croft, infantry replacement center. Upon arrival in the cantonment area the men were fed and assigned to the 35th training battalion.

Two groups of men from Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., are expected to arrive here Friday and Saturday. The Friday contingent will contain 470 and 375 will arrive Saturday. Both groups will be assigned to the 36th training battalion.

The 36th battalion already has 250 draftees who arrived last Sunday from Fort Sheridan. This battalion, to have a total strength of 900, probably will be made up entirely of men from Illinois.

RAILROAD BALKS AT REMOVING ITS AIRPORT TRACKS

Refuses to Act Till City Pays $10,627 Claim.

The Chicago and Western Indiana railroad refused flatly yesterday to act on the order of Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to move to new tracks built for it by the city and to tear up its old tracks, bisecting Chicago airport and blocking use of enlarged facilities.

J. R. Barse.

Hewitt notified the road that, in accordance with the ordinance governing the tracks, new tracks had been laid north of the airport, that the interlocking plant to operate switches on the new tracks has been completed, and that the road can now operate over its new line.

Ordered to Tear Up Old Tracks.

Hewitt's order directed the road to tear up the old tracks and haul them to Lake Calumet. The city has salvage rights over the tracks and proposes to use them to install a spur at the north end of the lake, which is now being used as a city dump.

The road, thru J. R. Barse, vice president and general counsel, informed the city Monday that it will not transfer operations to the new line until the city pays it $10,627 which it claims is due for what are termed mortgage releases on the land it has surrendered.

Joseph Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, responded that the railroad is obligated to pay these costs under terms of the ordinance.

Mayor Calls Point Picayunish.

Mayor Kelly, at a press conference, commented:

"It is time for drastic action if the railroad is going to delay a civic development over a picayunish argument. It appears to me as if they are charging fees for work their own lawyers are going to do. These charges are imaginary."

Barse, reached by telephone, was asked by a reporter if the city had interpreted him correctly in reaching the conclusion that the tracks would not be removed until the $10,627 was paid.

"Those two items are unrelated," he said.

Stand on Payment Recalled.

"You mentioned in your letter that the payment is one action that has to be taken to complete the ordinance," the reporter said.

"Yes," Barse said.

"And removal of the tracks will complete the ordinance, won't it?" the reporter inquired.

"Yes," said Barse.

"Then, isn't it correct that before you can do one, you have to complete the other?"

"Now you're trying to argue with me," said Barse.

Holds Layman Isn't Concerned.

"No, Mr. Barse," the reporter answered. "This is a legal question in legal terms, and I am trying to put it in layman's language so that the layman can understand it."

"The layman has no business trying to understand this situation," Barse responded. "If the layman would keep out of it, we would get along better."

"The only point is that a number of laymen ride airplanes and want to land in an enlarged airport," the reporter explained.

"I am not in the least bit concerned about airplanes," said Barse.

When city officials heard the gist of the reporter's conversation with Barse they declared it proved the truth of the mayor's assertion that "the charges are imaginary."

COURTNEY ASKS TRIAL OF POLICE CAPTAIN COLLINS

Crime Board Head Moves for Gambling Probe.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

State's Attorney Courtney and officials of the Chicago Crime commission last night took cognizance of Police Commissioner Allman's statement that the Des Plaines street police district is overrun with gambling and vice. As a result a series of investigations is expected which may put Chicago's racket situation before the April grand jury.

State's Attorney Courtney said Commissioner Allman should take immediate steps to bring Police Captain William F. Collins of the Des Plaines street command before the civil service trial board. Collins was suspended Monday by Allman, who said he was undecided about any further disciplinary action.

Make Plea to Mayor.

Bertram J. Cahn, president of the crime commission, which acts for the Association of Commerce, said commission leaders called on Mayor Kelly last Wednesday and urged a renewed campaign against the gambling syndicate. Cahn said they had named specifically Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and Danny [Public Enemy] Stanton, chief gangsters and overlords of the gambling syndicate. Allman mentioned Nitti and Stanton yesterday as responsible for the invasion of the west side police precinct.

Allman's statements to newspaper men that he had reports on the recent migration of the gambling bosses from the loop to the west side was considered proof that he had concrete evidence which could be produced before any investigating body. If presented to the trial board it would be public; if before a grand jury it would be secret unless used in a subsequent trial.

President Cahn of the anticrime board said he had watched the revelations of wide open gambling as brought out in the recent trial of William R. Skidmore in the federal court. Skidmore was labeled as the main fixer and dispenser of protection to gamblers in statements to the jury by United States Attorney Albert R. Woll.

Awaits Outcome of Probe.

Cahn said he had the assurances of Courtney that the Skidmore evidence would be thoroly studied with a view of bringing prosecutions for violations of state laws, and "awaits with interest the outcome of his investigation of the Skidmore matter."

Director Chamberlin said the crime commission furnished the mayor with 60 or more addresses at which open gambling was being conducted. He said they told the mayor there were continually recurring reports that Nitti and Stanton had moved out of the loop to other quarters.

Under one plan discussed yesterday the April grand jury which will be impaneled next month would be advised of everything said and done in the federal grand jury room during the long inquiries which resulted in the indictments of William Johnson, boss gambler, and Skidmore, boss fixer. This jury would also use as a starting point the evidence obtained by Commissioner Allman regarding the Des Plaines street district.

Favors Public Hearing.

Prosecutor Courtney said a public hearing before the civil service hearing would be beneficial to law enforcement generally.

"If the commissioner suspends a captain he ought to prefer charges," Courtney said. "Other captains are watching to see what happens to Collins. If Commissioner Allman wants an assistant state's attorney to present his evidence to the trial board, I'll be glad to assign one to him. If he doesn't want a prosecutor, I'll be glad to assign an assistant there as an observer and to act on any evidence on which a prosecution could be based."

Attend Women's National Press Club Dinner

Prominent among those who attended the Women's National Press club dinner in Washington, D. C., last night were, left to right: Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Helen Essary, Mrs. Wendell Willkie, and Viscountess Halifax, wife of ambassador from Britain. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Wendell Willkie met for the first time tonight as they watched members of the Women's National Press club lampoon the lease-lend idea in the annual stunt party attended by women prominent in official and social Washington.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a member of the club, saw herself portrayed as the indignant wife who discovered that "half my spoons are gone!"

"No, they aren't really gone," responded her husband, looking up from his reading, "I swapped them for an island."

It was a cheerful, little, homelike scene played against a background of White House pillars to which were tacked signs reading: "Lease or Lend," "Royal Boarders Taken."

In the audience of 500 were Lady Halifax, wife of the British ambassador; wives of cabinet members, and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, wife of the Vice President.

JUDGE GREEN HAS NEW DATE TODAY WITH GRAND JURY

Judge Thomas A. Green, whose actions in Safety court are under investigation by the state's attorney's office, has been invited to appear today before the grand jury. The invitation originally sought his appearance yesterday, but a bailiff sent to Judge Green's court returned with word that the judge was at home ill.

Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney in charge of the investigation, said he also expects to bring before the jury today Emmet Olin, 1509 North Lockwood avenue, who was released after serving five days of a 30 day sentence for drunken driving when his wife allegedly paid a $165 bribe to a deputy bailiff. Mrs. Della Butters, 532 Entrance street, Kankakee, also is expected to be a witness today.

Mrs. Butters obtained the release of her brother, John Rogacz, of the Kankakee address, by paying a "fine" after Rogacz served three days of a 10 day sentence imposed by Judge Green for drunken driving. Rogacz told Austin he had not been given the option of a fine, and that his sister since has refused to say how much she paid or to whom the money went.

BOY'S BODY FOUND ON TRACKS.

The body of David Wendling, 13 years old, who had been missing since Monday from his home at 2846 North Wolcott avenue, was found yesterday on tracks of the North Western railroad at Wellington and Ravenswood avenues.

JOYOUS WELCOME AWAITS EASTER IN NEW WORLD

War Prevents Seasonal Treks to Europe.

In former years thousands of Americans traveled eastward to see and take part in one of the great celebrations of Christendom—the living drama of Holy week. There will be no such trek this year.

The people who used to do the celebrating are occupied with other things, and Americans couldn't very well visit Rome, London, Paris, or the Holy Land, even if they wanted to.

But there are, in the new world, a number of places boasting Easter observances as colorful as those to be found in the old world. These places still are open to the traveler.

Following are reports from a few of the scenes of Holy week pageantry:

Flowers to Go on Parade.

MEXICO CITY, April 1 [Special].—Flowers will be "on parade" for Mexico's Eastertide.

In the smaller towns such as Santa Anita, there will be floral fiestas on Good Friday, with the village girls parading in headdresses and gowns of blossoms and with the whole community a mass of color.

The floating gardens in Xochimilco are expected to be at the height of their bloom early next week. So will the gardens in Mexico City. The flower market at the Plaza de San Juan will provide tourists with roses, camellias, and lilies.

Guatemala Plans Fiestas.

GUATEMALA CITY, April 1 [Special].—During the Lenten season Guatemala is the setting for many strange observances, processions, and fiestas. Typical of them is the one at Antigua, a modern city built over and around the flower covered ruins of the country's ancient capital.

In Antigua the homes are bedecked with flowers and the streets hung with banners. The Indians turn out in their Sunday best—the women in huipils, skirts, and headgear sporting the colors and patterns designed hundreds of years ago for each tribe, and the men in gowns resembling monks' robes or in brightly colored shirts and shorts. Many of them come equipped with fifes, drums, and the inevitable marimbas.

Even the statues associated with the crucifixion take part in the celebration. Borne on litters by chosen carriers, they are taken from one cathedral to another. In the procession the figures of the crucified Christ and the grieving mother sway above the heads of the worshipers.

The climax comes toward the end of Holy week. Then Judas takes the center of the stage. Giant images of the betrayer are fashioned from straw, attired in a fantastic conglomeration of ancient and modern clothes, and carried thru the streets amid the mocking and scoffing.

On Good Friday the images are the center of a ritual in which Judas gets what is coming to him. The figures are usually tortured and then burned.

Bermuda to Display Lilies.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 1 [Special].—Bermuda, home of the Easter lily, is going thru its annual transformation. The acres of lilies are getting ready to put on their spring flower show, and it is expected that they will be in full bloom by Easter [April 13]. The sight is regarded as one of the finest displays of nature in the western world.

Peasant Rituals Planned.

COLON, Panama, April 1 [Special].—This is the season when the Panamanian peasants—the women in "tumba hombre" dresses and the men in homespun "montunos"—come down from the mountains to play their part in the rituals of Holy week.

It is the season for candle lighted processionals of "penitentes," for parades of tinsel winged angels carrying statutes which have been taken from their niches in the village churches, and for street corner dramas in which devils and angels wage their mock battles.

It is the time of the hanging of Judas and the reading of his "will," when the writer of the will has an opportunity to air the year's scandals and warn the villagers against repetitions of various offenses. It is the time for the eating of "suspiros," "boyorias," and "biscochos" [intricate little cakes], and for the exchange of a whole year's gossip by neighbors from "the other side of the mountain."

Visitors to the isthmus at Eastertide meet the real Panamanians—the shy "cholos" who live back in the hills. They find that the "tumba hombre" [literally translated, man thrower] is a gayly colored skirt, worn over many petticoats and with a white blouse trimmed with much lace and embroidery.

The "montuno" of the men also has much embroidery. The blouse is long and is worn with the shirt tail out.

Trousers are shin length, fringed, and heavily decorated. This costume also calls for a Panama hat and bare feet.

Top Hats, Tails, and Riding Chaps.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1 [Special].—Tails and top hats will be worn in southern California on Easter morning. But so will riding chaps, snow breeches, sweaters, and jeans.

Movie and radio stars are planning to promenade on Wilshire boulevard while sidewalk broadcasters interview fashion designers and tell the world what the film colony is wearing.

Sports wear is to be the rule for the 500,000 persons who gather for the sunrise services at Hollywood bowl, Riverside's Mount Rubidoux, Glendale's Forest Lawn, and on Catalina Island, and in the Death valley. In the Inyo-Mono winter sports country there is to be a costumed skiers' egg hunt, and rodeos will be the attraction at a number of dude ranches.

Wild Flowers in Bakersfield.

Bakersfield, Cal., April 1 [Special].—Easter is wild flower time in Kern county. There will be displays of poppies, thistle sage, lupine, daisies, brodiaea, popcorn flowers, bird's-eye gilia, phlox, fiddleneck, coreopsis, heliotrope, and many other varieties.

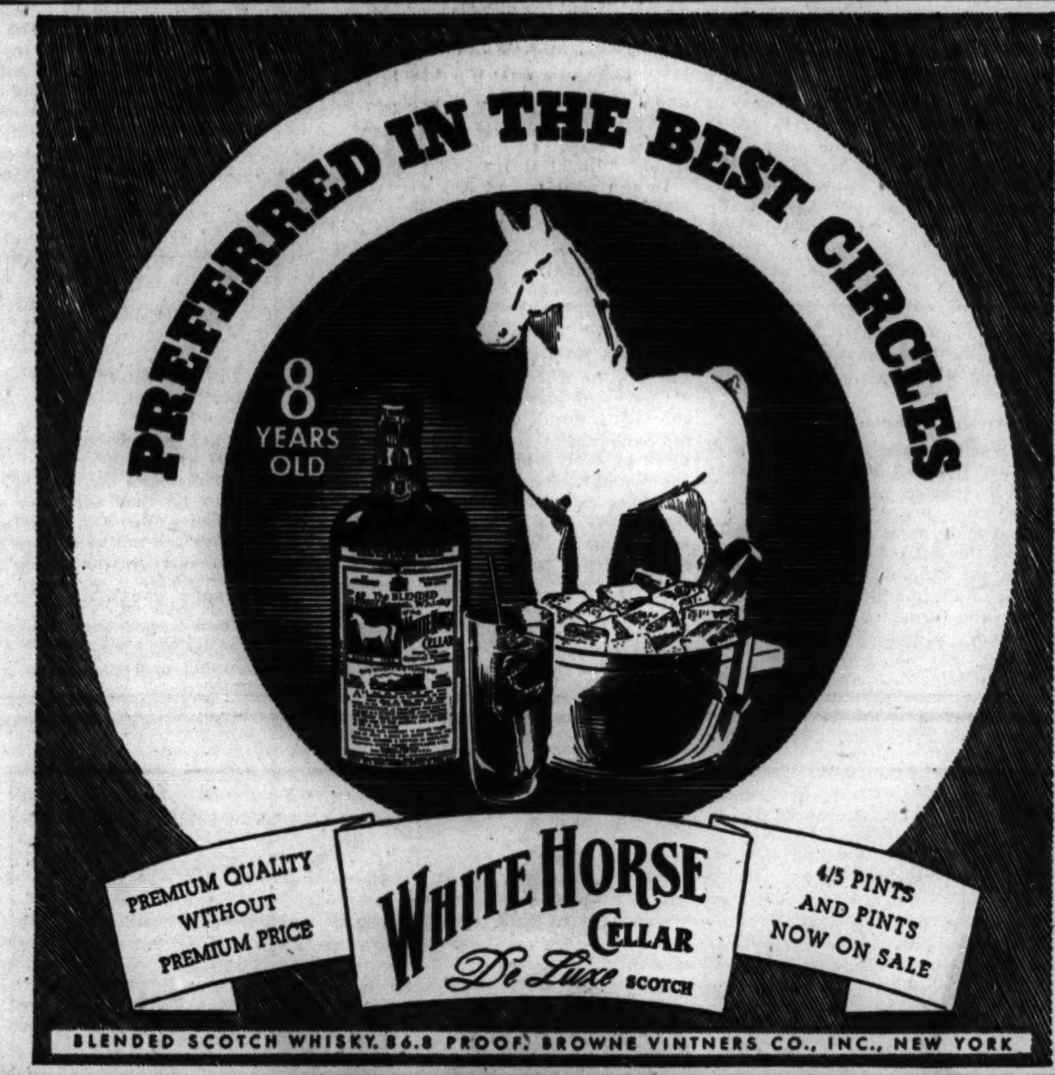
Pilgrims to Visit Shrine.

St. Augustine, Fla., April 1 [Special].—In a bower of tropical shrubbery, on the outskirts of this ancient city, stands a little chapel. It is the Shrine of Nuestra Señora de la Leche y Buen Parto, and it marks the spot where the first mass was said in the first permanent white settlement in the United States.

Each year on Low Sunday [the Sunday after Easter] there is a pilgrimage to the shrine. The bishop of the diocese, priests and nuns from over the state, and Catholic organizations and laymen take part in the procession along roadways strewn with flower petals.

Easter Parade

"Cholos" from the Panama mountains get all dolled up and go to town for the pomp and pageantry of Holy week.



Day by Day on the Farm by GAIL COMPTON

Spring Is Everywhere

April 1, 1941.

SPRING is everywhere in the fields and woods. With the frost leaving the ground and the weather getting warmer, some of the trees are beginning to bud and the new growth of alfalfa can be distinguished.

Among the trees the soft maples seem to be the furthest along. The willows by the ponds are turning yellow, the tops of the poplars are red, and the silver poplars are beginning to bud. On the lawns the new grass is starting to show thru.

The trees in the arboretum came thru the winter in splendid condition, and the gardener is pleased, because many of them are tender trees not native to this climate. The one casualty is a Chinese sweet chestnut which was struck by blight.

Native of Carolina.

The mountain magnolia, or cucumber tree, is in good condition in spite of the severe winter. The tree is a native of the Carolinas, and the gardener was not sure it could stand the northern winters. However, it has now survived its second winter and seems likely to remain healthy. The tree is spectacular in bloom. The leaves are large and glossy, and the tree is low branching. After the petals of the blossom drop a dark red fruit appears, casting out berries that are loved by the birds.

A paper, or canoe, birch that stands in the arboretum is changing its spots. The tree has been covered with a thin, papery bark of a red or cinnamon color. Now the bark is peeling off, disclosing a bark of glistening white. This change in color is a sign of the tree's maturity, and occurs when the tree is about 10 years old.

The crab apple trees, which were branching out low and wide, have been trimmed up to tree form. The ornamental crab apples can be grown in a shrub or tree form. However, those at the farm are to be displayed as single specimens, so the gardener felt it would be best to prune them to tree form. When the crab apple is used in masses, it generally is left in the shrub form. The trees are Siberian hybrids and are resistant to cedar rust and therefore can be used near red cedars without danger.

Among the other trees that came thru the winter in good shape are the Kentucky coffee tree, the persimmon, American mountain ash, dwarf buckeye, rose of Sharon, Amur cherry, rivers beech, sweet bay magnolia, Japanese cornelian cherry, and a tulip tree.

A number of cuttings of Japanese yews were taken and have been rooted in the greenhouse. The gardener has found them extremely useful in tieing in foundation plantings and wanted more.

How Yews Are Used.

The yews are excellent for the north side of buildings, and the spreading type of yew can be used where grass is difficult to grow, because they branch low and cover much ground. The cuttings were taken shortly after Christmas and some of them now have been potted and have struck out roots. The cuttings were started in sand flats.

Among the grafting work that has been done the gardeners are especially pleased with the results they achieved in grafting some flowering chestnut slips to horse chestnut roots. The grafts now have a 10 inch growth and stand in 7 inch pots. The graft will result in a hybrid of the large flowering type.

The thin spots in the lawns have been fertilized, and it won't be long until active work will begin on the grass.

BOOKS

"In This Our Life" Demonstrates Ellen Glasgow's Special Talent as a Novelist.

Ellen Glasgow at Her Best in Novel of Dixie

"In This Our Life," by Ellen Glasgow. [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50.] Published last Thursday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Never in all of the finely wrought novels which have proved Ellen Glasgow one of our great creative artists has her special gift been more evident for delineating the subtleties of character conditioned by a way of life—the southern way of life. That she does it almost casually and in passing, by the merest suggestion, makes her genius the more exciting.

"In This Our Life" is a story of high emotional content that might have had any background and any protagonists and it would always have been tense and dramatic. It is the story of the overriding vanity and selfishness of a pretty girl who takes everything she wants—love, her sister's husband, even a life—and pays nothing. It is the story of a disillusioned, unhappy man who has tried vainly to make a good life for himself and his family and has found neither happiness nor decent consideration from them. It is the story of a girl who loved once with ecstasy, a second time with contentment, had both her loves torn up by their roots by her sister's hand, and still bore a brave front.

It is, incidentally, the story of a Negro boy who wanted an education and the tragedy which his desire brought him. But it is something more than the sum of these stories, for inherent in each character is the south. The spoiled sister would not have been selfish in exactly that way, the clear-eyed sister with the straight heart, the father, finely proud, the Negro boy with his white blood scourging him would not have acted as they did if any other sunshine and rain had brought them to bloom. The situations are universal emotionally, and the men and women have nothing local about them, but the characters are rooted in their own soil.

I felt that the final desperate gesture of the older sister was out of key, that the traditions in her blood would have made her desperate in some other way, but every other situation and act in the long, interest clutching tale seemed to me subtle and superb.

"In This Our Life" may well prove to be one of Miss Glasgow's and the season's best sellers.

Two Volumes for Parents Offer Some Expert Advice

"The Attractive Child," by Constance J. Foster [Messner, $2.75], with a foreword by Angelo Patri, gives the advice of specialists whom the author consulted on how to bring out the best in your child's looks and, therefore, how to improve his spirit. "Feeding Our Old Fashioned Children," by C. Anderson Aldrich, M. D., and Mary M. Aldrich [Macmillan, $1.75], is another invaluable book for parents, for those whose children simply won't eat. The authors wrote that impressive book, "Babies Are Human Beings."

Offers New Novel

Ellen Glasgow, whose latest novel, "In This Our Life," is reviewed in adjoining column.

Unless You Balk at Supernatural, You'll Enjoy This

"Miss Hargreaves," by Frank Baker. [Coward-McCann, $2.50.]

Unless you balk at the supernatural you are apt to find this first novel surprisingly good and highly amusing.

Norman Huntley, a musician whose bookseller father has warned him against the Spur of the Moment, yields to temptation while visiting an old Irish church and invents a Miss Connie Hargreaves who, he tells the sexton, was a dear friend of the late curate. To the frightened discomfiture of Huntley and a friend who helped him describe the imaginary Miss Hargreaves, she becomes incarnate, visits Huntley's home, and raises the very devil with his life before finally disappearing.

Huntley's attempts to explain Miss Hargreaves and the fact that everything he imagines about her comes true lead to some comical situations, and when he inadvertently bestows a title on his creation and Lady Hargreaves gets out of control, even the most hardhearted reader must feel for poor Huntley. His father, Cornelius Huntley, who once knew a bird with hiccups and another that could play the harp, may well become one of your favorite characters. Definitely recommended. R. C.

22 Adventurers Tell of Their Exploits in Earth's Far Corners

"Highroad to Adventure," edited by Earl P. Hanson. [McBride, $3.]

Twenty-two adventurers from various parts of the world, most of them still living, tell in their own words of exciting exploits in far corners of the world. Among them are Charles A. Lindbergh, T. E. Lawrence, Cherry Kearton, Ernest Shackleton, Edward Ellsberg, Desmond Holdridge, Richard Henry Dana, and William H. Prescott. One of the attractive features of the big book [it has 591 pages] is an end paper map showing locations of all the thrills. A. C.

'The Gentleman from Indiana'—Composite View

"Hoosier, a Composite Portrait," by Heath Bowman. [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

A cross section of American democracy in the making and a lively, human picture of the way that system works today in Indiana is described in Heath Bowman's new book. The author, now a Chicagoan, comes of a family of Hoosiers and spent his boyhood in Muncie, the city which was the subject of intensive research by another Hoosier, Robert S. Lynd, in the book "Middletown."

Mr. Bowman, in his effort to discover the qualities that go to make up the personality of the Hoosier, undertook an intensive study of the state. He traveled more than 8,000 miles in Indiana, roaming from one end of the state to the other, talking to town dwellers and farmers, going to county fairs, perusing local histories, taking photographs.

He writes in the vernacular of the people, and by picturing first one man or woman and then another, from early pioneer days to the present, he achieves a composite portrait of the Hoosier. Glimpses of Theodore Dreiser, of George Ade, of old Henry L. Ellsworth, who owned 110,000 acres of good Indiana land in his day; of John Tipton, of James F. D. Lanier, who lent thousands on no security whatever to equip Hoosier troops during the early days of the civil war; of Oliver Morton, Robert Dale Owen, and many others enliven the pages of this unusual book.

Pride, Mr. Bowman believes, is one of the innate characteristics of the "Gentleman from Indiana," and as vital in his makeup, too, is his lively sense of humor and his simplicity. He has the "common touch," the author continues, "that half-lazy-seeming way mixed with the smile and the shrewd eye and the returning gibe, the quick comeback, the lack of pretentiousness which makes men truly great and which above all makes democracy."

If one had to pick a single representative Hoosier today that man, Mr. Bowman says, would be John T. McCutcheon because he has best carried on the Hoosier tradition on a world-wide front. His gentle humor, his penetrating wit, his wisdom, and, above all, his kindliness have added lustre to the name of his native state.

"Hoosier" is one of the most entertaining and interesting books we've read in a long time. And we like to think we're not prejudiced in its behalf even tho we, too, come from Indiana.

Good Escape Reading

"Priest Island," by E. L. Grant. Watson. [Smith & Durrell, $2.50.]

"Priest Island" is an artistic, vigorous, beautifully written tale that offers complete escape for the reader to a far distant island where an exile, alone and poorly equipped, takes up his broken life.

Peter Costello was banished to Priest Island, one of the many remote fastnesses off the coast of England, as punishment for stealing three sheep. What he makes of his days there and what happens when a young girl, lonely, too, and courageous, leaves the mainland secretly and joins him, form the slight plot.

But the plot is not important. It is the man's reactions, the struggles of his spirit, the mystic communion he has with the genie of the place that hold the reader enthralled. Descriptions of the rocky headlands, the little inner valleys and fresh water lakes, and the constant and recurring pictures of the sea in all its moods are superbly done.

If you enjoyed "Pitcairn's Island," by Nordoff and Hall, and if you are familiar with the rarely beautiful books by L. A. G. Strong you will not want to miss this story. They are all kin.

To the author has been given the rare gift of portraying truth. His descriptions of the island ARE the island. Unlike the vast majority of present day writers he does not inject his own personality into his prose; he doesn't wave the flag of his own ego between you and the subject matter. Neither does he distract with style. He sees the picture with utmost clarity and he gives it to you. The result is elemental beauty.

Record in Sales Volume Set by Hemingway Novel

Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" [Scribners, $2.75] was bought by more subscribers of the Book of the Month club than any other book they ever offered—more than 200,000 copies in November. Jan Valtin's "Out of the Night" [Alliance, $3.50], the club's February selection, is running it a close second.

Rauschning's Latest Sounds U. S. Warning

"The Redemption of Democracy," by Hermann Rauschning. [Alliance, $3.] Literary Guild bonus book.

BY JAMES SLOAN.

Pertinent as today's newspaper comes another bell ringer from the typewriter of Hermann Rauschning, former president of the Danzig Free State. While the book does ring the bell, it is not, however, the same fullthroated tocsin that resounded in his "Revolution of Nihilism" and "The Voice of Destruction." There is a metallic and somewhat involved quality to its ring, but the ring definitely is there.

While Mr. Rauschning tends to become a bit involved, he knows his subject matter so well that his message smashes forward: How America and England should face the world revolution upon which Adolf Hitler is presently capitalizing.

Just how that is to be done requires Mr. Rauschning for the answer, but one warning stands crystal clear—that America must be wary in its efforts to battle the Nazi powerhouse, cautious not to adopt the same principles against which it battles, unofficially.

To quote Mr. Rauschning with a message that might have been written in anticipation of the fight against the Roosevelt dictatorship bill we have this lucid warning:

"Nothing could be more mistaken than trying to combat the world revolution by the same revolutionary methods that it uses itself. This attempt has already failed in Germany. It simply renders the revolution itself more radical. Nothing could be more ineffectual than to acquire a machine of domination and direction similar to that possessed by the totalitarian tyranny."

How to protect America? Mr. Rauschning provides one clew. He says Hitler has recognized that "only the nation that wins the mastery of the seas can really rule the world."

A bit disorganized in spots, due perhaps to the Hitlerian bombs which were falling about him in London while he was writing the book, Mr. Rauschning's most vital of many messages is that dictatorial methods employed against a dictatorship will involve the nation adopting it as a defense in a Fascist dictatorship of its own. His warning is pertinent.

Account of Journey Thru Cannibal Land Forms Exciting Story

"Cannibals and Orchids," by Leona Miller. [Sheridan-House, $2.75.]

Head hunting and cannibalism still are popular diversions in the orchid hung jungles of Dutch New Guinea, and "Cannibals and Orchids" is an appropriate title to Leona Miller's entertaining log of her journey thru part of that little known country. Accompanied by her husband—who had been reared in a Dutch military post on the island—and a few Malays and natives, the author visited regions seldom seen by whites. Their objective was to film the day to day existence of cannibals. They got both films and thrills. A. C.

Spy Story Written to Debunk Tales of Type Is Good One

"Drink to Yesterday," by Manning Coles. [Knopf, $2.] Joint choice for May of Literary guild.

This is definitely superior to most of the international spy stories it was written to debunk. It is the story of a British intelligence agent in Germany during the first world war. As discovered by the hero, a boy with a gift for languages who lied about his age in order to enlist in the infantry, an intelligence agent cannot afford to have a private life. Shifted soon from infantry to intelligence, he made his way to Germany, and there remained for the duration of the war save for a few trips home. His adventures, including the destruction of a Zeppelin plant and the murder of a scientist, are thrilling, but more so, in fact, because they happen to an average young man, instead of to the usual glamorous spy. And in the end, six years after the war, he could not escape the chain of events he set in motion one night. J. H. T.

STRANGE JUDAS

By Douglas Newton

[Copyrgiht: 1941: By Wilfred Douglas Newton.]

INSTALMENT XXVII.
CHALK MARK.

Walters stood at their stations everywhere, not eager to serve; they actually seemed a little contemptuous at Don Barron having chosen such a place. They seemed to resent his softening of that aching void. And the reason for that emptiness, of the unusual hostility of friendly Danish waiters was the German uniform.

Two specimens of the German uniform. A S. S. man strutting in the vestibule, some sort of officer with nondescript feminine attachment sitting in aching isolation at a table on the edge of the empty dance floor.

The S. S. man met Don Barron with a truculent eye as he came in; finding the American did not wilt, he scowled and moved aside. Don Barron felt the fellow's glance following him with hope, but it didn't bother him. At first he thought the officer pair was Sigi and her colonel, but it was only a pink-gilled Hauptmann with the sort of girl he deserved. Nor was there a sign of Sigi in any of the rooms. He wondered if there were private dining rooms, and, after having drawn blank he sat himself at a table to order a drink and pump a waiter.

It took Don Barron some time to catch an eye. The man came reluctantly, and then when he was half way, stopped dead. Don Barron heard heavy breathing and a large footfall beside him, looked up and saw the S. S. man beside him. Only it wasn't one S. S. man, but three. He had called in reinforcements from the street.

He glared with ferocity at Don Barron, and said in a parade ground voice: "Arise! You come with me!"

"Reason?" Barron answered in German as curt.

"It is an order! Obey!"

Don Barron slipped his American passport from his pocket, put it on the table.

"There's the reason not," he rapped.

The man swept the passport onto the floor. He pushed his face close to Don Barron's and snarled, "Come. I order!"

"I'll have that shirt on your back for that," Don Barron said grimly. "Pick it up, you—you bad mannered disgrace to your party."

The man straightened: "We take you by force then?"

Don Barron thrust his face in the regulation manner. He barked: "Listen, you big potato-head, I'm an American citizen. I have a clean passport. I have a guarantee from your Von Ribbentrop that I shall not be molested by jackboots like you; yes, and the whole United States diplomatic service to see he keeps his word this time. Now pick that passport up and clear out, or by hell you'll be sorry for it."

He had found the strong hand effective before, particularly with Germans, who have been hand-trained to respond to the whip of anything in authority. It did not work this time. The S. S. man said to his brethren: "Take his arms, carry him by force if necessary."

Don Barron stood up. He knew a brick wall when his head hit it. He knew, too, that he had only been exempted from the rubber truncheons because he had so powerfully proclaimed his American citizenship. But he knew even that might not save him. He rose, he stepped between the two men, he said with ferocity:

"Very well, I'll come. But, by Hitler himself, I'll see you answer for it."

He was marched out of the restaurant, noting not without gladness that the leader of the S. S. men picked up his passport after all. He was halted on the pavement while one of them whistled. A truck skated to the curb. He was shoved into it with one of the S. S. men. It went off at once, as tho dodging a riot.

It was a long run, and the longer it went the more anxious Don Barron became. It wasn't merely that Sigi was out and about and running the risk of a similar arrest, he was worried about their plan. The further away he was from the center of the town the less easy would it be to call up the American consul at this time of night. That meant their chance of getting away early might be jeopardized.

The truck decanted him in the courtyard of some large and massy building. It was swarming with soldiers and S. S. men, altho they paid little or no attention to him. His S. S. man who had remained heroically dumb all thru the trip, shoved him ahead until he found a sergeant. He didn't speak then. It wasn't necessary. The sergeant took Don Barron, even his passport, as a normal occurrence.

Don Barron said: "Sergeant, I'm an American citizen, wrongfully arrested. I demand to see some one in authority."

"Shut up, you," said the sergeant, and called a couple of overarmed privates.

"There's going to be trouble, my man," Don Barron snapped. "Unless I'm put in touch with the American consul at once, you'll pay for it."

"There'll be trouble, all right," the sergeant said phlegmatically. "And you won't like it. Now shut your gab and do as you're told. You'll have plenty of time to talk tomorrow."

Don Barron saw the glitter in the sergeant's eye. Saw the way the privates hefted their rifle butts, saw the S. S. men closing in with avid eyes. He knew the signs. He did as he was told.

He knew why that sergeant lacked patience when he was shoved into a big, square cell. It was already full of men.

The men looked at him with an apathetic interest, not untinged with suspicion, altho one of them jeered:

"Another of the Judas brand."

"What do you mean?" Don Barron asked him.

"Don't know why you've been pulled in, I suppose?" the man leered.

"I certainly do not," Don Barron told him.

"Thought not. Take off your coat and look."

Don Barron took off his coat and looked. There was a scribble of chalk marks, white and unmistakable about the shoulders.

Don Barron recalled what Knust had said about chalk marks . . . they scribbled them on the backs where one can't see or feel. Who had betrayed him in this way? Even as he wondered the memory of Sigi's last moment came to him. Her kiss. She had flung her arm about his shoulders to drag his head forward for that kiss—had that kiss been a Judas kiss? Why should she have done it, anyhow—unless it was to get her chance of getting her hand behind his back to use the chalk?

He tried to kill the suspicion, but it stuck in his mind like an open wound. He tried to tell himself that Hertha would have noticed the mark as she saw him to the door—but it would not do. He had faced Hertha all the time, never turning his back on her even as he went out of the front door.

He tried to fix the thing onto some one else, that surly fellow he had run into. He might have done it, he certainly made a grab with his hand. But Don Barron could not make himself believe it. The solid evidence pointed to Sigi alone.

He had plenty of time to turn the thing over in his mind—all night and nearly all morning. He had no contact with the outside world all that time. For a little while the guards at the door pushed more men into the cell. When it became overcrowded they pushed their prisoners in somewhere else and left the cell entirely alone.

It was an indescribable night of heat, foulness, and discomfort. The men were too tightly packed to find ease. The thick atmosphere, the lack of water, the groans of the hurt, the muttering of the frightened as well as the cramped conditions made it little better than the hold of a slave ship.

Morning brought little relief. Windows were opened into the yard. Buckets of water were brought and immediately drunk dry. There was no organization yet for any sort of meal.

They were not allowed out. They had to wait their turn for interrogation, and as there were several hundred other prisoners nobody could say when that might come. By then Don Barron was sunk in dejection. As night had passed, as the hour for their start had drawn nearer, arrived, and been left behind dull fatality had mastered him.

He had failed. The whole business of rescuing Darmal had been hoodooed from the first. Whatever they attempted, something had arisen to checkmate them. Fate, or treachery, had been too strong for them. There was, of course, just a chance that Twysden, urged by Knust, and supported by Hertha, might carry on the plan, altho he was not there. But he hadn't much hope.

Sally Appeals for Clothing for Blind Man

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Perhaps some reader can fill the following request, which comes from a case worker in a south side district:

"Dear Miss Brown: We are asking your assistance for Mr. T., who is receiving relief from this office. His only income is $1 per day, a pension granted him because he has lost his sight.

"The cost of board and room requires almost all this income, and he is unable to supply himself with clothing. He is badly in need of shirts, size 15½, a sweater, underwear, and trousers. His chest measure is 40, trousers 34 and 31.

"This man has no means of obtaining these articles thru his own efforts and we will be grateful for your assistance."

The case worker will arrange to call for items offered for this blind man if readers will notify this department what they have to give.

Blouse Counters Irresistible Magnets for Easter Shoppers

BY REA SEEGER.

The town is full of shoppers and fine spring loot not only for the Easter parade but for the days after. Suits and spring coats are featured along with dashing new costume accessories and hats. Beige and blue are the favored shades so far, with the print and wool ensembles leading the ensemble selections. Clever new cape coats with the cape part a smooth portion of the outfit without the overwhelming bulk of an entire cape are outstanding buys.

The biggest rush is found round the blouse collections. They are many and more varied as to style, color and fabric than ever before. If you eschew blouses you'll spend your money for the clever half blouses or fake fronts, cascades of ruffles that are worn in the deep vee necklines of suit jackets. Fine embroidery, crisp organdy in plain or embroidered patterns, lawn with lace edgings, even rickrack trimmed linens, tailored pique and some dazzling white sharkskin vests offer plenty to alternate with a blouse.

Colored gloves are running finger to finger with snowy white affairs for fashion popularity. Use color with a flourish, baby blue gloves with a pink and yellow hat, red gloves with a green and yellow hat, violet gloves with a rose turban, and so on. This is one Easter when the late date will allow you lots of freedom with light and gay color effects.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Beef is best rare, but pork always is cooked well done, to an internal temperature of 185 degrees. The thermometer should rest on muscle, not on fat or bone. The time per pound varies with the cut of pork [a thermometer is the only accurate gauge of doneness] but a pork loin roast weighing four pounds probably should roast about 2½ hours in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Never put water in the pan with the roast, and don't cover it. Roast in a rack at an even temperature, and it will be as brown and juicy as you like it. Salt it before cooking, or during cooking, it doesn't matter a great deal. It's a completely false notion that salt toughens meat if added before cooking.

To make potato puffs mash boiled, baked, or steamed potatoes, season with salt, pepper, and butter, adding enough milk to make them fluffy. Add also a teaspoon of minced onion and half a pimiento, put thru a sieve. Drop the fluffy mixture by spoonfuls onto a greased baking pan, and brown quickly in a 400 degree oven after removing the pork roast to a hot platter.

Popovers take a hot oven at the beginning of baking, and they'll probably have to sit above or beside the roasting pork, which brings up the question of how to roast pork at 350 degrees and bake popovers at 450 at the same time. Better not compromise with popovers. The 450 degree temperature for 20 minutes won't hurt the pork as much as the 350 degree meat roasting temperature would hurt the popovers. Nobody wants a popover which hasn't popped, so turn up the oven for this short time and hope that the pork won't spit fat all over the sides of the oven.

It's best to bake the cake dessert early in the day to avoid oven congestion and still more temperature conflicts.

Popovers.
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon melted butter.

Heat heavy, oiled popover pans in the oven while mixing the batter. Turn up heat to 450 degrees. Sift flour and salt. Beat eggs until frothy and add milk and melted butter. Stir into the dry ingredients. Beat mixture until well blended. Fill hot popover pans two-thirds full, bake at 450 degrees for 20 minutes, and reduce heat to 350 to allow the popovers to dry out. Remove from pans at once. If popovers are baked ahead of time, or if some are left over, reheat them in a paper bag in a hot oven.

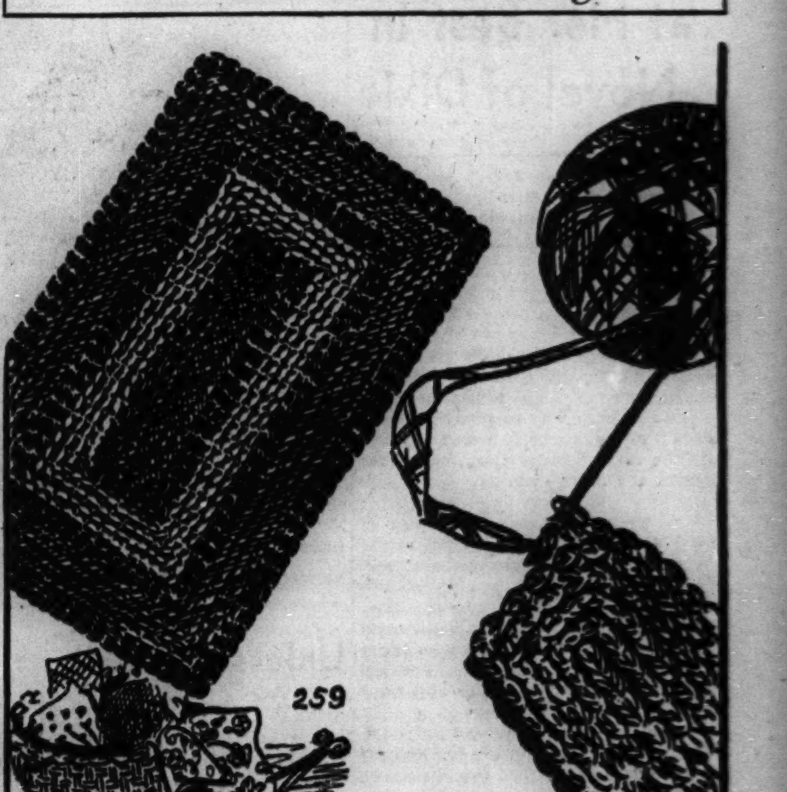
Crocheted "Castoff" Rug



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There is hardly a crochet worker who has not made at least one rug. The rectangular article made from castoff rags creates a good looking scatter rug to be used in any part of the house. If a single color is desired the rags may be cut in strips and dyed before being worked up. Approximately five pounds of rags are required for a small rug measuring 3x4 feet.

For instructions in crocheting the rectangular rug, No. 259, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Dinner-Dance to Be Birthday Gift for Nancy McLaughlin

BY JUDITH CASS.

EASTER vacation is just one long, lazy recess from classes to most homeward bound college students, but one young Chicagoan, Miss Nancy McLaughlin, will have an added reason for remembering Easter, 1941. To celebrate their daughter's 21st birthday anniversary, the Alexander G. McLaughlins are inviting 40 of her young friends to dinner and dancing next Wednesday evening at the Tavern club.

Miss McLaughlin arrives at home on Friday from Wellesley college, where as a member of the junior class she already is carving a niche for herself in the college's hall of fame for her ability in the dramatic field. She didn't have a formal debut, but during her Christmas vacation several years ago her parents gave a large party for her at the Palmer House, very much on the order of the celebration planned for Wednesday.

Miss Eleanor Agee of Huntington, W. Va., will be Miss McLaughlin's house guest for the Easter holidays. At least two more of their Wellesley classmates will arrive just before the party. They are Miss Mary Hall of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Miss Ruth Weigle of New Haven, Conn.

Bride-to-Be Goes Apartment and Furniture Hunting.

Apartment and furniture hunting with her fiancé, Davis Harris Thomas Jr., occupied Miss Virginia Livingston Blodgett during a recent two weeks' visit here. Miss Blodgett, a senior at Sarah Lawrence college, and her mother, Mrs. Roswell Blodgett of Bronxville, N. Y., left Chicago on Sunday after a visit with Mrs. Blodgett's mother, Mrs. Frederick W. Clark. Driving with them were Miss Blodgett's cousins, Miss Mariett Clark, who attends the Erskine school, and Macpherson Clark, a student at Hill.

Miss Blodgett and her fiancé are planning a June wedding, to take place in Bronxville several weeks after her graduation from college. Evanston will be their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett Sr., who live in Chicago, are former Pittsburgh residents.

It will be blossom time in Missouri when Miss Theodosia Stark and James Fitzmorris are married on May 3, so her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stark, are planning a garden wedding at their home in Louisiana. Miss Helen Stark and Charles C. Fitzmorris Jr. will be the only attendants. The bridegroom, who is an ensign in the United States navy, will bring his bride here to make their home in a house his parents, the senior Mr. and Mrs. Fitzmorris, have given them in Kenilworth. Mr. and Mrs. Stark and the bride-to-be will spend this week-end in Chicago.

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham Plans Visit to Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham is planning a trip to Puerto Rico later on to see her son, William E. The wedding took place in San Juan, and Mr. Graham and his bride are at home at Borenquen field where he is associated

Stock Assures Chicago Great '41-'42 Season

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra's 51st season—the season of 1941-'42—will be no anticlimax after the brilliant golden jubilee season now drawing to a close, Conductor Frederick Stock assured his listeners yesterday at a luncheon in the Palmer House presided over by Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association.

Among the features tentatively planned for next season's October to April span are performances of Strauss' "Elektra" [in concert form], the same composer's "Alpine Symphony," Bach's B minor, and, possibly, his Passion According to St. Matthew as well; Beethoven's Missa Solemnis, Glière's "Ilia Mourometz" symphony [uncut], and a new Villa-Lobos piano concerto.

The soloists and assisting groups mentioned by Dr. Stock included Rose Pauly, soprano; Guiomar Novaes and Sergei Rachmaninoff, pianists; Béla Bartók, composer and pianist; Jascha Heifetz, violinist, and the Swedish Choral club, Harry T. Carlson, director.

Full plans for the season will be announced April 17.

Dr. Stock agreed with the widespread opinion that the season now ending has been one of the most brilliant, perhaps the most brilliant, in the orchestra's history, but he admitted that the vast amount of new music which his audiences have been called upon to digest may have produced in some persons "a little hangover." To these he tendered his apologies, at the same time stressing the fact that it is the duty of important musical organizations to give an important place in their répertoires to the works of contemporary composers.

The orchestra is in a sound position financially, last spring's drive having paid off the accumulated deficits of the preceding seasons, but provision must now be made to meet expected annual deficits of between $40,000 and $50,000. To this end Mr. Ryerson put forth a plan to enroll public spirited persons in a group to be known as Sustaining Members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Enrollment will be on an annual basis of from $10 to $1,000, and no distinction will be made among the members on the basis of amount contributed. Continuance on the roll of sustaining members from year to year shall be at the option of the member. A list of sustaining members will be published in the program book once a year, with no indication of amount contributed. It is planned to offer one special program each year which the sustaining members will attend as guests of the Orchestral association.

French Art Treasures Arrive Here for Exhibit

The shipping room of the Art institute was busy yesterday unpacking boxes for an exhibition of masterpieces of French art, lent by the Louvre and other French museums, which will be opened at the institute on Wednesday, April 9. The collection was assembled in France in May, 1939, and sent to South America as a good will gesture. It was brought to the United States by the De Young Memorial museum of San Francisco. Invitations to the formal opening of the exhibit, from 8 until 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday, have been received by members of the institute.

U. of Chicago Asks Friends to Open House

The University of Chicago will hold a semipublic University week April 6-10 as part of its 50th anniversary celebration.

The week, a five day calendar of rich events, is designed to give Chicagoans an opportunity to see the university in action, visit some of its 500 research laboratories, attend various classes, and meet many of its distinguished scholars and professors. Attendance is restricted to holders of invitations, of which several thousand have been issued.

Each day will be devoted to a separate field of learning. Thus, Monday, April 7, will be given over to physical sciences, Tuesday to the biological sciences, Wednesday to the humanities, and Thursday to the social sciences. Each day's program begins with a Dutch treat luncheon and includes guided tours, lectures, and symposiums.

University week begins at 11 o'clock Sunday with a Palm Sunday service in Rockefeller Memorial chapel. Dean Charles W. Gilkey will be the speaker. This will be followed at 1 p. m. by the first audience broadcast of the weekly University of Chicago Round Table. Other events of the day will include a tour of the Oriental institute and its newly opened Iranian hall, and a carillon recital in Rockefeller chapel at 4 p. m.

Monday afternoon tours will be taken to the physics demonstration laboratory, to chemical laboratories, to geology and paleontology exhibits or to demonstrations of the cyclotron, liquid air or cosmic ray. Later Dr. Arthur H. Compton, distinguished physicist and Nobel prize winner, will star in an event listed as "Information, Please."

Tuesday's visitors, interested in the biological sciences, may visit the anniversary exhibits in the medical center and its clinics, see the film, "Birth of a Baby," visit laboratories or the botany greenhouse and attend a class in Mandel hall conducted by Prof. Anton J. Carlson.

Wednesday tours will be conducted to the Lincoln, rare book and poetry rooms, to the phonetic laboratory, the religious manuscript and history of the Chicago stage exhibits and to the dictionary of American English offices.

Thursday tours will take participants to view psychological testing, education laboratories, anthropological exhibits on race, slides of archeological excavations and to the Oriental institute. An Mandel hall symposium at 8 p. m. on race and minority problems with Prof. Fay-Cooper Cole, Dean Robert Redfield, and Prof. Louis Wirth as speakers will close the week's events.

Wartime Music Manuscript.

When the manuscript of British Composer William Walton's new work that is being played at the Thursday evening and Friday afternoon concerts this week by the Chicago Symphony orchestra arrived a few weeks ago, its penciled, smudged pages told the tale of the difficulties under which Ambulance Driver Walton had made good his promise to write a piece for the orchestra's jubilee year despite bombings and blackouts. Dr. Frederick Stock spoke of the manuscript to friends of the orchestra who attended the luncheon given yesterday by Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association, to announce the new plan for a sustaining membership association for the orchestra.

The manuscript was so smudged and faint it was impossible to read it until it had been gone over in pen and ink, note for note and marking for marking, Dr. Stock told Mr. Ryerson's guests. There were, altogether, some half million notes and instruction markings. He took three of the sixty pages and gave five to Hans Lange, associate conductor, but he himself nearly collapsed after going over one page. Seven members of the orchestra did the rest of the pages in order to get the piece into rehearsal as quickly as possible. The season closes in three more weeks.

"It sounded like Halifax at the first rehearsal," said Dr. Stock with his pleasant frankness.

Alexander Woollcott, who opens Monday at the Erlanger in The Man Who Came to Dinner, will spend Sunday in Indianapolis visiting Booth Tarkington. City Life in Ireland.

The following letter was written by an 8 year old girl, who lives in a small town in Ireland, to her aunt in America, after a visit to Dublin:

"Dear Aunt Nora: I am with Aunt Madge and Biddy for a while. It is a funny place with a lot of queer things in it. They have no well stall at all, but a pipe out of the wall and water coming from it. They have a gas fire to boil the water for the tea and the eggs, too. They haven't a scrap of land at all and I do not know what they do for a cow. They have milk, but I do not know where they get it. They have no hens or ducks, and I am afraid there do be chickens in the eggs they give me. And they have a radio as well.

Eamon O'Shea does be always in along with Biddy and Madge. We have great sport here.

Kathleen.

Good Morning!

Audiences are simpally lux-UR-iating in crime over at the Roosevelt! Three murder melodramas are unreeling there, and tho two of them are as funny as they are ferocious, STILL murder is murder, and two of the three pictures pack plenty of suspense and horror. The third is just a fooler that you look at thru a green and red colored gadget handed you by the handsome ticket taker.

Both "The Mad Doctor" and "The Monster and the Girl" have lovely Ellen Drew as heroine. She depicts stark terror so realistically that I feel she's scheduled to slip into the boot of Fay Wray, who could scare an audience out of their wits by her own well simulated fright.

Miss Drew, I thought, had grown quite hollow cheeked. No wonder! Working in two such shockers—one right after the other—is enough to wear any one down.

Basil Rathbone portrays—as only Basil can—a suave and sinister Dr. Sebastien, who goes about marrying and murdering fair ladies. John Howard, as a canny and noble reporter who loves one of the slated victims [Miss Drew], is the guy who sets the wheels of retribution rolling. . . . Prominent in the cast are Barbara Jo Allen [Vera Vague], Ralph Morgan, and Martin Kosleck.

The film is splendidly directed, staged, and costumed, and holds the attention taut.

"THE MONSTER and the GIRL" is weird and skeery no end, but it has an amusing pup and some snappy dialog that soothe terror with laughter.

The "monster" is a huge gorilla—with a hate laden HUMAN brain—O, I SHAN'T go on! Why should I? I'll just tell you that murder after murder occurs. . . . The police are baffled. Of course, YOU know what's what. . . . Eventually truth comes to light and fair damsel is rescued by the right man. Played in the present instance by Rod Cameron. NICE! Who is he?

I strongly suspect that the writer of the screen play has been reading "Murders in the Rue Morgue."

Take a look at the cast. Joseph Calleia, Onslow Stevens, George Zucco, and Phillip Terry are a bunch of deep, dark men who know their melodrama. And then, of course, as a foil there's that lovely Ellen Drew.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 1.—Regis Toomey, the mean drunk and the man who has died a thousand deaths, has been hauled out of the gutter by Frank Capra and is well on his way to a new and respectable life. But darned if he isn't slated to die again right at the beginning of his comeback career.

Rege, as his friends call him—not Redge—is really the Man Who Came Back. In 1929 he became hot stuff over night by dying from a well deserved gun shot in the arms of William Powell in "Alibi." By 1936 he had run thru a long series of drunks and heavies and nobody wanted him any more. From $1,500 a week his wage went to zero; in the years 1936 and 1937 he worked just three days—in a commercial picture. Three days' work in two years is discouraging even for an actor.

A new agent was put to work. This industrious gent immediately cut Toomey's asking price to shreds—and most actors would rather cut their throats. "We'll take what we can get," said the agent, "and we won't mind taking daily checks." This put Rege practically in the casual labor class—but he got work, and sometimes he got what he has always hoped for, sympathetic rôles. Metro used him quite a bit in 1938, and he thought the tide had turned when he worked 11 weeks straight with Spencer Tracy in "Big City." But his only appearance on the "Big City" screen was in backgrounds.

Toomey got a part in "Union Pacific"; then C. B. de Mille presented him with a death number in "Northwest Mounted Police." Next Wesley Ruggles used him in "Arizona" as the dirty, bewhiskered, alcoholic judge. By some mysterious means of insight Frank Capra peered past those Arizona whiskers and saw another Toomey—a clean one, a sober one, and a nice one. He gave him the rôle of the small town soda jerk in "Meet John Doe." Rege had to hold together one of the longest unbroken scenes in the picture—a scene so tenuously stretched that, had it broken, the whole picture might have gone "wunk." Toomey held it; when the great of Hollywood applauded the scene at the fuss-and-flashbulbs première, he knew everything was okay again. He, and not Gary Cooper, was the real John Doe of the picture—the average guy, the little man.

Warner gave Regis a seven year contract for more than enough for groceries and rent and put him right to work again. He's on location in San Diego, playing the rôle of one Tim in "Dive Bomber." He dies in a crash—but there's this much satisfaction: He'll die in technicolor.

The Toomeys live in a small apartment in Hollywood. Their intimates are the Dick Powells, who used to live next door in a house in the valley when Rege was on top and Dick was just starting. Other close friends are the Tay Garnetts and John Warburton. They have no children.

Universal day—Get into the spirit of spring by seeing how much cheer you can pass along to people you meet in your daily contacts today.

If you were born in January—then your early environment gave you an opportunity to learn to be independent either by being forced to take on responsibilities or by wise parents who let you express yourself individually and encouraged you to try things out for yourself. What you had to learn was to rely on your own judgment, to be willing to stand on your decisions and face the consequences. Those with this strong and reliant number as the one governing the first part of their life may have thought the going was a little tough at times, but they can look back now and see how that having to fight their own battles early gave them a good start in life.

Experts Differ on Religion in Public Schools

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Religious education for public high school pupils on released time as advocated by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of Chicago schools, was examined by scientific experts and educators yesterday.

One religious education leader, Prof. Frank McKibben of Northwestern university and the Chicago Church federation, said the plan was basically good and should be experimented with under expert guiding hands. Two other educators found it neither very good nor very bad, while one psychotherapist said it could be very bad and cited experience in his native Austria as proof.

The symposium, composed of Dr. McKibben, Dr. Robert Havinghurst of the committee on human development of the University of Chicago, Dean Ernest Melby of Northwestern university school of education, and Dr. Erwin Knausz, psychiatrist of the University of Chicago student health service, was held at the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, under joint auspices of the club and the Association for Family Living.

Dr. Knausz said such religious instruction as planned might have the opposite effect to that intended. He said postwar communism, Nazism, and Fascism grew in Austria from the soil of compulsory religious instruction conducted on similar lines to the plan contemplated for Chicago.

Dr. Havinghurst and Dean Melby confirmed the Austrian psychotherapist's view that the home is the greatest teacher of spiritual values. Both of these educators agreed that the child's "architecture of conscience" is erected before he ever enters school.

Dr. Havinghurst rated the family first, the church second and the public school third as agencies of spiritual influence.

"The Chicago plan will not do much harm or much good," said Dean Melby

The Esquire Conrad Veidt and Valerie Hobson perform brilliantly in a spirited spy drama which is both timely and entertaining. Identities remain cleverly concealed until the last minutes of a picture which is contrived for suspense and skillfully shaded with comedy. The film is called "Blackout" which indicates only the time of the action; war scenes being totally absent. It's more fun if seen from the beginning at 2:22, 4:24, 6:26, 8:28 and 10:30 And THE ESQUIRE HOUR

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

It goes without saying that logical and conventional bidding [really the same thing] produces the best result in the long run, but a bridge commentator would be something less than honest if he maintained that weird bidding never pays dividends. A highly amusing, as well as sensational, case of a horrible contract producing a magnificent result is reported by Travis White in his fascinating book, "Odd Tricks."

According to Mr. White, South, the hero of the piece, was a retired army officer, calm by training and temperament, who never gave away his hand by either look or gesture. As dealer, this man picked up the South hand, counted his tricks, and decided to preëmpt with four clubs.

Had that bid actually come out of his mouth the auction probably would have stopped at that point. West could not have bid his spades at such a high level and North undoubtedly would have passed to an opening four club bid. East would have done likewise. But by a slip of the tongue, South actually called "four diamonds," and before he even realized his error West had passed and it was too late to correct the misnomer.

North, of course, bid five diamonds, probably with the blissful thought that he had excellent support for his partner's suit and that his singleton club would be of great additional value. East passed, and now South attempted to correct his initial error by bidding six clubs. North promptly put him back into diamonds and South persisted to seven clubs, praying that his partner would "catch the point" and let him alone.

There is little doubt that North should have passed to seven clubs. He could not know that South had made a slip of the tongue on his first bid, but he certainly should have suspected that there was something wrong. South had persisted with clubs in the face of two diamond raises from North and presumably knew what he was doing. Be that as it may, North was of the stubborn type and once more returned the contract to diamonds. There was nothing more that South could do about it.

West made the lead that any one in his right mind would make, but in this case sanity was at a discount.

The natural selection of the heart king was ruffed in the closed hand and, probably with a prayer on his lips, declarer then cashed the diamond queen and led the four spot to the king. When the diamond ace dropped the last two outstanding trumps together it was all over. Declarer now could claim the balance with his solid clubs and dummy's fourth trump.

The amusing part of this hand was that seven clubs could not possibly be fulfilled even if the opponents failed to collect their two spade tricks on the opening lead. South could discard only one spade on dummy's long diamond and never could get rid of his other spade. Another remarkable point is that West could have led any other card in his hand except a heart, and the ludicrous seven diamond contract could not have been brought home.

A true curiosity of the bridge table.

RIGNEY IS STRICKEN WITH THROAT INFECTION

BOSTON BEATS TORONTO, 2 TO 1; EVENS HOCKEY SERIES

SCORES TWICE IN 2 MINUTES OF 3D PERIOD

Play Deciding Game Tomorrow.

TORONTO, April 1 (AP).—The Boston Bruins rallied tonight to whip the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 1, in the sixth game of their Stanley cup hockey playoff series and even the round at three victories apiece. Toronto took a 1 to 0 lead midway in the third period, but Boston forged ahead with two goals in the next 2 minutes and 13 seconds.

On the verge of elimination after last Saturday's defeat in Boston, the Bruins again broke the home ice charm and earned the advantage of playing the seventh and deciding game of this opening round playoff on their own rink next Thursday. The winner will meet the Detroit Red Wings in the final best-of-seven contest for the Stanley cup.

Scores Come Quickly.

Boston, weakened by injuries, played its waiting game again tonight. Drillon scored the opening goal at 9:47. Less than a minute later Bobby Bauer tied the score and just at the 12 minute mark Herb Cain sent home the Bruins' winning tally.

Milt Schmidt of Boston and Toronto's Reg Hamilton were in the penalty box when the scoring started. Drillon circled the Bruin net and fired a shot that thrilled a capacity crowd of 14,890.

Cain Fools Broda.

The two still were off the ice when Bauer got in to tie the score, turning to fire the puck past Turk Broda after he had stopped Flash Hollett's shot himself. Then Cain, hero of Boston's previous playoff victory here, outwitted the Toronto goalie and fired the winning goal when Broda made the first move to save. Lineup:

N. U. BASEBALL TEAM TO START TOUR TOMORROW

Sixteen players will comprise Northwestern university's baseball squad which leaves tomorrow for an eight game southern training trip. The schedule will open Friday with a two game series against Southwestern Louisiana institute. Other games include two each with Louisiana State, Tulane, and Alabama. The games in the south will be the first outdoor appearance for the Wildcats this spring.

Despite the limited workouts, Coach Stan Klores, who led the Wildcats to the conference cochampionship in his first year as coach last year, is optimistic over the team's chances. The presence of seven letter men will give the Wildcats' veterans at all positions except pitching and first base.

Experienced players include Ash Arnold, catcher; Dick Erdlitz, second; Capt. George McKinnon, short; Erwin Madsen, third, and Bill De Correvont, Henry Clason, and Bill Sampson, outfield. Marvin Scofield, relief hurler last year, is the only pitcher with any varsity experience. Players who will make the trip are:

Pitchers—Steve Meschuck, Marvin Scofield, Bob Motl, George Reachi, and Irving Porth.
Catchers—Ash Arnold and Bruno Gargas.
Infielders—Russ Wendland and Len Lembeck, first; Dick Erdlitz and Johnny Henerich, second; George McKinnon, second, and Erwin Madsen, third.
Outfielders—Bill De Correvont, Henry Clason, and Bill Sampson.

DADE, BROWN AND HORNE MOVE TO AAU SEMI-FINALS

Boston, Mass., April 1 [Special].—Four Chicago Golden Gloves stars moved to the semi-finals and a fifth was eliminated by a Golden Gloves champion, in quarter-final bouts of the National AAU boxing tournament in the Boston Garden tonight.

Harold Dade, flyweight, who won the Chicago Tribune's Golden Gloves championship March 7, beat Frank Gerrard of Toledo, O., while Raymond Brown, bantamweight, runner-up in the Chicago tournament, defeated Harold Smallwood of Akron, O.

Horne Beats Satterfield.

George Horne of Cleveland, who captured the welterweight title in the Chicago Golden Gloves tourney, won a decision over Robert Satterfield of Chicago. Satterfield, Chicago city Golden Gloves champion, was eliminated from the Tournament of Champions when a cut over his eye forced the referee to award the bout to his opponent.

Another Chicago tournament star who advanced tonight was Al Jordan, Kansas City heavyweight Negro, who knocked out Buddy Bufford of Buffalo. Jordan was a finalist in the Chicago Golden Gloves tourney. Jordan probably will be paired tomorrow with Ragon Kinney of Hartman, Ark., Chicago quarter-finalist, who beat Allen Aubrey, Cleveland, champion of the Chicago competition.

Midwest Places 16.

Asa Howlingwolf, Seminole, Okla., Indian, who fought for Oklahoma City at Chicago, beat Ray Standifer, Kansas City, likewise a Golden Glover, in a light heavyweight match, and Shelton Bell, a Golden Gloves graduate, won a decision over Vance Basler of Des Moines, Ia., another Chicago Golden Gloves fighter.

Promising battlers in the lighter divisions also included Tony Peppi, Boston flyweight; Charley Riley, St. Louis Negro, and Tony de Gregorio, a Bostonian, bantamweights, and Carl Palombo, Amsterdam, N. Y., featherweight. When all the results were in the midwest had won 16 of the 32 places in the semi-final brackets.

Martin and Dellicurti Fight to Draw in New York

New York, April 1 [Special].—Georgia Martin, Boston welterweight, and Vic Dellicurti of New York battled to a draw in the eight round feature bout in the Bronx Coliseum tonight.

Golf Stars Drill for Masters, Secretly Pull for Bobby Jones

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Augusta, Ga., April 1.—So today was April Fools' day, but none of the 60 gents of assorted ages who are here to compete in the eighth annual Masters' tournament, opening Thursday at the Augusta National Golf club, was in a mood to fool. All were downright earnest about their practice efforts as they traveled over what has been called the ideal course under perfect weather conditions.

The Masters probably is the most distinctive tournament in competitive golf. Almost since its inception it has taken on the aspect of a class reunion, for it brings together champions present and past in an atmosphere so casual and gay that the unwary are led to suspect that all of the boys are here just for fun.

They'd Like to See Jones Win.

It's all very deceiving, this carefree attitude, for there isn't a man in the highly exclusive field who doesn't want to be up there in front come the finish of Sunday's final round. And each one secretly wouldn't mind it a whit if he should run second to the man responsible for the course and the whole party. He's Robert Tyre Jones Jr., the Atlantan who reserves this show for his only swings for keeps each year. Bob's best to date has been a tie for 13th in the 1934 inaugural. Last year, a shoulder ailment forced him to drop out after 36 holes.

Tomorrow the local galleries will be treated to an encore of the recent Nassau match in which Jones and another old master, Tommy Armour, defeated still two other of the elder geniuses—Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen. The Jones-Armour team won that one, 3 and 2.

Hogan and Snead Cofavorites.

Today Jones teamed up with Ed Dudley, the home club professional, in a match against Jimmy Demaret of Norton, Conn., and Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., losing, 1 down. Demaret is the grinning Texan who won last year's championship by the widest margin in the history of the event—four strokes. Hogan has been established as a co-favorite to win, along with Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Byron Nelson, national professional champion and winner of the Masters' crown in 1937. Yesterday Nelson put the galleries in mind of his finishing 32 of that year by dashing off a 31 on the back nine.

A husky fellow named Lawson Little, who holds the National Open championship, and who officially joined the professional corps on these same premises five years ago, also allowed that he will be an annoyance in the approaching doings. Lawson dashed off a 69, which included a missed short putt on the sixth.

Ready for Yearly Fling

BOBBY JONES.

Dudley Has Best Average.

It is interesting to note that the best seven year average in the Masters' is held by a man who is not included on the roster of champions. This would be the tall Dudley, who has scored at the rate of 72.57 strokes per round.

Paul Runyan, the little New Yorker who was injured in an automobile accident near Greenville, S. C., yesterday, and won't be able to play, is second in the all-touranent averages with a 72.78. Of those who have competed in it only for the last six years Nelson leads with 72.25.

Mancini Floors Marquart in Winning 8 Round Bout

New York, April 1 (AP).—Lenny Mancini, Brooklyn lightweight, outpointed Billy Marquart of Winnipeg, Man., in a furious eight round bout before 5,300 in the Broadway arena tonight. Mancini floored his rival for a count of eight in the second round.

Cubs Release Five

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 1.—Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs today began paring his squad by releasing five players, four on option. The fifth, Harold [Rabbit] Warstler, 34 year old utility infielder, was unconditionally released and immediately signed with Los Angeles.

Harvey Storey, an infielder who has been shifted to the outfield, and Shortstop Len Merullo, were optioned to Los Angeles. Herb Chmiel, rookie southpaw pitcher from Chicago, and Bob Henriksen, Hollywood schoolboy pitcher, were farmed out to Macon, Ga., in the South Atlantic league.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1.—Claude Passeau, who did all the Cub pitching the other day when the Cubs whipped the White Sox, 11 to 2, in a five inning rain soaked game, and also held the Sox to no runs and two hits in the first five innings of the Cubs' 18 to 1 victory on March 24, is hoping it doesn't rain tomorrow. The city rivals, rained out today, are scheduled to meet tomorrow in Los Angeles. Clyde wants to fulfill his assignment against the Sox twice more before the team gets into cold weather zones.

Passeau, a 20 game winner in the National league last season, considers pitching against the Sox excellent preparation for what he expects to be his best season. Says Claude:

"Despite the showing of the Sox in their last two meetings with the Cubs, this year's team looks like another good one. They have, in Luke Appling, one of the greatest hitters I've ever seen, and they have plenty of power in other positions.

Passeau Is Ambitious.

"I'd like to face them tomorrow and again in Phoenix, Saturday or Sunday. If I can tame them twice more in warm weather, maybe I won't have to say much about the way my shoulder sometimes tightens up in cold weather if Luke and the rest of the boys knock me off some time after we leave Phoenix."

Claude was half kidding about the shoulder alibi, for one of the striking things about the Cubs' 1940 pitching ace is that he doesn't waste too much time with alibis. He likes to analyze failures, but he is no cry baby. But as a matter of fact, he, a true Mississippian, doesn't have much of a hankerin' after cold weather.

He said today, however, that his barometer shoulder has given him no trouble this spring and that his arm generally feels better than in any spring in his major league career, now in its seventh annual phase. Just the same, he's hoping it will be a nice, bright day and reasonably warm on April 15, when he undoubtedly will be called upon to open the 1941 season against the Pirates in Wrigley field.

Has 9,000 Tung Oil Trees.

Passeau is full of baseball right now and will be all season. But he takes a few hours a day to think about his 560 acre tract near Lucasdale, Miss., where his 9,000 tung oil trees are now in bloom. While he is bearing down for the Cubs these trees will be bearing nuts. The oil is used in the manufacture of paint.

Claude is something of a loner in his social contacts, but he has three mules he says are very smart. We never heard him say he considers the mules smarter than some of the National league hitters, but we know he writes to Mississippi daily, and always asks about the mules.

Vern Olsen will follow Passeau on the mound tomorrow. The Cubs will bat against Thornton Lee and Eddie Smith, both left handers.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THIS is an historic week for the National Football league. . . . It marks a new era—the Layden régime—in the development of the professional game. . . . Twenty years ago post graduate football was just beginning to take its place in the nation's athletic life. . . . Today it is the fastest growing institution in professional sport. . . . On Friday the owners of the 10 National league clubs will formally elect Elmer Layden as chief executive of the organization. . . . While the game has gained widespread popularity since the late Joseph F. Carr sold the idea of a professional league to the owners of various independent teams 21 years ago it still is in its infancy. . . . Unless this department misses its guess, it will rise to almost unbelievable heights under Layden's direction. . . . All the clubs are now well financed and led by men of vision and enterprise. . . . The signing of Layden is all the evidence required to support that statement. . . . It was the greatest piece of exploitation the league has shown. . . . Layden left the most widely coveted coaching job in intercollegiate ranks to accept appointment as commissioner of professional football. . . . He wouldn't have made the move if he doubted the stability of the organization. . . . Layden's appointment has another important aspect. . . . It guarantees friendly relations between the college and professional brands. . . . Layden's long experience as a player, coach, and athletic director has given him a perfect background for his new position. . . . The league wisely has delegated to him powers never before entrusted to its chief executive. . . . He knows the problems of the athlete, the worries of a coach, the responsibilities of an owner. . . . He has had opportunity to study at close range football's leading officials. . . . He has a keen appreciation of contacts with the press, radio, and news reels. . . . Above all, he stands for integrity, without which no professional sport can long succeed.

Dizzy Dean, the Cubs' $10,000 a year pensioner, was voted the No. 1 wise cracker of the California spring baseball camps when he remarked, for publication, of course, that he wanted to pitch every day. . . . Alice Marble still has her heart set on a singing career. . . . Word has been received at Notre Dame of the death in Hawaii of Maj. Keith K. Jones, 1914 football captain and teammate of the late Knute Rockne the previous three seasons. . . . Maj. Jones was a retired army officer. . . . Every member of the Northwestern baseball team throws and bats right handed. . . . Harry Grabiner, White Sox vice president, is toying with the idea of having the team do two weeks of spring training next year in Honolulu, after which the squad would return to California for the customary exhibition games.

Ouch! A Low Punch.

Haven't heard whether Uncle Oswald, who left last week to join the army, has been made a captain or not. Suppose tho, it will take a couple of weeks, as he probably will have to work his way up from the bottom like the Roosevelt lads.

Little Towns.

Little towns, as I whizz thru
At streamlined, dizzy speed,
I often look down your little streets
And try the stories to read
Of the handful of lives that are clustered there,
For, just as in cities' vast rows,
There's been acted out down your little street
All of the drama life knows.

Little towns, as the trains whizz thru,
And never even slow down,
You may seem unimportant to them,
But you're somebody's old home town;
And I've thought as your evening lamps were lit,
Your returning folks to greet,
That all the love that a world can know
Walks down your little street!

STREPTOCOCCUS DEVELOPS AFTER ATTACK OF FLU

Sox to Leave Star Pitcher on Coast.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., April 1.—John Rigney, White Sox star who was being groomed to pitch the opening game of the season in Cleveland on April 15, was found to be suffering from a streptococcus throat infection today. He was pronounced too ill to be moved from his hotel room to a hospital.

John Rigney.

Rigney has been bedridden since last Thursday. His ailment had been diagnosed as influenza. Yesterday he was reported to be showing improvement, but he suffered a relapse during the night. Examination then revealed the presence of streptococcus.

He'll Be Left Behind.

While his condition is regarded as serious, it has not reached the alarming stage, physicians have assured Manager Jimmy Dykes. Dykes, however, has eliminated Rigney from his pitching plans for an indefinite period and announced tonight that the River Forest product would be sent back to Chicago as soon as he is able to travel.

Monty Stratton, another flu victim, will remain with Rigney when the Sox break camp here tomorrow and accompany him back to Chicago.

When Dykes heard of Rigney's condition this morning, there was a lot of excitement. He ordered Rigney to a hospital, accompanied by Stratton. The doctor advised that it would be foolhardy to slide Rigney into an ambulance for a ride thru the cool, damp air. So Dykes, not wishing to question the medical profession, acquiesced.

Fifteen Men Down.

Including Rigney and Stratton 15 members of the Sox party have been down with varying degrees of the flu since Taft Wright was stricken on March 9. Dykes, one of them, would not stay in bed for long, but continues to have a husky voice. Ted Lyons got up after two days of treatment. Club House Director Sharkey Cooledge employed his personal treatment and was moving around again in a few hours, and Trainer Doc Schacht didn't stretch out at any time except for a normal repose. The others needed professional care. Dykes declared today, after settling the Rigney matter, he would hire a hospital ward and a doctor for the duration of next year's visit.

LOUISIANA STATE RALLIES TO BEAT ILLINI IN 9TH, 6-5

Baton Rouge, La., April 1 [Special].—Louisiana State came from behind in the ninth with two runs today to defeat the University of Illinois nine, 6 to 5, and even the series. The Tigers batted Bob Ruth, sophomore Illini pitcher, off the mound in the fourth. Joe Alexander held the Tigers at bay until the ninth, altho troubled with wildness all the way. Bob Wahl and Ray Lunte led the Illinois attack with two hits each.

The Illini trailed, 3 to 0, until the fourth when Milosevich's triple, his third extra base hit of the two days play here, scored Drechsler, who had singled. Milosevich counted on Lunte's long fly. With the help of three L. S. U. errors, Illinois went ahead, 5 to 4, in the sixth. Score:

The vanguard of the delegation of 130 that is to represent Chicago at the 41st annual convention of the American Bowling congress Friday will leave today for St. Paul, the site of the ABC's annual tournament.

Chicago's representation will include Al Lea, ABC executive committeeman, and Al Sindelar, secretary of the Chicago Bowling association. S. J. Owens, also an executive committeeman, is recovering from injuries suffered recently in a traffic accident, and will not attend. The Chicagoans will make up part of the total of 1,000 delegates who are to represent a paid up ABC membership of nearly a million bowlers.

The convention will elect officers, choose the site of the 1943 tournament, discuss changes in the playing rules, and take up other legislative matters.

A number of Chicago delegates will be on teams that are to bowl in the tournament tomorrow and Friday. This group includes several Randolph league combinations, one of them the Randolph "29," captained by Peter P. Howley, one of the two men who have participated in all previous ABC tourneys.

Spotting the Pins

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The No. 1 and No. 2 teams will clash in two bowling leagues tonight and tomorrow, the Monarch Beers and Pabsts of the Classic league meeting in the feature match of that circuit's schedule tonight and the Budweisers and Laner Ebonites squaring off in the Playdium major league's big match tomorrow night.

The Pabsts have a 55-29 won and lost record in the Classic, while the Monarchs are three games back. Schlitz meets Michelob, Blatz opposes Koenig Brau, and Ambrosia meets Ruppert in other Classic matches at the Congress recreation, 31 East Congress street, at 9 o'clock tonight. The Budweisers and Laners have won 62 and lost 22 each at the Playdium, but the Buds' average of 991 pins per game gives them a four pin margin on the Laners.

An entry of 350 teams is anticipated in the Polish-American national tournament, which opens April 19 at Forest Home alleys, Milwaukee. The lists close April 13. One of those rare series was rolled by the Litsinger Motors as they won three games from Schamberger Schlitz in a North West Traveling league match. Here it is:

RUBY WHITE MAY START KENTUCKY DERBY THIS YEAR

Louisville, Ky., April 1 (AP).—Ruby White, well known turfman, probably will start the Kentucky Derby field May 3 at Churchill Downs.

William Hamilton, who has started the Derby for the last 16 years, was appointed steward for the Illinois racing commission yesterday. White has been Hamilton's assistant. He replaced Hamilton at the recent Oaklawn meeting.

DYKES TO JUGGLE BATTING ORDER IN DRIVE FOR RUNS

Kreevich to Bat 5th; Rain Prevents Sox-Cub Game.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., April 1.—Today, April Fool's day, Manager James Dykes of the White Sox began fooling around with an idea that his batting order, always important in baseball, isn't what it should be. He has a plethora of good bat swingers, but lately runs have been too scarce for comfort. So the manager, among all his other worries, has figured out that with a different alignment the hits will come at more opportune times and thereby drive more men across the plate. He may not make the experiment for a few more days.

Dykes had no chance to start his experiment today when rain kept his team and the Cubs apart in their sixth scheduled game of the spring. They were to have played in Hollywood. Both the Sox and Cubs will break camp after playing in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Mike Kreevich is the keynote in the entire plan, but last year Mike's previously outspoken bat was almost mute. Whether it is going to do a comeback will be proven only by developments.

Appling May Bat Fifth.

At present Iron Mike is batting eighth, relegated to that lowly spot because of his .265 average last season, a drop from .323 in 1939. Dykes, after looking over his hitters, has figured Kreevich the lone man for fifth place, but there is that big question of whether the able fly catcher is going to recover his hitting skill.

Among the other contemplated alterations is the boosting of Luke Appling from the fifth to the second notch. Appling is a great hitter, winning the league title in 1936 with .388, and last year coming close with .348. But while Luke hits well and gets on base frequently he doesn't drive in many runs because he is not the power type of batsman. So Dykes thinks that Appling's ability to get on base might be better exploited if he were installed in a spot where the more powerful, altho less frequent hitters, would have an opportunity to drive him home.

Kuhel to Keep No. 3 Spot.

Under the new arrangement, if it is put into operation, Catcher Mike Tresh would be restored to his one time No. 8 notch. He was promoted to No. 2 late last season, but his batting average immediately started a decline which reached an approximate 15 points by the time the race ended.

Dykes wants to keep Joe Kuhel in the third spot because he is a batting threat who might deliver anything from a good bunt to a home run. Julius Solters would remain in the cleanup notch, or No. 4. Taft Wright, also good at hoisting a ball over the wall, would continue hitting sixth if the new arrangement is tried. Bill Knickerbocker, second baseman, would remain No. 7, but there is a possibility that eventually the graduate of the Indians, Browns, and Yankees will move up if Kreevich shows his slump hasn't been shaken off.

THE GUMPS—THAT'S DIFFERENT

Conn Fools Sparmates on All Fools' Day

Billy Conn, Pittsburgh heavyweight challenger, did an excellent job of fooling his sparmates in Trafton's gymnasium on All Fools' day yesterday in preparation for a 12 round bout with Gunnar Barlund in Chicago Stadium Friday.

Conn was elusive as the proverbial will-o'-the-wisp in a four round workout against Settimo Terracina and Henry Leslie.

When the workout ended Johnny Ray, manager of Conn, said he was satisfied with Bill's condition.

He Shows Improvement.

Conn was sluggish during earlier workouts. In fact, he was so bad on one occasion that yesterday his handler thought it would be appropriate to explain the poor showing.

"Conn has reached a point where he is becoming lazy and contented," the manager said. "As a result, he has to have some one in there against him who will force the fighting or else he doesn't show any action."

In an effort to bring out the best in Billy, Ray promised sparmates double pay for their services if they pressed the former light heavyweight champion.

Rated Heavy Favorite.

Conn has been quoted as 15 to 1 favorite over Barlund by one loop betting commissioner. Al Ramo, trainer for Gunnar, laughed when he heard of the quotation. The big Finn sparred two rounds yesterday. He will box only two in his final drill this afternoon. Conn expects to finish boxing today by going another four rounds.

Principals in a 10 round semiwindup, Altus Allen and Booker Beckwith, former Golden Gloves champions, also will conclude sparring drills today. Allen bruised his knuckles in a recent workout, but the injury will not handicap him against Beckwith, his handler said last night.

Johnny Colan, middleweight stablemate of Barlund, will be trying for his 22d knockout in 34 professional matches in a six round event against Settimo Terracina. Colan, who was born 21 years ago of Italian parents, has lost only three decisions during an 18 month campaign.

Graham Shyrons Win in Final 3 Seconds, 28-27

Ed Warren's field goal in the last three seconds gave the Graham Shyrons a 28 to 27 victory over the Kayes Sports and the Pepsi-Colas defeated the Bronzeville Merchants, 30 to 25, in second round Windy City league playoff games in St. Philip gym last night. The Palmer House Panthers defeated the BBYO All-Stars, 44 to 33, in an exhibition game to open the program. Tonight the Graham Shyrons and Pepsi-Colas will meet in St. Philip gym to determine the second half championship.

Save It for the Gunnar, Billy

Billy will box Gunnar Barlund in the Stadium Friday and will meet Joe Louis for the title this summer. Miss Chandler is one of the stars of the Ice Follies in the Chicago Arena.

Avert Bowie Strike; Riders Get Insurance

Baltimore, Md., April 1 (AP).—Bowie's 11 day spring race meeting, first of the season in the east, opened dismally today with steady rain drumming from lowering skies and under the threat of a jockeys' walkout, which was subsequently averted. The inclement weather held down the opening day crowd to about 8,000. The favorites got about an even break.

One of the winning favorites was Handy Tom, a 3 year old from the estate of A. B. Letellier, which Jockey Don Meade drove to a narrow victory in the featured Bel Air purse.

Strike Is Threatened.

As the initial eight race program got underway there were reports that jockeys and exercise boys had threatened to quit unless they were covered by insurance.

General Manager Joseph A. Farrell averted a walkout by agreeing to a conference with insurance company officials, William Gillespie, secretary of the Jockey Guild, and Irving Anderson, treasurer.

The jockeys then accepted mounts for today's program.

Later, Farrell announced that the track would carry personal insurance on the boys until papers arrived from Lloyds of London, which will handle the policies. Gillespie said this was acceptable to the guild.

The policies demanded by the jockeys' guild would cover disability, hospitalization, and medical attention and a payment to the next of kin in the event of fatal injury. Exercise boys also would participate.

Other Tracks Concur.

A track spokesman said the Southern Maryland Agricultural association, which operates Bowie, never had been opposed to jockeys' insurance, but wanted some assurance that other major tracks in the state would follow suit in such a plan.

Gillespie said Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the Maryland Jockey club, told him riders would be insured at Pimlico. Maj. Goss L. Stryker, general manager at Laurel, also was reported in favor of the insurance proposal.

Cardinals Hit Hard to Beat Senators, 8-1

Orlando, Fla., April 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators by handing them an 8 to 1 defeat today and spoiling Pitcher Steve Sundra's debut.

Eleven hits and a series of errors netted the Cards seven runs during Steve's six innings, but he had the satisfaction of driving in Washington's lone run with a triple in the third inning which tied the score temporarily.

Slaughter, Cooper, and Moore hit homers for the cards. Score:

St. Louis [N.]	001	042	100	8	12	0
Washington [A.]	001	000	000	1	7	1

Batteries—Cooper, Shoun and Padgett, W. Cooper; Sundra, Beck and Evans.

RED SOX, 10; REDS, 4.

Dothan, Ala., April 1 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox hammered four Cincinnati Red pitchers for 14 hits and drew nine walks today to win, 10 to 4.

Monte Pearson, clouted for four hits and two runs in the first inning, gave way to Junior Thompson, who yielded a run in the second, retired eight men in a row, then lost control in the fifth when Boston got two more runs.

Witt Guise took over in the seventh with the score at 5 to 5 and was batted out on four hits, including Sammy Hale's two run homer. Bob Logan finished. Score:

Cincinnati [N.]	100	001	200	4	9	3
Boston [A.]	210	020	50*	10	14	1

Batteries—Pearson, Thompson, Guise, Logan and Lombardi, Baker; Wilson, Fleming and Pytlak.

GIANTS, 3; INDIANS, 1.

Decatur, Ala., April 1 (AP).—Hal Schumacher and Bill Lohrman held the Cleveland Indians to three hits today and allowed only four runners to reach first base as they pitched the New York Giants to a 3 to 1 victory. Schumacher, idle since March 12 because of his father's death, pitched the first six innings and was touched for all three hits and the lone Cleveland run in the fifth.

The Giants, held scoreless by Mel Harder for seven frames, went ahead when Morrie Arnovich hit a homer off Nate Andrews in the eighth. Score:

New York [N.]	000	000	021	3	12	1
Cleveland [A.]	000	010	000	1	3	1

Batteries—Schumacher, Lohrman and O'Dea; Harder, Andrews, Heving and Desautels.

YANKEES, 5; DALLAS, 2.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 1 (AP).—The New York Yankees went on another slugging spree behind Marius Russo's pitching today to defeat the Dallas Rebels of the Texas league, 5 to 2. Russo was the first Yankee pitcher to go seven innings this spring, and he gave only four hits and two walks.

A homer by Gerry Priddy with one on in the second inning started the Yanks' scoring. They collected 12 hits, three each by Frank Crosetti and Joe Gordon. Crosetti played short because Phil Rizzuto was nursing a charley horse. Score:

New York [A.]	031	000	100	5	12	1
Dallas [T. L.]	001	000	100	2	5	1

TIGERS, 7; LOUISVILLE, 6.

Lakeland, Fla., April 1 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers defeated the Louisville Colonels of the American association today, 7 to 6, in 10 innings. Star of the Tiger attack was Rookie Catcher Dixie Parsons, who has been in camp less than a week. He hit a home run and a double, batted in two runs and scored two, crossing the plate in the 10th to give Rookie Hal White a decision over Wilfred Lefebvre, Colonels' southpaw. Parsons was pressed for honors by First Baseman Rudy York, whose three hits included a 400 foot homer. Score:

French Lick Springs, Ind., April 1 [Special].—Three former titleholders and the defending champion will lead the assault on par this weekend in the 10th annual Midwest amateur golf tournament, to be played here. The 54 hole medal tourney will keep the golfers busy Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

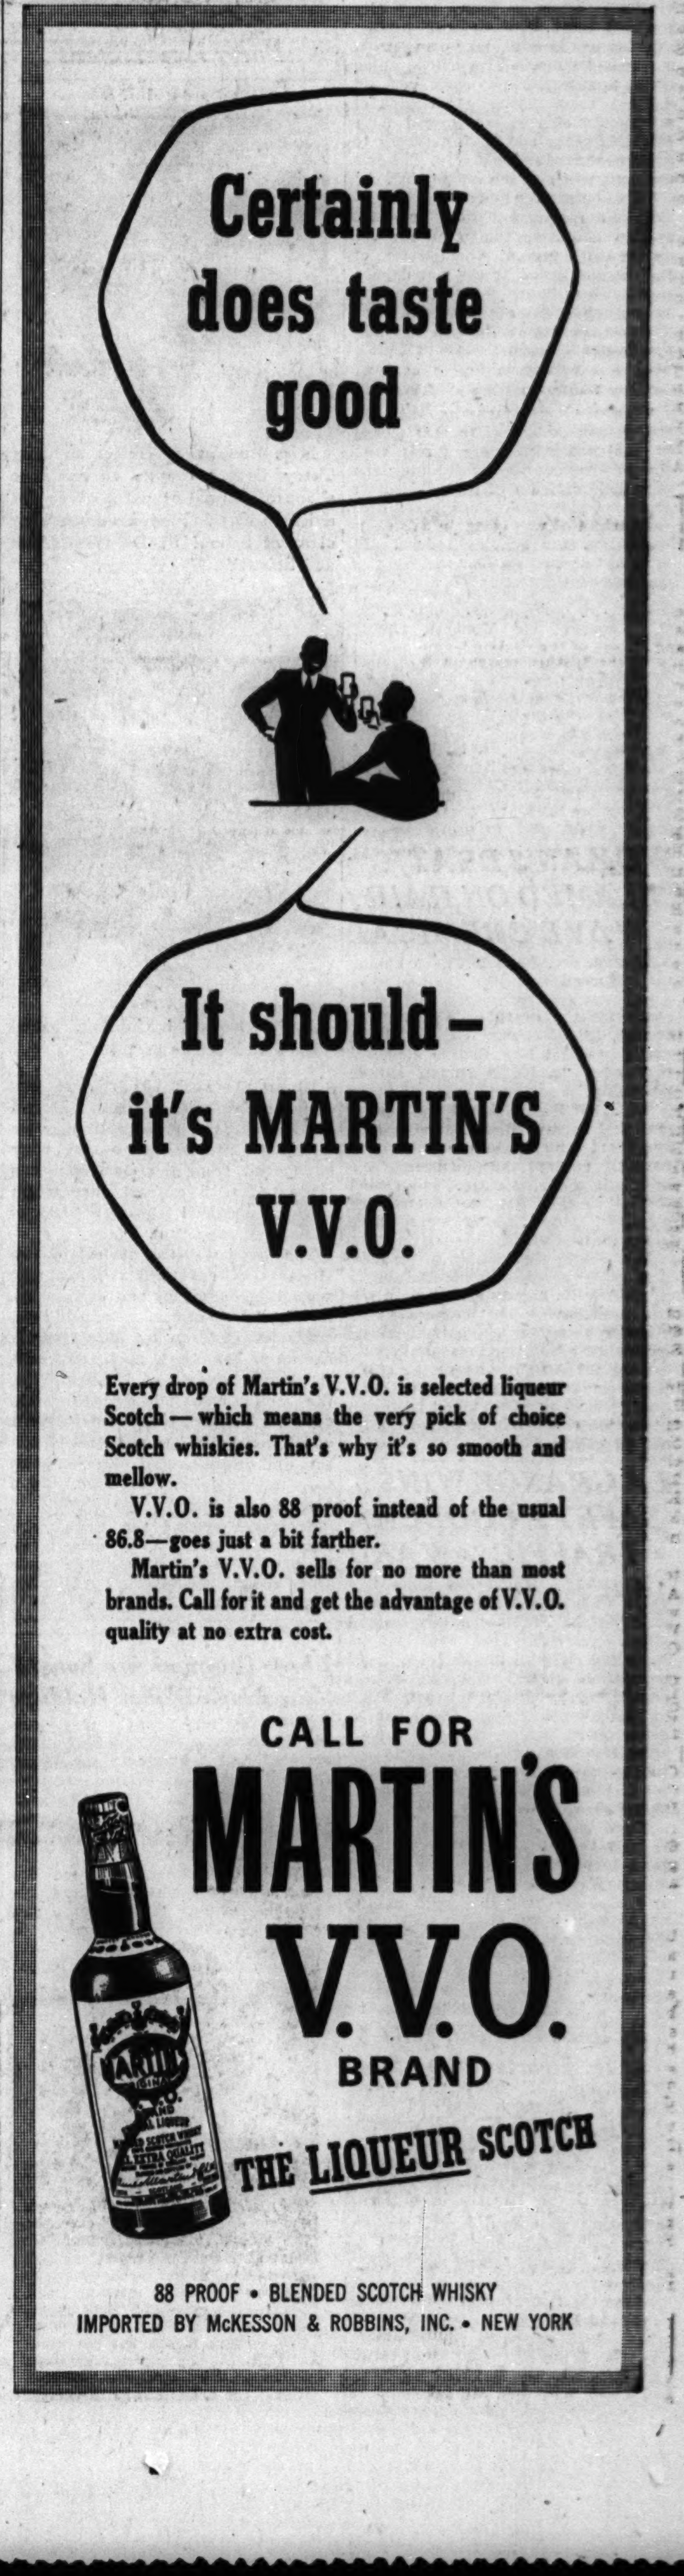
Charles [Chick] Evans of Chicago and Gus Moreland, sharpshooter from Peoria, have won the French Lick tourney twice each while the names of Jack Hoerner of Chicago and Gus Novotny, defending champion and former Chicagoan who now resides in Memphis, are listed once on the Thomas D. Taggart trophy.

GARY TO HOLD PREP MEET ON MIDWAY TODAY

A capable team from Horace Mann High school is regarded as a serious threat to Froebel High school's three year domination in the Gary city indoor meet which will begin this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the University of Chicago fieldhouse. More than 125 athletes representing the five Gary high schools will compete.

Bob Carr, Mann's Indiana state prep titleholder, has cleared 12 feet 2 inches in vaulting this season, and Bill Clifford, who also will assist Mann's title try, is expected to run away with the sprint on the basis of the 0:06.5 he made in last week's meeting at South Bend.

Froebel's squad will be led in its title defense by Davage Minor, high jumper, who has gone 6 feet 3½ inches this year. Besides Mann and Froebel, the other teams entered are Emerson, Wallace, and Tolleston High schools.



U. S. WON'T GRANT DEFENSE MONEY TO CONGRESS ST.

Route Is Not Qualified as Needed Road.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—H. S. Fairbank, chief engineer of the Federal Road administration, today said the Congress street superparkway, as promoted by a pressure group in Chicago, could not qualify for national preparedness money.

"For this money to be assigned to a major highway project," he said, "there must be a definite showing that the pavement is needed for preparedness purposes."

The engineer said that the Michigan highway commission has made such a showing for 13 miles of superhighway, mainly elevated, between the Ford and Packard plants in Detroit. The construction is estimated to cost 44 million dollars. In New York, he said, such a showing has been made for a superhighway to serve the Brooklyn navy yard.

Chicago Area May Qualify.

"Yes," Mr. Fairbank replied to a question, "the Chicago area is receiving large armament contracts for which better motor transportation might be needed. Plant managements or public officials should appeal for defense road money to the Office of Production Management headed by William S. Knudsen.

"There won't be many large city projects built with defense money. Pending in the budgetary commission is a recommendation for a 150 million dollar appropriation to start work on military roads. These will consist of pavements serving army and navy establishments and giving access to armament production plants. The government will pay the entire cost.

"Also before the budgetary commission is a recommendation for a 100 million dollar appropriation for use on the 75,000 mile strategic system of highways selected by the war department. This money would be apportioned among the states on the same basis as the regular federal highway aid. [Illinois would get about $4,167,000.]

May Share on Rights of Way.

"We are recommending that the 100 million dollars of federal money be matched with state funds with the government paying the long end of a 60-40 division of costs. Also we are proposing that the government share right of way costs on this same basis. On the regular federal aid, local authorities furnish the right of way and construction costs are shared 50-50."

Illinois has approximately 1,950 miles on the war department's so-called strategic system. As designated by the army, the routes are lines between terminals, rather than attempting to indicate the existing roads which would be followed. From Chicago are routes to St. Louis, to Milwaukee, to Madison, to Savanna, to Rock Island and to Cairo. Across Indiana from Chicago are routes to Detroit, Toledo, and Indianapolis.

WOMAN'S DEATH BLAMED ON HAIR WAVE CHEMICAL

Atlanta, Ga., April 1 (AP).—A chemical absorbed thru the scalp during a hair waving treatment was blamed today for the death of Agnes Scott Searcy, 39, of Griffin, Ga. A death certificate said Mrs. Searcy died primarily of "acute hydrogen sulfide poisoning."

Dr. Allen Bunce signed the certificate and submitted with it an autopsy report which said the poison apparently entered the blood thru several lesions on the scalp. The report said it could not be determined whether these lesions were there prior to treatment.

Mrs. Searcy died within a few minutes after being stricken March 19 in an Atlanta beauty shop where she had been having her hair waved by a heatless method which includes injection of a solution beneath a rubber cap fitted tightly about the scalp. Beauticians here said the preparation used was one that had been employed on thousands of persons without ill effects.

LA GRANGE WINS SAFETY COUNCIL TRAFFIC AWARD

La Grange, which has gone two years without a traffic fatality, was awarded the National Safety council award yesterday for 1940 among American cities in the 10,000 to 25,000 population group. Oak Park was second in the group between 50,000 and 100,000 population. Other nearby communities which received awards were Fort Wayne, Ind., third in the 100,000 to 250,000 group, and Fond du Lac, Wis., third in the 25,000 to 50,000 group.

Washington, D. C., was rated in traffic safety among cities of more than 500,000, but the council's grand award was shared by Dallas, Tex., and Kansas City, Mo., both in the 250,000 to 500,000 class, which were adjudged to have effected the greatest reduction in traffic deaths of all cities. Connecticut won the award for states.

City Runs Into Difficulty in Its Efforts to Buy Steel

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt disclosed yesterday that the city is having difficulty purchasing steel for its warehouse supply. He said that on March 26 the major steel companies were asked to bid on approximately 324 tons of miscellaneous structural steel. No bids were received, and Hewitt said he learned verbally that no delivery date could be promised by the steel concerns. He asked for delivery within 180 days.

Nursery school children at the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences, 350 Belden avenue, were slightly bewildered yesterday when they were summoned from the classroom and presented with a feast that might have been copied from the pages of Alice in Wonderland.

The party was the project of two students of advanced cooking who specialized in menus and decorations for special occasions. Planned especially for children by Miss Beverly Nelson of Frankfort, Mich., and Miss Rosemary Wiemer of Phillips, Wis., the menu included fruit juice, creamed chicken, baked potato boats which boasted masts and sails of carrots and cream cheese, buttered peas, toast strips, milk, ice cream, and a Noah's ark cake.

Scattered around the Noah's ark cake, which served as a center piece, were numerous, tiny animals made from fruits, vegetables, hard boiled eggs, and olives.

Three Gunmen Are Sought in Truck Driver Holdups

Police last night sought three gunmen who have been robbing truck drivers. Latest victims were Robert Gurgel, 9748 Genoa avenue, who was robbed of $40 at Troy and 66th street; Peter Bonnema, 6740 South Racine avenue, who lost $20 at Damen avenue and Garfield boulevard, and Stanley Toplaski, 4002 Archer avenue, who was robbed of $10 at 58th street and Campbell avenue. The victims said the gunmen tried unsuccessfully to rifle the safes carried in the trucks, in which the drivers deposit collections.

FLAT TIRE STORY FALLS THAT WAY IN SAFETY COURT

E. H. Minor, an automobile salesman, 4628 Drexel boulevard, was grieved yesterday when he was arraigned in Judge Charles S. Dougherty's Safety court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He said he hadn't had a drink since "Lucky" Baldwin, the evangelist, reformed him 10 years ago.

Police said Minor ran into a light post Monday at 43d street and South Park way and had been drinking. Minor said: Two Negroes fixed a flat tire for him. He went into a tavern for change with which to pay them. On returning he found a strange Negro couple in the car. They poured something he thought was chloroform down his throat, [apparently when he opened his mouth in surprise], and robbed him. When arrested he was still suffering from the forced drink.

"I think you're romancing," Judge Dougherty said. "Ten days in the County jail and 30 days' suspension of driving privilege."

Also sentenced were Matt Balczun, 3663 South Marshfield avenue, 60 days each on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, to run concurrently, and one year's suspension, and Rudy Pitte, 3952 16th street, reckless driving, 5 days and 30 days' suspension.

DRIVER IS KILLED AS TRUCK SKIDS AND HITS FENCE

Reginald B. Ford, 53 years old, a salesman living at 5443 North Sawyer avenue, was killed yesterday when the truck he was driving skidded off the road and struck a fence on United States route 330, six miles west of St. Charles.

Fred Bodemer, 65, of 4120 North Drake avenue, a printer, died in Martha Washington hospital of injuries received Monday at Irving Park road and Drake avenue when he was struck by a car driven by Robert Rutzen, 3838 North Sacramento avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 202 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic accidents since Jan. 1. Of these, 153 were killed in Chicago, where 5,244 were injured during the same period.

U. OF I. TRUSTEES TO FIGHT SLASH IN 2 YEAR BUDGET

Trustees of the University of Illinois decided yesterday to insist that the state burgetary commission grant their request for an appropriation of $18,455,175 for the biennium beginning July 1. The trustees met in the Blackstone hotel.

The requested budget was submitted to the commission in Springfield last month. It represents an increase of $1,323,640 over the present biennium. The budgetary commission asked the trustees to reduce the request.

"We feel this is a minimum budget and should not be cut," said James M. Cleary, president of the board. "We are going to ask the budgetary commission for another hearing."

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others may! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing often can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT CLEANS, PURIFIES LIKE MAGIC

Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes — Rinse —and it's ready to use!

Prevents "Denture Breath"

EDISON OUTLINES NEW EXPANSION OF 120 MILLIONS

Firm's Contribution to Arms Drive.

The Commonwealth Edison company contemplates a three year construction program of $120,000,000 to provide for emergency and normal needs, Charles Y. Freeman, chairman, told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday. About one-third will be for additional electric generating capacity, he said.

Charles Y. Freeman.

The company had laid out a $100,000,000 program for 1940 thru 1942, and of this $36,500,000 was spent last year. Under the new plan, the remaining $63,500,000 has been expanded to $80,000,000 for 1941 and 1942, and $40,000,000 has been added for 1943.

"We have advanced our construction work so as to have what we believe will be sufficient generating capacity to meet the requirements of such of the armament work as is estimated will be centered in this area," Freeman said.

May Make Further Increase.

"It is even possible that our continuing studies and the influence of developments before the year is out may indicate the need of additional power projects."

Miscellaneous military orders boosted industrial activities in the utility system's territory last year, Freeman said, altho operations had not yet begun on any sizable munitions contracts in the area.

Orders for miscellaneous military supplies have increased this year, he said, and, beginning with the Kankakee, Ill., and Elwood, Ind., ordnance units in the territory served by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, announcements have been made of large projects in this area for the manufacture of armaments exclusively. Public Service is a unit in the Edison system.

"The six large projects so far announced," Freeman said, "will place upon our lines a load of approximately 58,000 kilowatts."

Risks Idle Plant Capacity.

The Edison organization is "thoroly alive" to the prospects of further expansion of such works and to its "obligation to have available an adequate supply of electric power—even at the risk of having surplus idle capacity when the emergency is over," he declared. "That is our contribution to national security."

The chairman reiterated that present plans contemplate installation of additional facilities without the necessity of further financing.

The expansion program, which includes a new topping unit of 12,500 kilowatts at the Aurora station in 1942, will make available during the three years thru 1943 a total of 466,000 kilowatts of additional capacity, Freeman said. During the last five years, more than 340,000 kilowatts of generating capacity have been installed or modernized, so that the whole project will result in about 800,000 kilowatts of new or modernized units.

Power Sales Set Record.

Sales of kilowatt hours for January and February made new records for those months, showing a combined gain of 7 per cent over last year, he said. Electric revenues were almost 6 per cent larger.

"The outcome for 1941 is, of course, unpredictable," he asserted. "To what extent increases in revenues will be offset by the effect of taxes and greater operating expensese cannot be foreseen."

Answering a question of a stockholder, Freeman indicated that no change is in prospect at present for the current dividend rate of 45 cents quarterly.

All directors were reëlected, with 9,480,026 shares, or 74.5 per cent of the 12,717,088 outstanding, represented at the meeting, 9,344,734 by proxy.

Consolidated net income of Commonwealth Edison in 1940, as reported previously, was $29,170,756, compared with $25,414,590 in 1939.

Canadian Dollar Rises 2½ Cents to Six Months' Peak

The Canadian dollar rose more than 2⅛ cents to 87.75 cents in the "free" foreign exchange market yesterday, the highest level since last September. The rise reflected reports that an agreement is being considered by the United States and Canada whereby the Dominion dollar would be accepted at par. The Candian unit closed at 87.88 cents, up 2¼ cents from Monday's final quotation.

Boosts in Oil Prices Spread to New Fields

A general firming of the petroleum market, as reflected in a spread of crude oil price increases to fields in several states, was hailed by oil men in Illinois yesterday as a good sign for the entire industry.

More companies announced boosts of 5 cents a barrel or more in the prices they pay for crude oil, stepping into line with Humble Oil and Refining company, which blazed the way last week by posting increases ranging as high as 11 cents.

The Associated Press estimated that the price increases affected two-thirds of the national crude oil output and added possibly $150,000 a day to income of producers in seven states.

Indications of a rise in prices of refined products appeared when dealer or consumer prices of gasoline were ordered advanced by two companies, with one action affecting New York City and the other applying to parts of Ohio.

Arms Demands a Factor.

Oil men said that one of the influences at work on prices is a rising demand for oil products from industries at work on armament contracts. Industries catering to civilian needs also are requiring more oil products, it was said. Direct army and navy purchases were considered of minor importance as a price hardening factor.

Pure Oil company, Chicago, big producer and refiner which has extensive interests in southern Illinois and buys some oil from other producers in the area, raised its buying price 5 cents a barrel on oil from Illinois, Michigan, Ohio [Corning grade], Oklahoma, and parts of Texas. The top Illinois buying price was raised to $1.20.

Texas company, a big buyer of Illinois crude, followed Pure Oil's action by announcing a still larger increase —7 cents—for the Illinois area. Carter company, another major purchaser in Illinois, announced a 5 cent increase.

Others Advance Prices.

Another increase affecting Illinois directly had been made on Monday by Sohio corporation, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of Ohio. Sohio raised its price on Illinois and Indiana crude to $1.20 a barrel from $1.15.

Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday advanced its prices for crude oil thruout Oklahoma and Kansas by 5 cents a barrel, to a top of $1.15. Stanolind Oil Purchasing company, a subsidiary, raised its price 5 cents in north Texas, and made other increases ranging from 2 to 10 cents on the gulf coast. Skelly Oil company met the increase in Kansas.

Socony-Vacuum Oil company announced a 0.4 cent a gallon increase in its dealer gasoline price for Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, and the Bronx.

Today Sohio's dealer and consumer gasoline prices in parts of Ohio will be raised ½ cent a gallon.

MEETING CALLED ON PLAN TO SHIFT EXCHANGE RULE

New York, April 1 (AP).—Wall street's first families—the members of the New York Stock exchange—were called today to decide whether they shall give out-of-towners direction of their "policy-making."

The members were asked to assemble Thursday afternoon, when the bell rings to close the day's trading, and discuss on the floor of the exchange itself, a plan to remove control of the governing board from the hands of denizens of New York's financial district.

The proposal is known as the "Bradford plan" because of its sponsor, J. C. Bradford of Nashville, Tenn. He suggested that if the majority of governors came from outside Manhattan Island, many "prejudices" around the country against stock trading would be overcome. A. W. Mansfield of Chicago is chairman of the group supporting the plan.

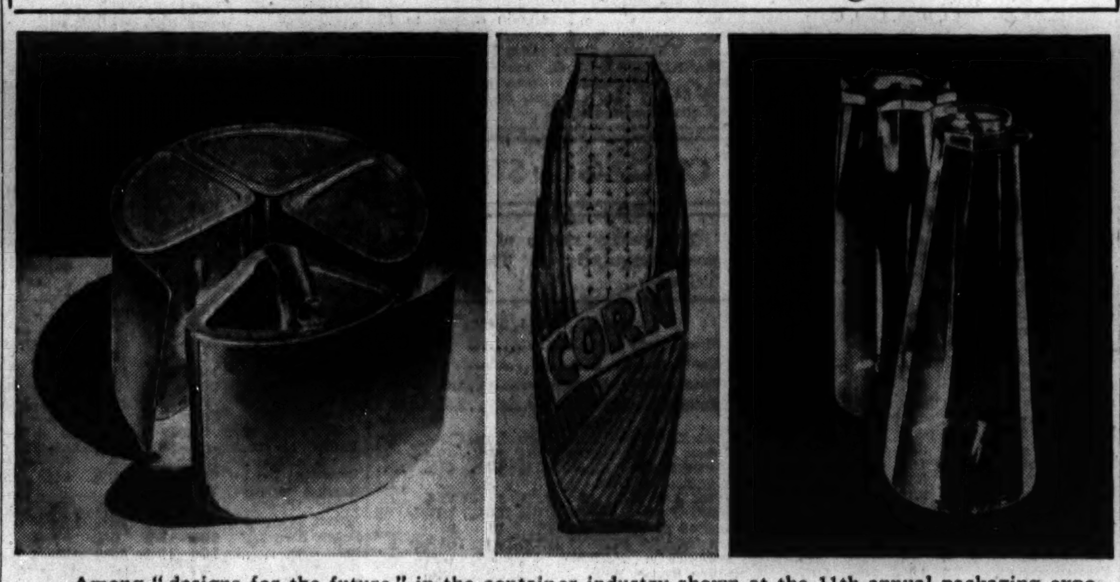
Preview of Future Container Designs



Among "designs for the future" in the container industry shown at the 11th annual packaging exposition at the Stevens hotel are (left to right) the "quadri-can," a metal container in which the house wife can purchase the complete dinner and prepare by placing the can in boiling water; a transparent plastic ear of corn for canned corn, and a plastic milk bottle equipped with metal cap and pouring spout.

Federal Metal Rule Is Cause of Confusion

How waste material dealers and smelters have felt the impact of government control over prices of aluminum and zinc scrap was told yesterday by scrap metal dealers and smelters in the Chicago area.

Emphasizing the wide-spread confusion caused by price fixing for these two scrap metals, most dealers reported that they were awaiting clarification from government officials on the proper procedure for handling orders. Those interviewed believed that it would be at least two weeks before the government could iron out all the difficulties to assure a ready movement of the scrap.

Altho aluminum scrap prices were set more than a week ago, several Chicago smelters of nonferrous metals said they they had been unable to obtain supplies of the scrap at the new prices.

Consider Copper Control.

Meanwhile, it was reported that the movement of copper and brass scrap had been accelerated during the last week because of indications from the government that these markets may be subjected to price "stabilization." Dealers in these metals are to meet officials in Washington, D. C., today to discuss the outlook of the copper and brass market.

George Birkenstein, president of the George Birkenstein corporation, dealer in nonferrous metals, disclosed the extent of confusion among scrap metal dealers over the price schedules.

"So far they have done nothing but add confusion to the existing situation," he said. "No one knows whether present orders are any good. Most of us have a lot of material purchased in scrap, but against that we have a lot of commitments."

Dealer Freeze Out Possible.

He expressed the belief that the new price schedules may freeze out the large dealers. These dealers, he explained, purchase small lots of scrap metal from small dealers, bulk these lots, and in turn sell to the smelters. This procedure, Birkenstein said, affords smelters the opportunity to obtain their supplies thru one transaction instead of incurring the expense of making a number of small purchases.

Birkenstein reported that the present price schedule for aluminum scrap permits only a small profit provision for such dealers, and no such provision was made in the zinc scrap schedule.

"The large dealer has been the one who encouraged the movement of scrap metals because it is to his advantage to have a big turnover," Birkenstein said. "If the large dealer were eliminated, part of the natural incentive for a ready movement of scrap would disappear."

Unable to Buy at New Level.

William Glassenberg, head of the purchasing department of R. Lavin & Sons, Inc., smelters, said that the company had not been able to purchase aluminum at the new prices. He also said that the large dealer may be forced out of the field if no provisions are made in the price schedules for these dealers.

An official of L. S. Cohen & Co., smelter and refiner, reported that in some instances the smelters were being "short circuited" in aluminum scrap, because dealers were selling directly to foundries who wished to avoid the federal priority rules. He explained that policing of this "bootleg" procedure was more difficult on foundries because these establishments were more numerous than smelters.

People and Events

Three employés of Marshall Field & Co. are marking their 50th anniversary with the firm. They are Edward Meier, manager of the credit division; George Freisinger, manager of the shirt manufacturing service, and Louis Martens, salesman.

T. R. Johnson has been named sales manager of the Keystone Asphalt Products company, newly formed division of Chicago of the American-Marietta company.

The Santa Fe system yesterday announced the appointments of James J. Grogan as general freight traffic manager and J. P. Reinhold as special representative of the president. Both will have headquarters in Chicago.

Joseph A. Stary Jr., head of the Marquette Dairy company, has been elected president of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., a trade organization of Chicago area dealers.

PLASTIC DESIGNS DETIN THE CAN AS FOOD CONTAINER

Some Are Shaped Like Grower's Product.

A preview of what the American housewife may see in the future when she makes her daily trip to the grocery store is shown at the 11th annual packaging exposition which opened yesterday in the Stevens hotel.

In a series of designs created by members of the Society of Designers for Industry, plastics stand out as a substitute material that may detin the can as the major container for canned fruits and vegetables. Plastics also are used for other containers.

Shaped Like Food Product.

Instead of buying corn in a tin can, the housewife probably will find this vegetable on the grocer's counter in transparent plastic containers shaped exactly like ears of corn. Other vegetables and fruits, such as apples, tomatoes, and pears, also may be packed in similar containers representative of the original product.

The designs for future containers include a plastic milk bottle, equipped with metal caps and pouring spouts. Among other probable uses of plastics in the container industry are pocket and purse medicine bottles protected with a nonbreakable plastic case, and a plastic thread dispensing package for the seamstress.

Then There's the Quadri-Can.

To simplify the menu problem, the housewife may find the right answer in the "quadri-can," a metal container divided into compartments for various parts of the meal. By heating this can in boiling water, the food is ready for serving.

The exposition, sponsored by the American Management association, will continue thru Friday. A conference on technical subjects in the container industry is being held in connection with the exposition.

8 ILLINOIS FIRMS GET $30,909 IN ARMS CONTRACTS

Award of eight small orders totaling $30,909 to companies in Illinois was announced yesterday by the government.

Chicago companies receiving war department orders were: Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons, Inc., steel, $1,343; Crucible Steel Company of America, drill rods, $3,717; Earle Hart Wood Working Machine company, rip saws, $2,172; Lindberg Engineering company, furnaces, $3,690, and Quality Hardware and Machine corporation, humidifying systems, $2,886.

The army also awarded Barber-Coleman company, Rockford, a $5,007 order for tools, and Mutual Wheel company, Moline, a contract to supply $1,008 of cables and conduits. The navy ordered $11,086 of Diesel engines from Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria.

Slum Bill Aid by Legislative Unit Predicted

BY THOMAS FURLONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—A favorable report on the slum reconstruction measure pending before the legislature was indicated tonight as a subcommittee prepared to submit its final recommendation a week hence.

The subcommittee, headed by Representative Arthur W. Sprague [R., La Grange], met in evening session to hear final arguments on the proposed legislation and to consider some technical amendments suggested by the Chicago Plan commission. After hearing T. T. McCrosky, executive director of the commission, explain the proposed amendments, the committee adjourned until next Tuesday, when it will make its final report.

Predict Passage Recommendation.

Committee members predicted that the measure, known as the neighborhood redevelopment corporation bill, will be recommended for passage to the house judiciary committee. The first hearing on the measure was held March 18 before the full judiciary committee, at which time it was referred to a subcommittee for further consideration.

Under one amendment proposed by the commission a slum redevelopment corporation organized under the act would be permitted to proceed with condemnation proceedings after acquiring 51 per cent of the property needed for its project. As now written the bill provides that a corporation must acquire 60 per cent of the proposed site before starting condemnation.

Would Clarify Commission Duties.

A second proposed amendment would clarify and make more specific the duties of the plan commission under the act. Officials of the Chicago Building congress, which is sponsoring the measure, said that the amendments would strengthen the bill.

Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago], a member of the subcommittee, said he had discussed with proponents of the measure a further amendment to protect residents in the colored communities in Chicago. The amendment provides that no development plan under the bill would be used to displace the predominant racial group living in the area. Jenkins heretofore has been critical of the measure, but indicated he would withdraw his opposition if such an amendment could be agreed upon.

MARCH BUILDING IN CHICAGO SETS PEAK SINCE 1931

Building in Chicago last month was the most active of any March since 1931, Commissioner Richard E. Schmidt said yesterday. It also was the largest total of any month so far this year.

Permits issued totaled 372, for buildings valued at $3,422,957. A total of 300 permits, valued at $3,008,789 was issued for the same month last year, and 262 permits, totaling $2,179,080, during February of this year.

Metropolitan Trust Adds $100,000 to Surplus Fund

Directors of the Metropolitan Trust company yesterday transferred $100,000 from undivided profits to surplus, raising the surplus account to $500,000. By this action the company became a $1,000,000 institution, as it has $500,000 in capital.

Consolidated net income for the year totaled $44,146,297, equal to $25.12 a share, compared with $36,633,389, or $19.77 a share, in 1939.

Deliveries Up 27 Per Cent.

The report showed that 1940 deliveries topped the 1939 volume by 27 per cent, employment rose 38 per cent, and pay rolls were up 42 per cent. In December, the company had 42,941 employés on its pay rolls. Production was 26 per cent above 1939.

The tax bill, including federal, state, and local levies, amounted to $37,772,000, compared with $14,723,000 in 1939.

"During 1940, the requirements of the national armament program were given precedence over all considerations, and the management has coöperated as fully as possible with the government in endeavoring to meet those requirements," the report said. "A result of this policy is that the company's expansion program, begun in 1939, has been greatly augmented."

150 Millior Expansion.

The company's expansion program to meet the armament emergency involves capital expenditures of more than $150,000,000, the report disclosed.

"The employment for national armament of a large percentage of the present aluminum production necessarily reduces the amount of aluminum available for civilian uses, creating an important situation in civilian markets," Davis and Hunt said. "Every effort, however, is being made to alleviate this situation."

Net income of the Continental Oil company in 1940 declined to $4,317,658, equal to 92 cents a share, from $6,304,504, or $1.35 a share, in 1939, Dan Moran, president, announced.

"Costs, including the cost of merchandise sold and operating and administrative expenses, totaled $60,683,758 and were $2,072,054, or 3.54 per cent larger than in 1939," Moran said.

Ingersoll-Rand Net Rises.

Ingersoll-Rand company, manufacturer of industrial machinery, and domestic subsidiaries reported 1940 net income of $6,999,390, equal to $7.03 a share. In 1939 the company and wholly owned subsidiaries had net income of $6,010,594, or $6.01 a share. The 1940 report included only dividends from foreign subsidiaries that have actually been received.

North American Aviation, Inc., manufacturer of military aircraft, reported 1940 net income of $7,090,336, equal to $2.06 a share, against $7,088,092, or $2.06 a share, in 1939.

Fairchild Aviation corporation, maker of precision instruments and conductors of aerial surveys, had net income of $648,698, equal to $1.92 a share, in 1940, compared with $422,740, or $1.25 a share, in 1939.

Buying by U. S. Brings Big Egg Price Runup

In its efforts to obtain eggs, supposedly for Britain, the government has been forced to raise its prices at country points in Illinois, 4 to 4½ cents a dozen in the last two weeks, it was disclosed yesterday. Traders said the boost in prices would be quickly reflected in retail markets. The season of peak producition is at hand and prices normally should be declining.

Almost half of the eggs purchased by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, government buying agency, in its most recent operations, came from Illinois points. Market observers said that the agency must be encountering some difficulty in getting supplies, as evidenced by the disparity in paying prices.

Federal Buying Prices.

These prices, per dozen, yesterday were [a case is 30 dozen]:

1,200 cases No. 1 extras	23½c
2,000 cases No. 2 extras	22⅝@23½c
1,200 cases No. 3 extras	23⅛@23¾c
1,200 cases No. 4 extras	23½c

These prices show the agency apparently had to pay as much for the poorest quality purchased as for the best; it had to pay more for its third grades than for the best.

With 23½ cents a dozen as the average price paid yesterday by the government and 22½ cents the Chicago wholesale price for best quality eggs as quoted on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, traders predicted a sharp rise in wholesale prices today. The rise didn't occur yesterday because the agency did not announce its purchases until after the markets were closed.

Bought 175 Car Loads.

Since the middle of March when the FSCC first started buying on direct offers from country points, it has purchased 70,000 cases of eggs, or 175 full railroad freight cars. On purchases March 15, the agency paid 19 to 19½ cents a dozen for third grade eggs, but yesterday it had lifted its buying levels for this grade from 23½ to 23¾ cents.

Traders in egg and butter futures accepted the government's warning that British food purchases recently had been overestimated as bearish and permitted prices to drop. The November butter contract fell more than 1¼ cents a pound to 33.90 cents. The October egg future contract slipped as much as a cent a dozen and closed at 23.30 cents.

QUARTER OPENS WITHOUT CHANGE IN STEEL PRICES

The second quarter opened yesterday without the customary announcement of a steel price schedule by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation. Since none of the other producers announced changes, first quarter prices will prevail, temporarily at least.

Carnegie-Illinois is negotiating with the CIO steel workers union over demand for a wage increase. It was impossible to announce a price schedule until the wage question was settled, officials said.

Meanwhile the steel industry is operating at virtual capacity, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimating this week's rate at 99.2 per cent.

Steel Industry Employment Equals Record in February

New York, April 1 [Special].—Employment by the steel industry rose during February to equal the highest figure ever recorded, exceeding 603,000, the American Iron and Steel Institute announced today. This employment equals the peaks established in August and September, 1937, and compares with 598,000 in January, 1941, and 538,000 in February, 1940.

COUNTY'S AUTO SALES SURPASS ALL OLD PEAKS

'Prosperity' Record of 1929 Falls.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Automobile sales reached an all-time high in Cook county in March, it was disclosed yesterday in a compilation based on reports to the Bureau of Motor Advice. New car buyers in the county took 16,214 automobiles thru March 28—the last day for which returns were in—indicating that the total for the full month will approximate 18,000.

The previous record was established in July, 1929, when boomtime prosperity stimulated the purchase of 14,964 new cars. The second best month was April, 1940, with a total of 14,881. For all of March, 1940, sales totaled 11,643. The February, 1941, total was 11,673.

Ordinarily April is a better sales month tnan March, indicating that an exceptionally high volume may be expected this month.

Factors Causing Increase.

A number of factors are causing the unusually large business this year. First is the fear on the part of the public that prices of new cars may be advanced because of rising labor and material costs and tax boosts to pay for the mounting arms expenditure.

Second is the public fear that the future may bring some sort of control over automobile production to conserve materials used in rearmament.

For the most part there were only moderate increases in prices of 1941 models as compared with the 1940 cars and in one or two instances there were reductions. Manufacturers have said that they cannot tell about the 1942 cars or price schedules until they are closer to the production period, probably late summer or early autumn. Thus far the tax matter has not come up.

Ample Steel Supplies.

Meantime, it is stated in the industry that there should be ample supplies of steel to take care of both new production and arms needs. However, the manufacturers are moving to provide substitutes for such materials as aluminum, zinc, and nickel, which are used in large amounts in rearmament.

One question agitating the industry is that concerned with labor—the possibility that many of the workers in the assembly plants may be turned from the making of automobiles to the production of armaments.

An Answer to Investors Who Ask
"How Small is a Small Account?"

These messages to the investing public have repeatedly stated that we welcome small accounts. The response has been gratifying, but we feel that an even more explicit statement on the subject would be of benefit to all concerned. To those investors who would like to know exactly how small are the accounts on our books, we cite the following interesting statistics:

We have a total of 8,000 margin accounts (securities) with an aggregate debit balance of $31,000,000. But - of these 8,000 accounts more than half have debit balances under $1,000! 2,650 are in the $1,000 - $5,000 class; 890 in the $5,000 - $25,000 group; and only 175 are over $25,000. It must be apparent at a glance that the volume represented by the large number of small accounts is as important to us as that of the small number of large accounts.

Our interest rates on debit balances are extremely low; we have no service charges of any kind. As a customer you will have at your disposal all our facilities, including one of the largest and most highly trained research departments for investigating and analyzing the facts about securities.

Won't you write us, or better yet, visit our offices for an informal discussion of your investment problems? No obligation, of course. I personally will be glad to give you all the time you need.

Sincerely yours,

ANOTHER SHORT RALLYING STEP TAKEN BY STOCKS

Canadian Issues Advance on Currency Plan.

New York, April 1 (AP).—The stock market today took another short step on the rallying trail. Altho gains for leaders were confined to small fractions and minor declines were well distributed at the close, a number of specialties, including Canadian securities, were pushed up 1 to more than 4 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues held a net advance of .1 of a point at 41.6. Transfers were 433,730 shares, compared with 435,610 yesterday.

Canadian stocks and bonds were given a lift on reports the dominion was considering an exchange agreement that would put its currency at parity with the dollar.

Membership Values Tumble.

Sale of a stock exchange membership for $22,000, off $3,000 from a previous transaction at a new bottom since 1898, was far from pleasing to the financial district.

Announcement the British had liquidated further large blocks of American securities in March was viewed as encouraging. After today's close underwriters offered 186,183 shares of National Dairy Products over the counter at the final listed price of 13⅝. It was off ⅜ on the day. The stock was said to have come from British sources.

Canadian Pacific was one of the fastest movers, up ⅜ at 4¼, a new 1941 peak. Other highs were posted for International Nickel, McIntyre Porcupine, and Chicago Great Western preferred.

CHICAGO PRICES UNEVEN.

Prices continued their uneven trend on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, but volume increased to 18,000 shares from 16,000 on Monday. Of the 94 active issues, 31 advanced, 26 declined, and 37 were unchanged. Commonwealth Edison, which led the list with a turnover of 1,900 shares, dropped ⅛ to 28⅜. Trading 2 to 3 o'clock was the largest of any hour of the day.

A comparison of several dually listed stocks, showing Chicago's changes in the hour after the New York close, follows:

	N.Y.	Chgo.	Chge.
Commonwealth Edison	28¼	28⅜+	⅛
Consolidated Oil	5½	5⅜−	⅛
Houdaille Hershey B.	11⅛	11¼+	⅛
Libby	5⅝	5½−	⅛

GRAIN FUTURES FORCED LOWER BY PROFIT TAKING

Grain markets felt the weight of profit taking yesterday. Altho several rallies were attempted, each upturn brought additional selling, prices declined and closing trades were about the lowest of the day.

Wheat futures were 1⅛ to 1⅝ cents lower, the latter on May which was off about 3 cents from the high on Monday. Corn finished ⅝ to 1 cent lower, and oats and rye lost ⅜ to ⅝ cent. Soy beans were unsettled with the old crop months 1½ cents lower and October 2¼ cents higher.

Trading in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade in March aggregated 430,105,000 bushels, the largest since last November, and 46 per cent above the February level, figures of the Commodity Exchange administration showed.

CASHING PROFITS FORCES STAPLES FUTURES LOWER

March's Advancing Trend Rapidly Reversed.

Major commodities for future delivery began the new month yesterday with one of the most severe recessions since the turn of the year. The entire list declined, losses ranging to more than ½ cent a pound, and cash markets felt the effect.

The break followed a month of swiftly rising prices and almost frenzied buying that closely matched the "war markets" of 1939. Liquidation and profit selling caused the slump, brokers said.

All metal futures dropped, tin sagging 0.45 to 0.55 cent a pound, copper 0.12 to 0.28 cent, and lead 0.04 to 0.12 cent. Cash tin sold 0.62½ cent, but lead, copper, and zinc remained steady with the support of rearmament needs.

Rubber and Silk Decline.

Rubber futures closed 0.22 to 0.27 cent a pound lower and silk broke 6½ to 7½ cents a pound in contrast to the peak prices reached Monday. Wool tops lost 0.4 to 0.9 cent a pound and hides 0.11 to 0.13 cent. Domestic sugar, which has been on the decline for a week, finished unchanged to 0.02 cent a pound lower.

Trading in domestic sugar futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar exchange in March totaled 550,950 tons, the largest since April, 1935. Turnover in world contracts was 219,500 tons, largest since September, 1939.

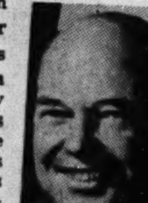
PACKARD MAKES NEW AND MUCH CHANGED MODEL

Retains Only Top Lines of Former Design.

Detroit, Mich., April 1 (AP).—A new model automobile that Packard Motor Car company engineers and designers have been working on for several months was shown at a private preview today. It departs sharply from the traditional lines of the company's conservative styling policy.



M. M. Gilman doubts auto output will be cut.

Named the "Clipper" model, the new car has a lower body design, rakish windshield, and contoured rear deck. It is powered with a straight eight cylinder engine developing 125 horse power.

Engineering changes include a shortened propeller shaft made possible by an extension to the transmission and the incorporation of a rear shock absorber that is said to prevent sidesway.

Model Is Much Changed.

With concealed running boards, a hood cover that narrows into a blunted nose only a few inches above the high fenders, and a contoured rear deck, the model retains only the top lines of the traditional Packard radiator shell. It has a 127 inch wheelbase and is 219⅞ inches over all in length. It weighs 3,725 pounds.

The factory schedule calls for output of 2,640 of the new models this month.

Max M. Gilman, president of Packard, said he believed the automobile business "will continue at a satisfactory level for some time to come." He said he "doubted very much" that current events would "very seriously" affect the automobile industry.

Output Cut Unlikely.

Conceding that no one knows what production levels may be a few months hence, Gilman said that planning in the automobile industry has to be on a long range basis—at least seven months ahead on materials schedules—and ventured his belief that an enforced cut in output was not likely in the immediate future.

He declared that engineering research and automobile designing would not be retarded in any way.

PREFERRED ARREARS.

I understand that Cities Service Power and Light recently paid large dividends on its preferred shares. I would like a review of its dividend record on the shares. Where are the shares traded?—K. F.

Answer: Cities Service Power and Light company, a utility holding concern, on March 27 paid the following dividends: $10.50 a share on its $7 annual dividend series, $9 on its $6 series, and $7.50 on its $5 series cumulative preferred stocks of no par value. The payments erased all the accumulated unpaid dividends on the shares as of last Dec. 15.

Dividends on the shares were interrupted July 15, 1932. Up to that date the monthly payments had been maintained regularly. After a lapse of more than seven years, dividends were resumed Dec. 27, 1939, with disbursements equal to twice the annual rates. Dividends in 1940 were five times the annual rates.

The company has outstanding 58,079 shares of the $7 series, 72,690 shares of the $6 series, and 50,000 shares of the $5 series. All the series are listed on the Boston Stock exchange and the $7 and $6 series are traded on the New York Curb exchange. About two-thirds of the shares are owned by the Cities Service company, the parent concern.

TOOL FIRMS.

Have you ever heard of the International Machine Tool corporation? Where can I get a list of the leading machine tool firms?—M. S.

Answer: The International Machine Tool corporation was organized early this year as a consolidation of the Foster Machine company of Elkhart, Ind., and the International Machine Tool Company, Inc., of Indianapolis, both former subsidiaries of the Clearing Machine corporation. The new company manufactures turret lathes, chucking and superfinishing machines, and other machine tools.

ODLUM IS AGAIN UPHELD IN FIGHT OVER UTILITIES

Special Master Files a Final Report.

Special Master John R. Heath filed his final report in federal court yesterday favoring Floyd B. Odlum, New York financier, in the battle with Frank J. Lewis, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, over control of a utility system.

The conflict is an outgrowth of a contract drawn on Dec. 18, 1939, between Lewis and the trustee of the Utilities Power and Light corporation. This provided for Lewis' purchase of the securities and control of the subsidiary Central States Utilities and Central States Power and Light corporations for $1,600,000.

Denial of Petition Asked.

Reaffirming the stand of his tentative report on March 19, Heath recommended yesterday that the federal court deny Lewis permission to file a petition asking the court to impound the Central States securities or appoint a trustee to take them over from Ogden corporation, successor to the bankrupt U. P. & L., and carry out the purchase contract. A. B. Manion, attorney for Lewis, had sought to file the petition on Feb. 11. The master's hearing followed.

Exceptions to the report may be filed by April 10. The case will come up for a hearing at a later date before Federal Judge William H. Holly.

Ogden Contention Upheld.

Heath incorporated his tentative report in the final report. This upheld the Ogden corporation, which is controled by Odlum, in its contention that it did not fraudulently prevent the necessary approval of the contract by the Securities and Exchange commission or the court.

Heath also sustained Ogden in the claim that the contract expiration date of Aug. 19, 1940, was not waived.

4 IN BROKERAGE FIRM ACCUSED OF $190,000 FRAUD

House Insolvent 5 Years, SEC Charges.

Warrants were issued yesterday by Edwin K. Walker, United States commissioner, for four officials of E. T. Konsberg & Co., a brokerage house at 53 West Jackson street. The warrants were issued on complaint of the Securities and Exchange commission that the concern had continued to do business and pay dividends for the last five years altho it was insolvent all that time.

W. McNeil Kennedy, regional director of the SEC, said the insolvency amounted to $190,000 and that customers had been defrauded of the same amount. He said it had been the firm's practice to pay dividends of $2 on its preferred stock from money put up by customers for purchases of securities which were not bought.

President of Concern Accused.

Those named in the warrants are Edgar T. Konsberg, 60 years old, 277 Ridge avenue, Winnetka, president; Clarence A. Hilquist, 45, of 8225 Ingleside avenue, secretary; Rudolph H. Breseman, 45, of 704 Forest avenue, Oak Park, treasurer, and Frank C. Scheid, 47, of 6442 North Bosworth avenue, vice president.

All except Breseman surrendered later, pleaded not guilty, and were released in $5,000 bonds each. The defendants were represented by Attorney Emil C. Wetten. Walker continued the case until April 30.

Paul Plunkett and Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorneys, said they will present the case to the federal grand jury which convenes April 7.

The concern has been in business since 1908 both as a corporation and a partnership, so Kennedy signed two complaints against it. At the same time John Jarecki, head of the Illinois securities commission, issued an order against the house to show cause why its license should not be revoked.

Surprise Audit Made.

Kennedy said the insolvency was discovered three weeks ago when an SEC bookkeeper made a surprise examination of the concern's books. He said customers apparently had been paid dividends in order to induce customer-stockholders to continue doing busines with the company.

Among items which the SEC said were entered as assets in the company's books were 55,000 shares of stock in the United States Fuel and Utility company, which were assigned a valuation of $17,000, altho worthless. This company was organized by the late Robert M. Sweitzer, former county clerk and county treasurer, in connection with a venture to make coal bricks. Sweitzer lost part of his fortune in the undertaking.

McGreal and Plunkett said the Konsberg company used the mails in its business and that evidence submitted to the grand jury would be in the interest of discovering whether the mails had been used in an effort to defraud.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

In the liveliest action in recent weeks, hogs yesterday recovered 5 to 10 cents of Monday's losses. Many consignments of selected fall pigs brought the $8.00 top. The average moved up 5 cents to $7.60.

Lighter receipts improved the demand for steers and yearlings at strong to 15 cents higher prices. Other classes were firmer.

The market for old mutton sheep rose 25 cents to the highest price in four years. Lamb prices slumped mostly 25 cents.

The Chicago stockyards last month handled the second largest March receipts of meat animals in seven years. Shipments of cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep totaled 795,271, an increase of 8,775 over March, 1940.

NEW YORK BOND TRANSACTIONS

REVEAL GREEN'S PLAN TO LIMIT OIL AND TAX IT

National Board Member for Illinois Named.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—Details of Gov. Dwight Green's oil tax and conservation bill were revealed today, in advance of its introduction, coincident with his appointment of Clarence T. Smith, Flora attorney, to be the Illinois representative on the Interstate Oil Compact commission.

As prepared for submission to the legislature, the administration oil measure is reported to provide for creation of a commission with power to limit well production to 40 barrels daily in the interests of conservation, and would impose what amounts to a gross income tax of 3½ per cent on all persons profiting from oil production in the state.

Estimate on Returns.

Should production in the important Illinois basin remain what it is today, the tax would bring the state a sum between 3½ and 4 million dollars annually, those who have seen the bill said.

Regulation is necessary, proponents of the bill maintain, in order to conserve gas pressure which forces oil from the ground. It is represented here that wells have declined because of failure to conserve this pressure.

Average 40 Barrels Daily.

Present production averages a little less than 40 barrels a day for the 8,500 new and 14,000 old wells in the Illinois fields. About 325,000 barrels are now produced daily, as compared with peak production of 510,000 barrels last summer when the wells averaged 75 barrels.

Smith, the Illinois member of the compact commission, is a recognized authority on oil production and marketing and is a director of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. The commission meets quarterly and will hold its next session in New Orleans on April 14.

COTTON

Hedging sales and profit taking, combined with easiness in other commodity markets, depressed cotton futures yesterday. While mills gave fair support on the decline, closing sales were .07 to .11 cent a pound lower.

Cash cotton closed .05 to .15 cent lower with New York 11.48 cents; New Orleans, 11.23 cents; Houston, 10.90 cents, and Galveston at 10.83 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

WANT AD INDEX

RAILROAD BONDS MOVE AHEAD TO NEW 1941 PEAKS

New York, April 1 (AP).—Railroad issues edged into another new 1941 high today despite profit taking in afternoon dealings that cut in half or more forenoon gains of fractions to a point. The general list was bit shaky but extraordinary strength in Canadian obligations tended to obscure the lack of initiative in other quarters.

The 20 carrier issues used in the Associated Press averages touched another 1941 high at 65.7.

Buying of Canadian bonds was associated with reports that a move was afoot at Ottawa and Washington to effect an exchange agreement that would place the dominion dollar at par in foreign exchange. A half dozen or more issues closed up 1 to 2 points and in some cases more. Canadian government, Canadian Pacific, and Canadian Northern issues were included.

United States governments held higher most of the day but, like some corporates, leveled off in over the counter trading.
